RUSSIA ORDERS RED RIOTS OVER WORLD TODAY

100,000 in U. S. Will Participate.

Chicago Parade

Police Commissioner Russell granted permission to Chicago communists for a parade today over west side streets with the stipulation that there shall be no interference with business and no violence. Incendiary flags and slogans are barred. (Details on page 8.)

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, March 5.—The Moscow radio station tonight broadcast final instructions to the foreign agents of the communist internationale concerning the riots of the unemployed in various European centers and in the United States ordered for tomorrow. The communists are urged to resist attempts by the police to break up demonstrations with armed force and to show the capitalist class their strength by responding with a 100 per cent attendance to demonstrations and parades arranged by the leaders.

Police in practically every capital of Europe were reported preparing to curb any red outbreaks.

The Russian proletariat is giving its entire moral support to foreign revolutionists and hopes to see barricades erected in the streets in European cities. Orators broadcast slogans which the Moscow commissars prepared for banners of the foreign reds.

100,000 Members in U. S.

The membership of the American Communist party at present numbers about 100,000, an increase of more than 600 per cent since the drive for new members began last December, according to the Moscow Pravda. This paper expresses the hope that the American Reds will give a good account of themselves tomorrow.

The "bloated American bourgeois," according to the Pravda, will be alarmed and amazed at the strength of the revolutionary movement in America.

"Millions Starving in U. S."

Even Commissar Stalin, who has never been outside of Russia in his life, has written a long article estimating that 6,000,000 unemployed in America means 6,000,000 families suffering from starvation and cold, only waiting for capable leaders before rising in class warfare. Stalin believes that the alleged economic crisis in America has affected the civilized world, and that the world of capitalism is tottering to its downfall.

Stalin also says the countries of South America are ripe for the experienced leadership of the Communist Internationale.

The recent Communist disturbances in various American cities have been greatly magnified by the Moscow press, which calls them merely preliminary skirmishes for the larger events which are prepared for tomorrow.

Riots in Many Cities.

The Isvestia, Pravda, and other soviet papers also contain dispatches from correspondents of the Tass Telegraphic agency at London, Paris, Berlin, Bucharest, Prague, Vienna, and other European cities, where it is predicted that the parades will turn into riots.

The disorders tomorrow are expected to show the Moscow commissars the strength of the Red movement abroad. The demonstrations are to be considered the foreign mobilization of Moscow's fighting forces. The next trial mobilization will occur on May 1, Europe's Labor day. Hereafter there will be four such mobilizations each year until the moment arrives when Moscow figures the time ripe to overturn the world.

Berlin Riots Get Under Way.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 5.—The loudly proclaimed Red unemployment protest got under way here today with the beating up of a lone policeman by a gang of fifty communists. The Reds had started a procession, contrary to a recent order against outdoor demonstrations. The policeman attacked the mob alone. He was knocked down and badly beaten.

Berlin is thoroughly prepared for tomorrow's demonstration. Every man on the police force has been ordered to mobilize tomorrow at 10 a. m. Eighteen hundred police patrols of various sizes, with none under four men, will range through the dangerous districts afoot, on bicycles, on horseback, in speedy riot cars, and in huge po-

BONE DRYS HAIL PROHIBITION AS BOON TO NATION

Witnesses Grilled by Lawmakers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—Picturing prohibition as an inspiring success and demanding more rigorous enforcement, the bone drys before the house judiciary committee today launched a militant counter offensive to the seven day wet attack upon the eighteenth amendment.

Four dry witnesses, the first of a succession of probably fifty expected to testify, appeared during the day in opposition to the repeal and modification resolutions pending before the congressional group. They were Samuel Crowther, Philadelphia, writer; Edward Keating, Washington, D. C., former Colorado representative; Dr. Daniel A. Poling, president of the World's Christian Endeavor union, and Henry M. Johnson, lawyer and real estate operator, Louisville, Ky.

In sharp contrast to the picture of country-wide lawlessness, drinking, and corruption drawn by the wets, that presented by the prohibitionists was one of America sober, serene, and prosperous under Volsteadism.

Seen as Economic Aid.

Taking the welfare of the workingman as his text, Mr. Crowther credited the eighteenth amendment for his economic salvation. Mr. Keating described it as a great moral reform. Dr. Poling undertook to show that drinking among young people is negligible and decreasing, while Attorney Johnson testified that Louisville, a former whisky distillery center, has thrived as a result of the abolition of its liquor industry.

Because of the lengthy cross-examination to which each witness was subjected by wet members of the committee several spokesmen invited by the W. C. T. U., Anti-Saloon league, and other dry groups could not be heard. They will take the stand tomorrow.

Among those summoned are Patrick H. Callahan, Louisville, Ky., paint manufacturer; Ruth K. Strawbridge Philadelphia, who recently conducted a poll of the social register in that city; Representative Olger B. Burtness [Rep., N. D.], and Louis H. Taylor, master of the National Grange. The last two will refute the charge made by Pierce Blewett, North Dakota farmer who appeared as a wet witness, that prohibition has ruined farming.

Ford and Edison Quoted.

As yet the drys have apparently been unable to secure as witnesses such business magnates as Pierre S. du Pont and W. W. Atterbury, who were wet witnesses. Mr. Crowther, however, read into the record telegrams from Henry Ford and Thomas A. Edison indorsing the prohibition law. Although both are now at Fort Myer, Fla., they declined to come to Washington in person.

"The 18th amendment is recognized by men and women of our country," the Ford message stated. "The women especially are the greatest force for the comfort and prosperity of the United States. I feel sure that the sane people of this nation will never see any repeal or dangerous modification."

The Edison telegram read

"I still feel prohibition is the greatest experiment yet made to benefit man. My observation is that its enforcement generally is at least 60 per cent and is gaining, notwithstanding the impression through false propaganda that it is a lower per cent. It is strange to me that some men of great ability and standing do not help to remove the curse of alcohol."

Declines to Answer.

Questioned by Chairman George S. Graham [Rep., Pa.] as to who solicited the Ford and Edison statements, Crowther declined to say.

Attracted by the change from wet to dry scenery at the committee forum, the largest crowd since the hearings started packed itself into the committee room and scores were unable to get in. Despite warnings from the chair, hissings and applause were frequent, in particular during the cross-examination of Attorney Johnson, the last witness of the day.

The Louisville attorney, speaking with a marked southern accent, waxed eloquent in his description of the "romance of Louisville" since the destruction of "the diabolical, hellish saloon."

Ninety per cent of the Kentucky city's prosperity, which he indicated by various kinds of statistics, has been due to prohibition, he asserted, depicting it now as a bone dry town, where citizens obey the dry law and like it.

"Louisville, prior to prohibition, was

Dr. Hadley, Ex-President of Yale, Dead

New Haven, Conn., March 5.—(AP)—Arthur T. Hadley, president emeritus of Yale university, died in Japan today, according to a cablegram received here tonight by his daughter, Mrs. Nicholas Moseley.

Dr. Hadley, who was 73 years old, died of pneumonia at Kobe, according to the cablegram. He left from New York on the Empress of Australia on Dec. 3 for a round the world cruise.

Dr. Hadley became president of Yale in 1899, retiring in 1921. Prof. Moseley, Dr. Hadley's son-in-law, tonight said that the body will be brought to San Francisco by the Empress of Australia, which is expected to arrive in that city March 31, and will then be sent here. Funeral services will be held at Battell chapel at Yale.

BORN IN YALE ATMOSPHERE.

Arthur Twining Hadley was born in New Haven, Conn., April 23, 1856, the only child of the late Prof. James Hadley of Yale college and of Anne Twining Hadley. He entered Yale in 1872. He was elected to Delta Kappa in his freshman year, Delta Beta Chi in his sophomore year, and Delta Kappa Epsilon in his junior year. He was a member of the Senior Society of Skull and Bones.

He studied political science in New Haven for a year after his graduation in 1876 and continued his studies for the next two years at the University of Berlin.

Heads Yale in 1899.

On his return from Europe, in the autumn of 1879, he was made a tutor in Yale college, giving instruction in Greek, logic, German, and Roman law.

In 1891 he was given the chair of political economy in Yale college, which he held till his election to the presidency in 1899.

Noticeable features of his administration were the introducing of more uniformly high requirements for professorships, the doubling of the university's endowment, and the development of the Sheffield Scientific school under Russell H. Chittenden.

Investigated U. S. Railroads.

He had served as president of the American Economic association, was a trustee of the Carnegie Foundation since 1905, served as Roosevelt professor at the University of Berlin in 1907-1908, and was chairman of the railroad securities commission appointed under the act of congress in 1910. In 1911 Dr. Hadley was chairman of the Hadley commission appointed by President Taft under the interstate commerce act to investigate the condition of the railroads. The report of the committee resulted in the railway valuation act of 1913. He was a director of the New York, New Haven and Hartford and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé railroads and of the National bank of New Haven.

9 HURT AS 2 CARS LEAVE RAILS IN STATION WRECK

Nine persons were injured, none seriously, scores were thrown from their seats, and hundreds of home going passengers were startled last night in the La Salle street station at the height of the rush hour period when two coaches of a suburban train were derailed as the train was pulling out of the station. The injured were given first aid at the station for minor cuts and bruises. They were:

Mrs. Jennie Richards, 11828 Longwood drive.
E. R. Wills, 1243 West 86th street.
Eleanor Drews, 8553 South Elizabeth street.
Loretta Scharf, 9156 South May street.
Catherine Marx, 1742 West 106th street.
Eileen Stark, 8622 South Elizabeth street.
Mrs. May Worley, 11106 Prospect avenue.
O. M. Baggie, 10609 Drew avenue.

The 5:40 suburban express on the Rock Island line bound for Blue Island had just started when the two rear coaches left the rails.

The last coach became uncoupled and plunged diagonally across four other tracks, stopping only when it crashed into the side of an empty coach which had just been pushed into the train shed. The coach then slowly tilted over until it lay upon its side. The 100 passengers inside scrambled out through doors and windows.

INVENTS DEVICE TO TELL ON HIT AND RUN DRIVER

New York, March 5.—(AP)—A new invention demonstrated today "shoots" hit and run drivers—and they carry the weapon themselves.

The invention is a tube about an inch in diameter, to be set just above the front bumper of an automobile. When jarred it ejects 25 paper disks, each bearing the license number of the automobile and the name of its owner.

Innocent Man Indicted; Dry Agents to Go

Cleveland, O., March 5.—[Special.]—Charging "gross negligence, or gross stupidity, or both," United States Attorney Wilfred J. Mahon today requested the immediate dismissal of C. C. Kosetler and J. W. Hammond, federal prohibition undercover agents.

Mahon's accusation was made after Kosetler and Hammond, when called to testify in the liquor trial of Steve Martin, admitted that they could not say who sold them whisky last Aug. 22, 23 and 30.

Aware of Error for Months.

Further examination revealed that Kosetler, at least, was aware as long ago as Nov. 29 that Martin had been arrested wrongfully.

On that date Martin was arraigned before Federal Judge Samuel H. West, pleaded not guilty and was released under $3,000 bond. Both Kosetler and Hammond were present at the arraignment. They also were in United States Commissioner Monahen's court on Oct. 1 when Martin was bound over to a federal grand jury.

One or both of the agents testified before the grand jury and an indictment was returned against Martin.

Asked that Case Be Dropped.

Then, as Assistant United States Attorney Wolpaw was preparing to start Martin's trial, Kosetler and Hammond approached him and said: "You better drop this case. Martin isn't the guy we made the buys from. We got the wrong guy."

Wolpaw conferred with his chief, and two decided to force the issue by bringing the case to trial and putting the two agents on the witness stand. Accordingly, a jury was impaneled this morning and Kosetler was called as the first government witness.

He said Martin was not the man who had sold him whisky last August. Hammond likewise testified that Martin was the wrong man.

Wolpaw then asked that the jurors be excused, and Mahon explained the situation to the court, concluding with his charges against the agents and his request that they be "drastically disciplined and summarily removed from the federal service."

Elopers, 3 Years Old, Are Found by Evanston Cops

Hugh J. Welter Jr., 225 15th street, Wilmette, and Leona Lipsch, 1501 Maple avenue, Wilmette, 3 year old playmates, were back at their homes yesterday after an elopement which kept north shore policemen busy searching for them from Tuesday afternoon until late that night. Leona was a sadly disillusioned little girl when the police found the two children at Harrison street and Railroad avenue in Evanston. Hugh had failed to buy the ice cream cone which he promised her, she told the police.

Say Idleness Relief Is Due in Sixty Days

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—Confidence that present unemployment will be materially relieved within the next few weeks, with the aid of the program already set in motion following President Hoover's conferences of industrial leaders, was expressed today by administration officials.

It was stated with considerable emphasis at the White House there is no intention to call a special conference on unemployment.

The committees established under the guidance of Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont and Julius Barnes, chairman of the board of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, are already, it was explained, doing everything possible to relieve unemployment conditions.

Denial to Report.

The White House statement was in denial of a published report that the President plans to call a special conference on unemployment.

Following the recent stock market collapse, it was pointed out at the White House, the President called every federal agency into action to study the situation and cope with conditions. Those agencies still are at work and the President, it was said, is satisfied the situation can be dealt with by the government without the assistance of a conference.

Optimism was apparent among regular Republican members of both houses of congress who for several weeks have been subjected to a heavy bombardment from radical Republicans and Democrats bent on making a political issue out of the unemployment situation.

Encouraged by the prospects of improved conditions, they plan to take advantage of every opening to throw responsibility for prevailing business uncertainty and unemployment where they insist it belongs—with he senate coalition, which has delayed and obstructed passage of the tariff revision bill.

Confers with Hoover.

Secretary Lamont conferred this afternoon with President Hoover. Mr. Lamont said afterward that all available information points to a marked improvement in conditions within sixty days. He said nothing would be accomplished by a conference on unemployment. It was indicated President Hoover does not regard the present situation as comparable to that of 1921, when more than 5,000,000 persons were listed among the unemployed. The President, it was made plain, is in accord with the views of the present situation as expressed in Secretary of Labor Davis' statement of yesterday.

In a letter to Senator Hiram W. Johnson [Rep., Cal.], chairman of the senate committee on commerce, Secretary of Labor Davis has come out against the bill of Senator Robert F. Wagner [Dem., N. Y.] for stabilization of industry by construction of public works and the prevention of unemployment in periods of business depression.

Written Month Ago.

Secretary Davis' letter, written over a month ago, was made public today. While he says he is friendly to any movement to make public work available in seasons of depression and unemployment, he holds "the machinery created by the act would require more time to function than the machinery already in existence."

As to the appropriation of $150,000,000 proposed in the bill for public works, Secretary Davis holds the bill provides methods too cumbersome for its use.

AVENGERS KILL GANG CHIEFTAIN AND CHAUFFEUR

3d Hoodlum Dies in Another Slaying.

John (Dingbat) Oberta, south side gangster and politician, and his bodyguard and chauffeur, Sam Malega, 28 years old, were "taken for a ride" last night in Oberta's own automobile and slain outside the city limits at 103d street and Roberts road, west of Chicago Ridge.

Oberta was found sitting in the front seat of the automobile leaning against the door, the top of his head battered in. Malega's body was lying in a ditch, submerged in the water and partly frozen in. He had been shot several times in the head and body.

The police were in doubt early this morning whether Oberta's wound was caused by a shotgun charge or whether he had been clubbed.

Oberta was identified a short time after the discovery of the body, but the identity of Malega was not established until early this morning, when Sergt. Henry C. Olson took the dead man's finger prints and compared them by telephone with Malega's record at the bureau of identification.

Third Gangster Slain.

The double killing came a few hours after "Orlando Jack" Horton, a former Chicago booze gangster, who was hunted as a suspect after the first spectacular "ride" murder in Chicago's history, was found slain in Lafayette, Ind. The details of Horton's murder will be found on Page 2.

The slaying of Oberta left his wife a widow for the second time as a result of a gang killing. Mrs. Oberta, before her marriage to the gangster, was the widow of Big Tim Murphy, a racketeer, labor leader, and mail robber, who was slain in front of his home at 2525 Morse avenue two years ago. After their marriage a year ago the Obertas went to live in Big Tim's Morse avenue home, but later they moved to 5544 South Richmond street.

Search for Motive.

In seeking a motive for the killing of Oberta the police turned at once to the shooting of Frank McErlane, who fought a pistol battle with two gangsters ten days ago as he lay already wounded in the German Deaconess hospital.

McErlane, like Oberta, was a former member of the Joe Saltis gang and a leader in the south side beer business. Recently he had been aligned with the south side O'Donnell mob, and was reported an enemy of Saltis and Oberta. Although McErlane had refused to name his assailants in the hospital fight, the police were certain that they were members of a rival beer gang.

McErlane's Threat Recalled.

"Look for 'em in a ditch," McErlane said when the police questioned him at the time. "That's where you'll find 'em. They were a bunch of cheap rats, using pistols. I'll use something better. McErlane takes care of McErlane."

Oberta's last "ride" occurred some time between 7 and 9:30 p. m., the police believe. At the earlier hour, County Highway Policemen Louis Jelinek and Frank Veselka of the Willow Springs station rode past the murder scene and saw nothing. At 9:30 they drove up and found Oberta's costly sedan with its right front wheel partly in a ditch at the west side of the road. The car was headed south.

In the right front seat Oberta's body leaned against the door, upright. The dome light in the automobile had been shot out and there was evidence that Oberta and Malega might have made a last desperate effort to escape, the driver apparently having swerved into the ditch intentionally just before the death volley was fired. On the seat beside Oberta was a pistol with the barrel sawed off to one inch length. It had not been fired. A second gun was found in a holster on his body.

Body of Pal in the Ditch.

The car was about 35 feet north of 103d street, on a gravel road, little traveled at night. Beside it, on the right side, was the body of Oberta's companion, sprawled in the muddy water of the ditch and partly covered by the thin ice which had frozen over the surface of the pool.

Chief of Detectives Stege, Deputy Chief Egan, and Assistant State's Attorney Harry Ditchburne, who started for the scene immediately after receiving news of the killings, said that Oberta and his followers recently had been frequenting a roadhouse in the vicinity of 95th strteet and Keano avenue, and they had been overtaken by their slayers after leaving the place last night.

The man who killed Oberta apparently was riding in the rear seat of the car, and may have concealed himself there while his victims were in the roadhouse.

Lieut. Carl Wolf of the highway police said he believed that another car had escorted Oberta's and that occupants of the second machine may have shot Oberta's driver, when he made his last minute swerve, and tried to leap from his seat.

Mrs. Oberta, who was notified of the killings shortly after midnight, appeared at the county morgue a few minutes before the bodies of her husband and Malega arrived. She burst into tears when she saw Oberta's body and later was reported in a state of collapse.

A few minutes before she had told the police that Oberta had telephoned her from his florist shop about 7 o'clock last evening and had told her that he had business in the vicinity of 42d street and Lowe avenue and later would go to a meeting of 13th ward precinct captains somewhere in the ward. That was the last she heard from him, she said, until the news of his death came.

Identified as Foley Slayer.

Oberta first came into prominence as a gangster when he was identified as one of the killers of John (Mitters) Foley.

He was indicted with Saltis and Lefty Koncil, another south side gangster, but was granted a separate trial. When the other two were acquitted, the charge against Oberta was stricken off "with leave to reinstate." The case was never reinstated. Oberta was arrested repeatedly on charges of carrying guns, but was always released on writs of habeas corpus.

Two years ago he became active in politics in the 13th ward. He was elected Republican ward committeeman and also made the race for alderman, but was defeated. When he ran for reelection last year he was defeated after a recount. His opponent, Hugh Norris, charged that Oberta had employed all of gangdom's election tricks of ballot box stuffing and slugging to terrorize voters and intimidate election officials.

The Sport of Gangland.

Oberta was known as one of the swankiest of the gangsters. He was a dapper dresser who when arrested was usually in evening clothes or expensive sporting garb.

Like his more notorious predecessor in gangland, Dean O'Banion, Oberta had been making his gang activities behind his business as a florist, operating the Southwestern Floral company at 1725 West 47th street, the police said. From his floral shop he directed his gang activities.

Malega was Oberta's closest friend, according to a friend of the slain gangsters, and accompanied him most of the time, driving the gangster's automobile for him. He was not very well known to the police as a gangster and had been arrested only a few times on minor charges. Before becoming Oberta's right hand man he was bodyguard for Saltis and was arrested once a year ago on charges of carrying concealed weapons after he had thrown away three guns on the approach of a detective bureau squad. Malega lived at 4735 South Hermitage avenue.

Hand of Fate Seen.

In the killing of Oberta fate played an odd trick on Mrs. Oberta, making her twice a widow by the violent deaths of men who attained their peculiar power by their ability to rule with the gun. Her first husband, Murphy, was accused in the first of the gangster "executions." Before he rose to power through his organization of the Gas Workers' union there had been killings in the labor racket, but they had been merely sporadic flares of guerrilla warfare or private feuds among the leaders.

Murphy organized Mike Carrozzo, James Vinci, and Vincent Cosmano to help him hold power. It was shortly after these three became Murphy's henchmen that Maurice (Mossy) Enright, formerly Murphy's co-worker, was slain with a shotgun from ambush and systematic sluggings and murder became the rule in racketeer fights.

With the advent of prohibition and Big Tim's entrance into bootlegging the methods which he had employed in whipping labor into line were at hand for the bigger business of booze distilling and running and the new industry took them up. Murphy continued his tempestuous career through to his death, when he was shot down. He had been a friend and mentor of Oberta.

Best Man at Wedding.

Oberta was the best man at the wedding of a Cleveland police sergeant in Chicago on Feb. 27, it was disclosed yesterday a few hours before his death. The bridegroom was Sergt. James Burns of the fourth Cleveland police precinct and the bride was Mrs. Florence Masterson Richter, widow of Ulrich Richter, known as Cleveland's unofficial chief of police and the daughter of the late "Brick" Masterson, minor Chicago politician.

The marriage was performed by the Rev. F. J. Connell of St. Paul's Catholic church, 5511 South Sawyer avenue.

The event was celebrated in gangland fashion with a dinner in a loop hotel attended by 200 guests, said to have included Joe Saltis and Terry Druggan. The expenses were borne by the toastmaster, Oberta. Burns and his wife left immediately after the party for Cleveland, where they will live. While Mrs. Burns was in Chicago visiting Mrs. Oberta, Burns proposed to her by telephone.

"Orlando Jack" Horton, the gangster who was hunted over the nation six years ago after the murder of his bootleg partner, John Duffy, Chicago's first "ride" victim, was himself taken for a ride yesterday, shot five times in the back and tossed, dead, into a lonely strawberry patch near Lafayette, Ind. His body was identified by a necklace of playing cards tattooed about his neck above which were his initials.

In recent years Horton had transferred his activities to Indiana, built up a reputation there as an outlaw leader, served a term in prison, and continued his bootlegging and hi-jacking besides bossing a band of thieves. At his death he was at liberty in $5,000 bonds after his arrest for operating a huge still found several months ago in Lafayette. He posed then as Jack Horat.

Duffy-Exley Murders Recalled.

For a time, back in 1924, after Duffy killed his common law wife, Maybelle Exley, and was himself murdered by fellow bootleggers who resented his insane act, Horton was the most sought man in the country. When he was found the police questioned him for weeks, but eventually released him due to insufficient evidence.

The Duffy-Exley murders created a sensation in Chicago. Duffy, an interloper in the booze racket here, became crazed with power and drink and in the early morning of Feb. 22, 1924, he shot and killed the Exley woman, with whom he had been living. The slaying occurred in their apartment at 1216 Carmen avenue.

Word of the killing, of which Duffy boasted, sped through the underworld minutes after it happened and a gang of bootleg rivals, later alleged to have been headed by Dean O'Banion, made it their business to avenge what was termed "the unwarranted degredation of the profession.' They seized Duffy, bore him in a car 15 miles from the Carmen avenue apartment to a lonely prairie, near Argo, and there shot him.

Horton Found in New Orleans

Horton had been Duffy's partner and was instantly the object of an intensive search. He was found in New Orleans, readily admitted the partnership but disclaimed knowledge of the killing. He said he had left the partnership, disgusted with Duffy's actions, but hesitating to break openly.

After his release, Horton established headquarters in Indianapolis where in December, 1924, he was sentenced to three years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth for peddling narcotics. He was released about four years ago and went to Lafayette. There, according to Indiana police, he organized a band of outlaws credited with every sort of crime from robbery to hi-jacking.

Identified in Home Robbery.

As Horton's body lay on an undertaker's slab in Lafayette yesterday Edward R. Bowles, a barber, identified him as the leader of a gang which entered Bowles' home two weeks ago, took $800 in cash and jewels valued at $2,500, and left after shooting the barber in the abdomen.

The still which led to Horton's most recent arrest was discovered when the building where it was operating burned to the ground. Assistant United States Attorney George L. Rulison of South Bend recalled last night that Horton vanished for a few days after the still was found by the police and on his capture used the name of "Horat." Before his entrance into the Chicago bootleg racket Horton had served three years in the Jeffersonville, Ind., reformatory for stealing an automobile.

FATHER OF TWO SURRENDERS ON BIGAMY CHARGE

Harold A. Brown, 25 years old, 7955 Essex avenue, the father of two baby girls, one only a month old, walked into the detective bureau yesterday and surrendered on a charge of bigamy. A warrant for his arrest had been obtained several days ago by Mrs. Florence Smith Bovee, 6 East 112th street, whom he married at Crown Point on Jan. 4.

Brown said he met Mrs. Bovee last December at a dance and had accepted her "dare" to marry while he was intoxicated at a party at a friend's house. At the end of a four days' honeymoon he returned home and told his wife, Gladys, of the marriage and she, after forgiving him, explained to Mrs. Bovee that he was already married and a father.

"He's all wet about being drunk," Mrs. Bovee said last night. "I'm mad at him because he won't come and talk to me to straighten the affair, but sends his wife to do it. He won't pay for the annulment."

Brown was held under $5,000 bonds. He has been out of work for several weeks.

LONDON BROKERS ADVISE BRITISH TO INVEST IN U. S.

Prominent Men See Long Era of Depression.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 5.—London banking circles were stirred today when a firm of stock brokers issued a circular to its clients advising them to sell their shares of British industrials and invest their money in the United States and Canada. The English firm expressed the opinion that Great Britain's present depression is not a passing phase, but an end to the period of British industrial dominance, while the North American continent is fated to sway the commerce of the world during the coming era.

The company which offended England's patriotic ideas is Buckmaster & Moore, one of the senior firms on the stock exchange. It is composed of a number of men who are prominent in many walks of life, and the motive is, therefore, above suspicion.

Among the Members.

Among the members are Oswald Toynbee Falk, who signed the circular, and was one of the treasury delegates to the Paris peace conference in 1919; Capt. Walter Buckmaster, famous polo player, and Sir Maurice Bonham-Carter, son-in-law of the late lord of Oxford and Asquith.

Members of the firm refused to comment on the circular, stating that it had been sent to their clients in the ordinary course of business.

"I believe the industrial prosperity of England is much more than temporarily depressed," the circular stated, "and that we in some way are on the down road of a long decline, at the end of which we will find our relative industrial position entirely different than that of the nineteenth century. On the basis of this view, I would sell shares of most all of the British industrial companies operating at home, particularly the shares of the older industries.

American Outlook Good.

"I believe the economic, the political and climatic advantages of the United States and Canada in the next few decades will be so overwhelmingly great that these countries offer the most attractive field for investment. On the basis of this view, I would invest a very large proportion of any fund in American and Canadian securities."

ROSENWALD SEES FUTURE CHICAGO AS GANGLESS CITY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 5.—A thoroughly cleansed and upright Chicago will soon replace what the world now knows chiefly as a city of deadly gang wars, civic bankruptcy, and the malevolence of its mayor toward a certain European monarch. Julius Rosenwald expressed this opinion when he arrived here with his bride after a honeymoon trip in Egypt today.

"The legend of Chicago as a city for gang wars," he said, "will die when it has nothing to live on. That will be when we get a new administration. We had a clean bill of health under former Mayor William E. Dever, but when William Hale Thompson came back he renewed the reputation of his former administration, which would make Chicago in the eyes of the world a gang city."

$500,000 IN MORPHINE IS SEIZED WHEN LINER DOCKS IN NEW YORK

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—Morphine estimated to be worth $500,000 was seized last night on piers along the North river, federal agents reported today.

The contraband, they said, was brought in by a first class passenger of the French liner Ile de France, which docked at pier 57 yesterday. It was stored in two trunks.

Shortly after the drugs had been discovered, an automobile which had been parked across from the pier entrance for some time and in which was a party of men, was hurriedly driven away.

The car had been under the surveillance of federal men who followed it in another automobile. They said the chase led over to the east side, back again to West street, and back once more to the east side, where the car was lost in traffic.

Finland Plans Air Force to Guard Against Russia

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 5.—Fear of Russian aggression has driven the government of Finland to serious aerial preparations against possible invasion, according to a commission of four which arrived here today from Helsingfors to investigate French aviation material. Twenty planes are to be manufactured at once and fifty more each year.

FAILS TO PROSECUTE WOMAN.

Mrs. Sophie Meyers, 26 years old, 1927 Hudson avenue, was discharged yesterday when she was arraigned in the Town Hall court on a charge of selling a radio which did not belong to her. Lester Rizek, 4937 Carmen avenue, to whom she admitted selling the radio, did not appear to prosecute the woman.

TAFT IMPROVES SLIGHTLY; MAY LIVE SOME TIME

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—The condition of former Chief Justice William Howard Taft continued to improve slightly today with the result that the attending physicians think it is now possible he may live for another week or more.

After their last call of the day at 6 o'clock, the Taft physicians reported that the patient had maintained the improvement shown this morning when his condition was reported officially as "slightly improved."

Despite the encouragement found in the improved condition of their patient, neither of the physicians who have been constantly in attendance would hazard any opinion as to how long Mr. Taft might be expected to live. One of the physicians said, not for quotation, that the jurist is in such a condition that he might succumb to a stroke within a day and again he might possibly live for some weeks.

Rear Admiral Jones Home; Goes Directly to Hospital

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, technical naval adviser to the American naval reduction delegation to the London conference until his recent illness, arrived in Washington today and was immediately taken to the naval hospital, where he will be given a thorough examination.

HOPE TO FINISH REVENUE RESCUE CAMPAIGN TODAY

Fund Is Only $4,384,800 Short of Goal.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The campaign for $74,000,000 to keep the local governments operating until July 1 reached a total of $69,615,200 last night. Philip R. Clarke, president of the Central Trust company and director of the rescue drive, announced that his workers will go out today to get the remaining $4,384,800.

"We are on the last lap and I hope that every one comes in strong," said Mr. Clarke. "It will take a lot of dynamite to shake loose $4,384,800 in one day at this stage of the campaign, but the chairmen of the 25 committees are hard workers, and it is not impossible that we will get over the top tomorrow.

Appeals to Loyal Chicagoans.

"Our goal is $74,000,000. That is the sum it has been estimated is sufficient to operate the local governments to July 1, and we shall not ask for one dollar above that mark. There are a number of business concerns and wealthy individuals who should join the roll of loyal Chicagoans who desire to restore the city's credit."

The $500,000 subscription of the Chase Securities corporation to the taxpayers' trust on Tuesday was matched yesterday by the National City company. The Wabash railroad and the Chicago Board of Trade each subscribed $150,000.

The U. S. Gypsum company, the Santa Fé railroad, and the National Republic Investment company came forward with $100,000 each. This was an added subscription for the Santa Fé railroad.

E. J. Cahn is another chairman who has raised more than 100 per cent of his quota. He was assigned to men's clothing and requested to gather in $250,000. His total so far is $287,000.

The playground fund of the board of education has 221 employés. Their pay bill of $19,110 was not met yesterday when due.

The ordinance authorizing the city to purchase from its trust funds 1930 tax anticipation warrants of the school board has not yet been prepared by the city law department. First Assistant Corporation Counsel Green said yesterday he will write it this morning. The council meets this afternoon.

John H. Strawn of the Citizens' committee notified the city, county and schools yesterday to submit budgets showing their next cash needs.

I. C. TRAIN KILLS PEDESTRIAN RACING TO "DEATH CORNER"

George Berger, 30 years old, 4170 Drexel boulevard, was struck and fatally injured by an Illinois Central suburban train at the Bryn Mawr station, 71st street and Jeffery avenue, last night. Berger was trying to reach the station in time to catch the train by which he was hit. He died on the way to the Jackson Park hospital.

Woodlawn police described the crossing at Bryn Mawr one of the most dangerous on the South Chicago line of the railroad. Several persons have been killed there, the most recent being Frank Burke, a contractor living at 6900 Bennett avenue, who was killed last Dec. 10.

An inspection of the tracks in 71st street between Stony Island and Exchange avenues and in Exchange avenue between 71st and 79th streets will be made tomorrow morning by the council subcommittee on track elevation headed by Ald. Frank A. Sloan [26th]. An ordinance for the elevation of the tracks to eliminate grade crossing is pending before the subcommittee. The aldermen will meet at 11 a. m. at Stony Island avenue and 71st street and cover the territory with engineers of the Illinois Central and the surface lines.

PHILADELPHIA, IT SEEMS, IS BAD FOR THE CAPONES

Philadelphia, Pa., March 5.—Matthew Capone, 21 years old, brother of Scarface Al, was arrested here today for driving his automobile without an operator's permit. Matthew was released, but his arrest revealed that he is a student in Villa Nova college.

With another Villa Nova student in his car, Capone was stopped at 47th and Spruce street by Motorcycle Policeman Roth, who noticed his Illinois license. Matthew was able to produce an owner's license for the machine, but no driver's license.

"You are a brother of Al Capone?" Roth asked. "Yes," the youth answered. Whereupon Roth escorted him to the city hall for questioning. The younger Capone explained that he was a first year student at Villa Nova and said he was on the way to see his brother at Eastern penitentiary, where the elder Capone is serving a term for toting a pistol. Al Capone will be released on March 17.

COMPANIONATE PACT OF COUPLE CAN'T SWAY COPS

When Sergts. Albert Magoon and Walter Marian of the Sheffield avenue police station went to Miss Emma Mills' candy store at 1014 George street yesterday to arrest her and her companionate husband, Emil Timms, on the complaint of her father, John Mills, 4723 McLean avenue, Timms produced a contract to convince the police that there was nothing illegal about their relations.

The contract under which the pair have been living together since Feb. 24 read:

"We, Emil Timms and Emma Mills, agree to the following matrimonial contract: For one year from this date we agree to be true just as man and wife."

The contract was signed and witnessed by a notary, but despite the formality Miss Mills and Timms were held by the police for arraignment in the Morals court today.

ATTORNEY TO BE QUIZZED IN TAX FIXING INQUIRY

An attorney whose name was being temporarily withheld yesterday by the state's attorney's office is to be questioned before the grand jury today in reference to the tax figures on an apartment hotel at 5550 Kenmore avenue. Assistant State's Attorneys Homer Dodge and Robert E. Blackwood spent the entire day trying to determine the manner in which this property was taxed as vacant property at a saving of approximately $16,000 to the owners.

Peter C. Hoey, secretary of the city building department, brought the records of his department to the prosecutor's office. The books, which were frequently consulted by the reassessment workers, show, it is reported, that the date of completion of certain construction was changed so as to make the property taxable as vacant.

William J. Klein and Alex Levy, owners of the Kenmore avenue building [several others were questioned], owners said that tax matters were handled by the lawyer, and he is to be questioned today if he can be found.

3 DIE IN PLANE CRASH ON RANCH OF WILL ROGERS

Santa Monica, Cal., March 5.—[Special.]—Three young fellows, two of them only amateurs in the air, who set out in bad weather at dusk last night for an airplane joy ride, crashed to their death against the side of a foothill on Will Rogers' ranch near here. The bodies of Morey Johnson, 32, owner of the plane; Milton Hogge, 28, and Eugene Lavoie, 35, of Los Angeles, were recovered today.

Johnson's plane was a new Travelair single motored biplane. He took it up as a result of a whim, coupled with Hogge's request for a ride, last evening when the two friends went to his hangar to look over the new craft.

The impact when Johnson, seeking to stay under a lowering ceiling of rain and fog, drove directly into the mountainside, buried the plane into the soil. Both wings were splintered. The bodies were weighted down by the motor. The crash took place on a heavily wooded and inaccessible spot on the extensive Rogers ranch and escaped notice until this afternoon. The three men died instantly.

SWANSON BEGINS MOVE TO PROBE CITY HALL BOOKS

Overloaded Pay Rolls His Target in Inquiry.

The opening move for an investigation of the city hall department by department, was made yesterday by State's Attorney Swanson. The prosecutor served notice on Commissioner of Public Works Richard W. Wolfe that he would seek a subpoena duces tecum this morning from Chief Justice D. J. Normoyle of the Criminal court calling for all the pay roll records of the department. Three assistant prosecutors were assigned to conduct the investigation.

Prosecutor Swanson refused to discuss the reopening of the often threatened city hall investigation, but it was generally understood at the Criminal Courts building that each city hall department was to be investigated for overloaded pay rolls and possible violations of the civil service law by the employment of 60 day appointees.

See Possible Curb on Waste.

The prosecutors would not disclose whether the move was intended to keep a watch over the funds being turned over by the Strawn rescue committee to help the city out of its financial difficulties. However, it was pointed out that periodical investigations would prevent squandering for pay roll padding of the money lent to the city by the Strawn committee.

"The state's attorney can see all the records of my department," said Wolfe when he was served with the subpoena notice by Detective Daniel Madigan. "We have nothing to conceal.

"I, however, can see nothing but politics behind this move. I believe I have made a good record and it is an important question for the taxpayers as to whether that record should be injured by prosecution and persecution."

Has 10,000 Employés.

According to the last report of the city controller, Commissioner Wolfe has charge of approximately 10,000 employés, whose salaries for a year amount to nearly $23,000,000. The various bureaus of the department of public works and their pay rolls are as follows:

Bureau—	Number of Employes.	Amount of Salaries.
Streets	4,405	$7,595,849
Water	2,637	8,429,186
Commissioner's office	20	70,413
Maps	27	72,372
Architecture	13	30,557
City hall	180	344,109
Rivers and harbors	389	875,698
Bridges and viaducts	121	331,609
Waste disposal	230	408,928
Capital account	*	567,582

*Number of employes not specified.

In addition the commissioner supervises the expenditure of the vehicle tax money, which will amount in 1930 to approximately $5,000,000.

The license bureau was the first to come in for investigation. This department was investigated some weeks ago, but so far no prosecutions have resulted.

Assistant State's Attorney Homer Dodge conducted that investigation, which he said is still not complete.

Bigamies in 10 States Laid to Father, 68, and Son, 21

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 5.—(AP)—Wholesale bigamous marriages in ten states were laid to a 68 year old man and his 21 year old son in indictments returned by a federal grand jury here today. A second son, 17, also was named in the true bills, which charge violations of the Mann act.

The three men are said to have been former residents of Juncion City, Colo. Federal officers said that since 1922 they have been traveling about the country in an expensive automobile, contracting marriages and abandoning the wives after obtaining money from them.

Wed Seven, Is Charge.

The indictments name seven women whom the father, Michael Cates, is alleged to have married and transported from one state to another, and named one wife of Richard, who also was stated to have married five other women. The younger son, Howard, was not listed as having been married, but was indicted for assisting in transporting the wives of his father and brother.

The father, whose aliases were given as M. F. Charleston, W. E. Johnson, and William Myers, was accused of transporting Ruth Chastine from Berea, Ky., to New Albany, Ind.; Marie Ramsay from Pine Bluff, Ark., to Milwaukee; Mrs. Martha Webster from Polk county, Minn., to Long Beach, Cal.; Bertha Brocamp from Dayton, O., to Danville, Ill.; Agnes Weber from Milwaukee to Arkansas; Violet Weber from Joplin, Mo., to California and other states, and Clara Spencer from Sioux City, Ia., to Oceanside, Cal.

Charge Women Lost Money.

District Attorney Louis H. Greetenberger said that Mrs. Webster lost $5,700 to the accused men, and Miss Brocamp gave them $500. Amounts alleged to have been obtained from others were not announced.

Richard Cates was accused of having married women in Michigan, Kentucky, Arkansas, and Milwaukee before he was wedded to Marguerite Berk in St. Joseph, Mich., several months ago. Father and sons were accused of taking her to Tulsa, Okla., later bringing her back to Kalamazoo, Mich., where they gave her 70 cents for bus fare home.

The woman reported her experience to federal authorities, who found the Cates family in Tulsa a few weeks ago and returned the trio here.

Detroit, Mich., March 5.—[Special.]—Preference in replacing the city jobs which are to be vacated by the 1,689 aliens ordered discharged by the council will be given to war veterans with families who apply at the department of public welfare, the council voted today.

Councilman Fred Castator said since the city is feeding 12,000 families through the welfare department, veterans should apply at that department and not allow pride to cause them to refrain from registering there.

BOARD DIRECTS SWANSON TO SUE IGOE'S COMPANY

Orders Action on $62,000 Printing Issue.

The county board yesterday voted unanimously to direct State's Attorney Swanson to institute a civil suit for the recovery of $62,306 alleged to have been overcharged the county by the James T. Igoe Printing company, headed by Congressman James T. Igoe, for printing personal property tax bills in six years. The board also instructed Swanson to take any other action he might deem advisable, referring to criminal procedure.

The action of the board was taken on recommendation of the citizens' association, which investigated charges made against the printing company before the board on Oct. 11, 1929, by J. L. Jacobs, county efficiency expert. In a letter the association revealed that the charges are substantially correct and that Swanson had refused to act, holding that he had no authority to bring a civil suit without the order of the county board.

Several Ways Open.

It was pointed out that under the statute of limitations the state cannot bring charges of conspiracy against the officials of the company. However, it was said, the state may charge offenders with operating a confidence game, as the law permits such action to be brought within three years. In a civil action the county may sue to recover substantially the full amount.

The printing company was awarded contracts for printing the personal property rolls on a unit price per thousand names. Jacobs charged that the company returned bills, which were approved by the assessors, listing a greater number of names than the total assessment rolls show. He listed the excess payments as follows:

1924	511,245	243,349	267,896	8,706
1925	561,290	244,416	316,874	12,041
1927	722,950	249,416	473,534	12,311
Total excess				$62,200

Wants Assessors to Act.

On the date the charges were made the board refused to ask for an investigation on the theory that the move should be taken by the assessors, since they had approved the bills. The assessors scoffed at the intimation of collusion and declared that the first move was up to the board, since the commissioners had let the contracts.

The Citizens' association undertook an investigation. After failure of the state's attorney to act the association reported to the finance committee of the county board. On the suggestion of Chairman Harry A. Newby the commissioners concurred in the report without submitting it to the committee.

Hunt Husband Taken from Home by Fake Dry Agents

The Chicago Lawn police last night started a search for Frank Sivecki, 36 years old, 6021 South Kolin avenue, after his wife reported that he had been taken from his home by two men posing as prohibition agents. She said the men showed her husband a paper which they said was a warrant.

TOLL OF DEAD IN FRENCH FLOODS NOW OVER 300

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 5.—The latest information available tonight from Montauban says there are over 300 dead in that region as a result of the floods of the last three days. Sixty coffins were sent to Moissac tonight, and they had to be towed through flooded fields. A scarcity of row boats is hampering rescue workers. Cases have been reported of peasants langing in trees for twelve hours and finally falling into the waters from fatigue and drowning. However, reports from air mail pilots indicate that the flood waters are rapidly receding.

At Moissac, a town of 8,000 near Montauban, 150 persons were drowned after seeking refuge on roof tops. The houses had been built on clay foundations and 200 houses collapsed in the swirling waters. There were four feet of water in the streets fifteen minutes after the dike along the Garonne broke. In the little church of St. Saturnin fourteen bodies were found side by side in the slime around the altar. One was a mother with an infant in her arms.

The rains have stopped, and clear skies have come back above the devastation.

Anna Q. Nilsson's Health Imperiled by Fear of Fat

Hollywood, Cal., March 5.—[Special.]—The mania to stay thin has almost made Anna Q. Nilsson a permanent cripple. Months ago, when she fell from a horse on a ranch near Fresno, she was advised to eat eggs and butter and drink much milk because her broken hip would have a better chance to mend if her vitamins were up to par. She refused because she feared such vitality builders also would create layers of fat. For months she has lain in a plaster cast in her home in Santa Monica.

"Clothes can help you to gain a more feminine psychology about yourself"

BEATRICE FAIRFAX ANSWERS

an intimate Letter...

from a CHICAGO Girl

EMMELINE P—(her friends call her "Bobbie") writes me a very intimate letter from which I quote:

"My trouble is that I'm 'just a good pal' to men. They like me but they don't fall in love with me, and yet, like every girl, I want romance..."

Bobbie dear, it is the feminine quality in yourself which you have hidden under a hail-fellow-well-met attitude, that you must release, because it is a natural law that men should seek out the womanly woman.

Clothes can help you to gain a more feminine psychology about yourself, Bobbie.

For instance, and this advice is for every girl, when you wear exquisitely colorful, lacy lingerie and negligees, you feel feminine and charming. This consciousness of feminine charm casts its subtle spell. You believe in yourself—and confidence is contagious.

Of course you must keep the wonderful colors, the soft lustre, of your lingerie always lovely.

This is not as difficult as some women think. You need have no fear that frequent washing will rob your dainty lingerie of its beauty, for there is a marvelous product—which so many know—especially made to keep delicate colors and fabrics alluring. Of course I mean Lux. With it, your pretty lingerie, your sheer hosiery, negligees, all retain the full beauty and charm of color. And they last surprisingly long.

Charm in Your Home, Too

It is important, too, that your home should always seem dainty and charming. Keep the glamour of lovely fresh color in everything about the house, for men love cheerful color. Curtains, linens, spreads, cushion covers, all retain color charm with Lux. Beatrice Fairfax

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid liver.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative, safe and pleasant.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.

UNITED TARIFF SEEKERS BOOST DUTY ON SUGAR

Oil and Lumber Interests Help Beat Coalition.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—Oil and lumber senators today came to the rescue of the domestic sugar industry. The senate, reversing its previous action, approved by a vote of 47 to 39 an increase in the duty on Cuban sugar from 1.75 to 2 cents per pound. Nine senators, most of them interested in either oil or lumber, switched their votes and lined up for the increased duty.

The new combination of oil, lumber, and sugar smashed the Democratic-radical Republican coalition to smithereens.

Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.], who made the concluding speech in opposition to any increase in duty, asserted that the Smoot amendment would increase costs to American consumers by from 32 to 37 million dollars annually.

Vote Deal Is Charged.

Warnings that the oil, lumber, and sugar trade would be made a campaign issue were vainly sounded by the opposition leaders in advance of the senate vote. Charges that a deal had been entered into were made during the debate. Intense excitement prevailed in the senate and the galleries were crowded.

The action injected new life into the movements for the imposition of duties on oil and lumber, on which the senate voted adversely a few days ago. Another vote on the oil and lumber amendments will be asked within the next two or three days.

What has been heralded as "the battle of the sugar bowl" resulted in a rout for the consumers, who were represented as winners when the senate on Jan. 16, by a vote of 48 to 38, adopted the amendment of Senator Harrison for retention of the duties of the present law.

Increase Virtually Certain.

An increase in duty on sugar in the final law is virtually certain, as the house bill advanced the rate on Cuban sugar to 2.4 cents per pound. The conferees of the house and senate, in adjusting differences between the house and senate bills, will be obliged to fix the duty somewhere between 2 cents, as in the senate bill, and 2.4 cents, as in the house bill. The original finance committee amendment, which was rejected on Jan. 16, provided for a duty of 2.2 cents, which may be the final compromise.

The amendment for an increase in the duty on sugar was sponsored by Senator Reed Smoot [Rep., Utah]. The 47 who voted for it included 38 Republicans and 9 Democrats. The 39 against it included 13 Republicans and 26 Democrats. The nine senators who voted against the finance committee amendment and for retention of present duties on Jan. 16 and who voted for the Smoot amendment today were Wesley L. Jones [Wash.], W. B. Pine [Okla.], Thomas D. Schall [Minn.], and J. H. Metcalf [R. I.], Republicans, and H. F. Ashurst and Carl Hayden [Ariz.], C. C. Dill [Wash.], Elmer Thomas [Okla.], and Park Trammell [Fla.], Democrats.

Deneen and Glenn for It.

Senators Pine and Thomas have been the leaders in the fight for a duty on oil, and Senators Ashurst and Hayden also have been regarded as lining up with the oil group. Senators Jones and Dill have been the two leaders in the effort to impose a duty on lumber. Senators Pine, Schall, Ashurst, Hayden, Dill, Thomas, and Trammell usually have voted with the Democratic-radical coalition.

Senators Charles S. Deneen and Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.] were both paired as favoring the amendment.

More than two hours of the night session, which was to have been devoted to disposition of demands for separate votes on other amendments to the bill, were occupied by Senator R. S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.] in a short lived filibuster for a rate of 8 cents a pound on casein. The New York senator clashed bitterly with Senator Otis Glenn [Rep., Ill.], when the latter appealed to Democratic leaders to persuade Copeland to yield the floor so the senate could vote.

A few minutes later Copeland gave up the fight and his amendment was defeated without a record vote.

CONVICT STABS CHIEF AUBURN GUARD TO DEATH

Mess Hall Is the Scene of Murder.

Auburn, N. Y., March 5.—[Special.]—Edward B. Beckwith, principal keeper of Auburn prison since the death of George Durnford, for whose murder Max Becker, a convict now is on trial for his life, was stabbed and killed today by a long term prisoner in the mess hall where 600 inmates were having their midday meal.

The assassin was Anthony Mortellito, according to John L. Hoffman, recently appointed warden of the prison which has been the scene of two bloody mutinies in the past year. Mortellito was convicted of second degree murder in Westchester county and is serving a sentence of from 20 years to life.

Guards standing near Beckwith when he fell with three knife wounds in his abdomen wrested a piece of sharpened steel with an improvised handle of tape from Mortellito's hand and clubbed him until he fell unconscious on the floor. The prisoner was in an observation cell tonight under a doctor's care.

Counter Attack Launched on Wet Forces.

a sick city, wasn't growing and was ill," he declared. "We had 13 breweries and 60 distilleries. After prohibition it took on new life and its growth and betterment have been so phenomenal that its advance is little short of a marvel."

"Mr. Johnson," inquired Representative Emanuel Celler [Dem., N. Y.] at the conclusion of this statement, "did you ever hear of the Kentucky Derby?"

In a surprised voice the witness replied that he had.

"Were you ever in the Brown or Sealbach hotel in Louisville on Derby day, as I have been? And did you observe any of this bone dryness there?"

"Well, now, Mr. Congressman," said the witness, with a broad smile, "Derby day, you know, is Derby day. Toughs and gamblers from all over the world come to Louisville that day and we—well—we tolerate things."

"So I observed," remarked Celler, dryly, adding: "I suppose you would like to do away with Derby day in the name of prosperity."

Opposes Race Gambling.

The witness replied with emphasis in the affirmative—that horse race gambling is "the most corrupt influence in Kentucky." Where Celler left the quiz, his wet colleague, Representative F. H. La Guardia [Rep., N. Y.] took it up.

"Have you ever heard of the '19th hole' at Kentucky golf clubs?"

"No," replied Johnson. "I never did."

"What!" shouted La Guardia. "In Kentucky?"

Then in an incredulous voice: "Most remarkable. Most remarkable, indeed."

At this the crowd roared with laughter.

Dr. Poling, likewise, underwent a stiff grilling at the hands of the wet New Yorkers after he had presented a lengthy statement to prove that the use of liquor among college and high school students is on the wane.

Dr. Poling based his claim largely upon 519 letters which, he said, he had received from presidents of state, county, district, and city Christian Endeavor unions in 43 states. In response to a questionnaire, he said, 515 registered themselves for prohibition maintenance and enforcement while only four favored nullification and repeal.

Young "Drink Less."

Drinking among young people is less now than at any time during the last eight years, he asserted.

Representative Celler took direct opposition to this statement, quoting several dry authorities, including Jane Addams of Chicago, to the effect that young people are drinking more than ever. Dr. Poling explained that Miss Addams and other social workers were inclined to be biased because they deal with underprivileged youth.

Dr. Poling presented to the committee copies of replies he said he had received from a questionnaire telegraphed last week to 62 university and college professors asking them if drinking was general on their campuses. Thirty-one replied. Of these 26 stated that student drinking is not general.

Dr. Crowther, the first witness at the morning session, described himself as an economic and business writer for the Curtis magazines, in particular, the Ladies' Home Journal, and the author of a book, "Prohibition and Prosperity." He said he had made economic surveys, showing prohibition to be a success, insofar as it has diminished drinking by workingmen.

He quoted as authorities E. J. Buffington, president of the Illinois Steel corporation, Gary, Ind., and Josiah Keely, president of the Consolidated Coal company, Cabin Creek, W. Va.

America, he said, has more and better washing machines, electric refrigerators, automobiles, movie theaters, savings accounts, and life insurance policy holders, concluding that this is convincing evidence that laborers are no longer spending their money for liquor. He admitted, however, that "the people with higher incomes are spending money for liquor."

"But," he argued, "if some one must drink it is best for the country that those who can afford it rather than those who cannot afford it should do the drinking.

Billion for Liquor.

Mr. Crowther estimated that the country is spending between a half billion and a billion dollars for liquor. At this rate, he declared, from two to six billions have been diverted for the purchase of other things. Here, he said, lies one of the big reasons for American prosperity.

The witness was under fire almost before he stopped talking. Representative La Guardia got at him first.

"Do you say our prosperity in the last ten years is due to prohibition and that you are an ecomonist?" La Guardia demanded.

Crowther answered in the affirmative.

LA GUARDIA—You talk of less wine drinking. Are you aware of the enormous increase in grape production the last few years?

CROWTHER—I said nothing about wine drinking.

Quizzed about Price.

LA GUARDIA—In estimating America's drink bill, you said $50 a gallon is the highest price of liquor. What is your source of information?

CROWTHER—Friends of mine advised me.

LA GUARDIA—So your friends, who buy it, advised you? Do you continue to associate with them?

Again there were protests from the drys that the question was unfair.

LA GUARDIA—I submit, Mr. Chairman, that precisely the same question was asked of Col. Murphy and other wet witnesses.

During the wrangle that followed between the committee members, Mr. Crowther retired to his seat and thus escaped further quizzing by the wets.

"If prohibition played such a big part in prosperity, then you've no fear of future depressions and periods of unemployment, have you?" the New York representative asked.

"I'm not here as a Moses," Crowther snapped back indignantly.

Wets "Noisy Minority."

"I do not question the right of my fellow citizens to agitate for such changes in our laws and constitution as they may favor, but no minority, however noisy, will ever succeed in sticking up the American people with a cap pistol," declared Mr. Keating, the former representative. "That is all these opponents of prohibition have—a cap pistol. The thing won't go off! It isn't loaded."

Keating clashed with Chairman Graham, who asked him for his remedy for liquor law violations which exist. Keating replied that his remedy is to enforce the law.

"Don't you know that the prisons already are clogged with victims of the prohibition laws and that we are building more as fast as we can?" Mr. Graham asked. "And don't you know that England, without prohibition, is abandoning its jails? Your plan, I take it, is to put more people in prison?"

The witness retorted that it was either that or to "put Uncle Sam in the saloon business."

LEGISLATORS SUBMIT 18TH AMENDMENT TO RHODE ISLAND VOTERS

Providence, R. I., March 5.—(AP)—The Rhode Island house of representatives today passed in concurrence a bill providing for submission to the people on a separate ballot at the November elections the question:

"The 18th amendment to the constitution of the United States: Shall it be retained?"

The measure was passed by a nearly unanimous voice vote after a debate in which an attempt to amend by substituting "repealed" for "retained" was beaten by the Republican majority.

Passed by the senate last week, the measure now goes to the Republican governor for signature. There is a little doubt that he will approve the measure.

SAY PAT ROCHE MAY BE AID TO U. S. CRIME BOARD

Chief Investigator Pat Roche of the state's attorney's office went to Washington, D. C., yesterday. He said he was on a vacation trip, but it was rumored in the Criminal court building that he is to confer with members of the Wickersham commission about a possible appointment as chief investigator for that committee.

"It is merely a little vacation," Roche said before he left. "I am going to visit some old friends in the government service. I will be back Monday."

Attorney Frank J. Loesch, the Chicago member of the Wickersham commission, is now in Washington, and it is reported that he suggested the employment of the former government investigator. The time, length, and salary are said to be the only remaining questions to be settled.

7 Hours in Bed and Not 7 Minutes of Sleep!

The Toll Acidity Takes

When you go to bed dog-tired and still can't sleep and you rise in the morning more tired than when you went to bed, it's a sign you're "acid." Excess acid, formed in the stomach as a result of our unnatural eating habits, causes acid-indigestion with gas, sourness and burning and sets up poisonous putrefaction in the gastro-intestinal canal that saps our strength and vitality and so taxes our nerves that we can't sleep at night or work efficiently during the day.

Magnesia Oxoids, developed in Germany by a famous, 100-year-old pharmaceutical house, correct acidity in the right way! Upon contact with the acid in the stomach, Magnesia Oxoids generate nascent, or active, oxygen. The "live" oxygen stimulates the alkaline gastric mucus, checks putrefaction in the gastro-intestinal canal and stimulates the activities of the intestinal walls which aids the natural movement of the bowels. All three effects are necessary to the true correction of acidity.

5-Day Acidity Test

To ascertain just how "acid" you are, make this 5-day test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxoids at small cost from Walgreen's Drug Stores and Economical Drug Stores or any other good druggist. Take two after each meal for a few days and see how much better you feel—how much more soundly you sleep and how much more energy you have. If 5 days' use doesn't tell you volumes return the balance of the Oxoids to the druggist and he will cheerfully refund your money.

Too many of our meals are lacking.

Lacking in what?

"EVERY TIME I go to the Browns for a meal, I leave the table not entirely satisfied," said a man to his friend. "Why is it . . . they seem to set a good table."

"I agree with you," replied his friend, "and I'll tell you what their meals lack. It's sugar."

Nothing takes the place of sugar in satisfying the appetite. And it is natural that our systems crave sugar. We have learned to expect it in fruits and vegetables, which, if fresh and ripe, abound in original sweetness. But too often, these foods reach us lacking in sugar. A clever cook senses this and replaces it in cooking, or tops the meal with a sweet dessert.

As a matter of fact, sugar is an essential in the diet. Not only for the energy it supplies, but for its value in making essential foods more palatable. Dieticians will tell you that it is correct to add a dash of sugar to carrots, peas, spinach, cabbage and tomatoes while they are cooking. Such flavored foods are eaten with keen relish.

It is your duty to see that you—your family—has sugar in the correct amount. And it can be judiciously introduced in the diet—as a flavor and in wholesome desserts. The Sugar Institute.

BRITISH TAKE GUNS FROM U. S. DRY SEARCHERS

Customs Guards Sought to Land on Bimini.

Miami, Fla., March 5.—[Special.]—Eight United States government dry enforcers met with summary treatment today when they invaded the British island of Bimini during a brush with rum runners.

The American party, consisting of seven customs guards and an employé of the customs service base here, were unceremoniously disarmed by British officials when they sought to land at Bimini from a seaplane to search for eight captured rum boats seized from the customs base last night by a rum running band.

Gave Up Guns.

The Americans were forced to give up their eight revolvers and a machine gun. The customs men then were allowed to land and searched the island without success.

The boats were taken from the government storage basin here after shanghaiing the watchman during the night and the armed aerial expedition to Bimini failed to produce more than grins among islanders of the nearby British colony.

It was the greatest laugh at the customs guards' expense since Red Shannon openly defied and flouted coast guardsmen on a cutter carrying Gen. Lincoln Andrews, then head of federal prohibition enforcement. Red paid with his life a little later, shot down by coast guardsmen as he stood with hands uplifted in surrender and the bullets broke up a society gathering on the bayside lawn of an exclusive beach hotel. Talk along the waterfront tonight predicted a similar sequel to this affair.

Watchman Is Bound.

The eight rum boats, captured by federal prohibition officers at various times and given over into the custody of the United States customs service, were forcibly taken from a storage basin several miles up Miami river before daylight today after the night watchman had been bound, taken out in the everglades, and then released. The facts about the theft of the boats were revealed after an airplane search of waters between Miami and Bimini by the party of customs guards in a chartered plane of the Curtiss-Wright flying service.

The officers returned to the Curtiss-Wright base here at 2 p. m. today from Bimini and told of being disarmed by the British authorities, who would not permit them to land armed.

This is the third theft of boats from the customs service this year.

JUDGE ATTACKS ILLEGAL SEIZURE OF RUM EVIDENCE

Wilkerson Raps Dry Law Enforcement Tactics.

The prohibition enforcement policy which permits prosecution in federal courts on evidence which has been obtained illegally by policemen and turned over to the government after state courts have refused to recognize it was criticized yesterday by Federal Judge Wilkerson, as he sentenced a minor law violator, convicted by illegal evidence.

Under a ruling of the United States Supreme court, evidence obtained by policemen by entering a private home without a warrant, may be used by the federal authorities so long as it is shown that there was no collusion between the police and federal agents in the illegal search. While the state courts will not recognize the search as legal and federal agents could not use evidence which they obtained themselves by such illegal methods, it becomes legal when the police turn it over to the federal authorities for use in the federal courts.

Calls Seizure Illegal.

Judge Wilkerson attacked the practice yesterday while sentencing Dan McGuire, 907 West 53d place. On Aug. 26 policemen forced their way into McGuire's flat without a warrant and seized 227 bottles of 2 per cent home brew. The charges were dropped in a state court and the case was turned over to Assistant United States Attorney Eugene A. Tappey.

"The action of these policemen was a clear violation of the law," Judge Wilkerson said, "and the use of evidence gathered in such a manner can have no effect but to bring the law into disrepute."

When reminded by Mr. Tappey that such evidence had been ruled admissible in federal courts by the United States Supreme court, the judge replied:

"I know the ruling, but the fact remains that this is the sort of case which the courts do not want to handle. I do not like to have such cases brought before me."

McGuire had pleaded guilty on charges of illegal possession of liquor, and Judge Wilkerson fined him $50. The prosecutor had asked for a fine of twice that sum.

Hits Enforcement Policies.

Judge Wilkerson further attacked enforcement policies in ruling on cases against two still operators against whom criminal informations had been filed, charging illegal possession of liquor and maintaining a nuisance. He sentenced Joseph Sicily, 1306 Federal street, and Vincenzo Leone, Lansing, Ill., to four months each in jail, but asserted that charges should have been brought against them that would allow penitentiary sentences.

"These men should have been indicted," he said. "It is the same old story of a bootlegger's employé who cannot remember who hired him and who will not give information against the real violator. I am tired of handling petty charges against hirelings. I would like to sentence these men to three years in the penitentiary. Perhaps then they would remember whom they were working for and those higher up in the liquor traffic could be prosecuted."

FORD LEARNS PERFECT MEAL, WAY TO EAT IT

Fort Myers, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—The perfect meal and the best way to eat it has caught the attention of Henry Ford.

As a result of his own study and of chemical research in his plant at Dearborn, Mich., the manufacturer has evolved a diet which he believes will make toward generally better health and longevity.

For breakfast, he advises, eat only fruits. For luncheon, eat only proteins, and for dinner eat only starchy foods. And, in addition, he says, "don't overeat. That puts more people out than anything else."

He has followed the plan of placing fruits, proteins, and starches into three daily groups, and has found it personally beneficial.

Demonstration Barred in Paris.

[Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, March 5.—The Communist demonstrations, scheduled to be held tomorrow, were forbidden today. Premier Tardieu instructed the prefect of police that he would tolerate no manifestations and ordered all gatherings dispersed. Taxicab drivers, who have threatened to strike between 2 and 6 p. m., have been warned that if they engage in any maneuvers to obstruct the public thoroughfares, they will be arrested and their licenses withdrawn.

Esthonia Tests Defense.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TALLINN, Esthonia, March 5.—A siren wailed from the tower of the castle of parliament at 4 o'clock this morning. It was the call to arms to the Esthonian guards and speculations raced through the minds of the troops as they hurriedly dressed and ran to the barracks. The entire populace was aroused, fearful that the Communists had staged their long threatened incursions.

An automobile carrying Gen. Torwand and his aide, Maj. Ibrus, sped past a sentry, whose command to halt was unheeded. He fired at the retreating car, killing Maj. Ibrus and wounding the general.

At the height of the confusion fifty members of an underground Communist organization, who were hurrying to their posts, thinking another putsch was in progress, were arrested. When the confusion had abated, it was announced that the siren was sounded as a trial mobilization, to test the speed with which the troops could be called in the event of a sudden outbreak.

Prague Forbids Demonstrations.

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, March 5.—(AP)—A communist meeting fixed for tomorrow has been forbidden. Two communist papers in the provinces were suspended.

PARADE HERE TODAY

Communists will have full opportunity to stage a Chicago demonstration today, providing they are orderly. They may march on the west side if they behave themselves. This was the attitude of Police Commissioner Russell last night. He granted the Reds a permit for the west side parade.

Today is styled by communists as "International Unemployment day"—a sort of a recruiting day by the emissaries of soviet Russia, which is seeking to take advantage of unemployment. Like Commissioner Russell, the police officials of most American cities decided to let the so-called Reds make the most of the occasion they have been advertising for months.

Associated Press dispatches from all over the country state that no trouble is anticipated and that "demonstrations" will be tolerated.

Line of March Given.

The Chicago malcontents will form at Lake and Halsted streets at 11:30 a. m. The line of march permitted by Commissioner Russell is over Lake street to Jefferson street, south to Roosevelt road, west to Ashland avenue, south to 18th street, east to Halsted street, and south to 3116 South Halsted street. The marchers will not be allowed to carry inflammatory signs or banners.

The negotiations for permission to parade were carried on through a committee of the American Civil Liberties union. Roger Baldwin, who said he is a national director; Karl Borders, Ira Jenkins, and a clergyman who would not give his name called upon the commissioner.

They wanted assurances that the police would not use banana stalks on the heads of the agitators. Russell said the "demonstrators" would not be molested if they did not make seditious utterances or abusive remarks to the police. He said he believed he really disappointed them when he withdrew his objections to the demonstration.

Want to See Mayor.

The Reds wanted permission to send a delegation to Mayor Thompson, and Russell said they might come with a delegation of not more than fifteen, but he could not promise that the mayor would receive them. They said they wanted to tell their grievances to the mayor.

Despite the reports that the Reds planned to put bombs in manholes containing underground pipes, cables and conduits of public utilities, and a message that twelve communists were coming here from New York to kill Chief of Detectives Stege, Russell said he did not anticipate any disorder or rioting. He said he was satisfied the police could keep the most rabid of the agitators in bounds.

POLAND CLASSES 3,000 ESCAPING SOVIET RULE AS POLITICAL EXILES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, March 5.—Over 3,000 refugees have illegally crossed the 810 mile Polish-Russian frontier this year and prefer death rather than return to soviet Russia. The Polish government officially advised Moscow today that Poland will consider them as political refugees, granting them hospitality and refuge.

In the meantime, all along the Polish-Russian frontier soviet guards have been increased four times, with a crack cavalry force recruited from central Russia. The frontiers are patrolled frequently and searchlights illuminate every possible means of flight of the refugees.

The papal nuncio called upon the foreign minister, August Zaleski, today and informed him that the pope had advised him that the church will assist morally and materially all unfortunate refugees. Upon receiving the information that the majority of the refugees belonged to the Russian orthodox church the papal nuncio replied that it made no difference.

CERMAK DENIES GIBSON'S WIDOW PLACE ON BOARD

Mrs. Bessie Gibson, widow of County Commissioner John W. Gibson, yesterday lost her fight to gain his seat on the county board when President Cermak vetoed her appointment. Cermak's action can only be overridden by twelve votes. Commissioner Louis Nettelhorst, who sponsored her appointment, said he would not be able to muster the votes, since four commissioners expressed themselves as opposed to her appointment last week.

"I am constrained to disapprove and veto the resolution because the action was prompted by consideration of personal sentiments or sympathy rather than public service," President Cermak said. The question of filling the vacancy was referred to the committee on public service.

OUTLOOK FOR BIG U. S. NAVAL CUT GOOD — STIMSON

Chief Answers Anxious Queries from Home.

Asks $150,000 More

Washington, D. C., March 5.—(AP)—President Hoover today asked congress to grant $150,000 for expenses of the American delegation at the London naval conference in addition to the $200,000 allowed originally.

The additional funds are expected to last until mid-April. The President transmitted a report from Under Secretary Cotton of the state department saying the original appropriation had been used up on March 3.

"Expenses have been greater than anticipated," said a report of Director Roop of the budget bureau, which the President also sent to congress. "Moreover, an unforeseen delay has occurred."

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 5. — That the Hoover administration has no intention of establishing parity between the American and British warship fleets during the life of the treaty under negotiation at the London naval conference, was disclosed by a statement issued tonight by Secretary of State Stimson, chief of the American delegation.

In answer to criticism from home that the result of the London conference would be an actual increase in armament, Mr. Stimson asserted that there is in prospect a reduction of the American navy to the extent of 200,000 tons. In order to make this showing, however, Mr. Stimson contemplates building only 15 instead of 18 eight inch gun cruisers during the life of the treaty, and no six inch gun cruisers at all.

Britain Would Gain Edge.

America and Great Britain would have 15 big cruisers each, while America would have ten and Great Britain 15 six inch gun cruisers. America would lack a preponderance in big cruisers to offset Great Britain's preponderance of outlying naval bases, without which there could be no approach to parity.

Mr. Stimson's statement follows:

"There seems to be an impression that the work of the American delegation at this conference is likely to result in an increase, instead of a reduction, in the tonnage of the navies of the world. The surest way to answer that is to give such results as seem to be within reach up to date. A plan, which in its essentials appears acceptable to America and Great Britain, provides for a net reduction in the tonnage of the American fleet in capital ships, cruisers, destroyers and submarines, built, building or appropriated for, of over 200,000 tons, and an even larger reduction on the part of the British fleet.

Depends on Other Powers.

"If vessels authorized, but not commenced, were included in the existing fleets, the amount of reduction would be much greater. Of course, these reductions are contingent upon some reductions being made in the fleets of the other powers."

The criticism that aroused Mr. Stimson was in a memorial signed by 1,200 Americans, including many pacifist leaders, urging the American delegation to procure a reduction in armaments. Similar criticism has cropped out in senate speeches, scoring the delegation for becoming involved in a situation spelling an increase and not a reduction in the world's navies.

Mr. Stimson accompanied his statement with no details, and immediately after handing it to the press, he left the room. Inasmuch as he has excluded from the reckoning the tonnage of ships authorized, but not yet commenced, it is declared here to be impossible to arrive at a 200,000 ton reduction unless there is no intention on the part of the Hoover administration to build up to such a degree of parity with Great Britain as is provided for in the Stimson proposals.

Another Blind Alley.

Prime Minister MacDonald ran up another blind alley today when the subcommittee to which the Stimson resolution on submarines was referred three weeks ago met to announce that it had accomplished absolutely nothing, and cannot proceed further until the French reappear. Taking up the Stimson resolutions point by point, the subcommittee decided:

1. That it cannot handle the question of abolishing submarines—that it is up to the chief delegates.

2. That it cannot humanize submarine operations—that this is a matter for legal experts to thrash out in defining the rules of warfare.

3. That it cannot agree on the maximum size of submarines, as France is vitally interested and her demands must be known.

PARIS O. K.'S NEW TARDIEU CABINET AFTER HOT FIGHT

Naval Delegation Back in London Today.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 5.—Back in power with a vengeance, Andre Tardieu will send his scouts, Foreign Minister Aristide Briand and Minister of Marine J. L. Dumesnil and others, to the London naval conference tomorrow. He will go over himself Saturday, but after the majority of 53 votes he charmed out of the chamber of deputies tonight there is no reason to think the French premier will show up cowed, as some hoped he would.

In a seance unequaled in violence since the historic fall of the Alexandre Ribot government in 1914, the deputies bellowed, whistled, and banged the tops of their desks. But out of it all M. Tardieu came smiling. His confidence vote on his declaration heavily baited with tax reduction promises was 316 to 253 votes.

Foes Wild with Rage.

The left raged and nearly tore its hair to see the man whom they had downed in an ambush on Feb. 17 and who made short work of the Camille Chautemps government, coming back with his second cabinet commanding eight votes within their own ranks.

Outside of a casual reference in the ministerial declaration to the continuity of the French naval policy for a fleet of 724,000 tons, there was hardly a word from which one could gather that a naval conference was going on.

The French are going back prepared for perhaps another month's negotiations, but they are not optimistic over a sweeping five power treaty. They see no solution as yet for cruisers as long as they don't get a security pact, and they insist that they won't come down in their tonnage demands.

Tax Pledge Wins the Day.

Tonight's wild debate revealed more than ever the impossibility of M. Tardieu staying away long, while the budget is still in the air. His majority was bigger than expected, but he will have to be on his guard. It was his pledge to slash taxes for French industry to put it in a more favorable position to compete in the world market that won the day.

It was the voice of the manufacturers that spoke through the left deputies, that defied their leaders who voted for Andre Tardieu.

At the same time, the premier outlined a program of sweeping reform for the entire fiscal system, promising not to deviate from Raymond Poincare's plan for the regular amortization of the nation's floating debt.

EXCELLENCE OF SEA FOODS

Over a period of time our sales of fresh and salt water fish have steadily increased.

Along with this increase in sales come increasing comments on the peculiar excellence of flavor in our fish offerings. This good flavor is a logical result of a certain combination of elements, all designed to accomplish that one objective—fine flavor.

The best of fish to begin with, a skill in handling, a definite effort to excel—and then the very important matter of having each order freshly cooked just before service.

You will be quite conscious of this excellence of flavor every time you choose to lunch or dine at Stevens Building Restaurant.

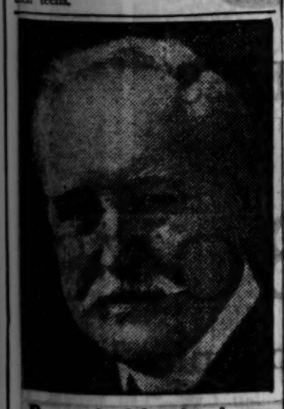
Lucky Mother

"My success with Dorothy isn't just luck," says Mrs. I. Alvine, 7636 Blackstone Ave., Chicago. "It is due to a plan. "She has escaped the ill effects of colds and upsets because, at the first sign of a cold; of bad breath, coated tongue or feverishness, I open her bowels with California Fig Syrup. She loves its taste and I like its gentle, thorough action."

Mothers by thousands praise California Fig Syrup. For fifty years physicians have endorsed this pure vegetable product. It tones and strengthens stomach and bowels; stimulates appetite; encourages digestion and assimilation. Its use helps make sallow, listless children rosy and energetic.

Look for the name California when buying. That marks the genuine; safe for infants, effective for children in their teens.



Remarkably Active for a Man His Age

"I've suffered my last spell of sour stomach," says Warren Cook of 595 W. 29th Street, New York. "I found out that by taking ACIDINE three or four nights a week, I never have that uncertain feeling whether my meals are going to sit right, or make me miserable from the indigestion and gas I used to have so regularly."

Sick, sour stomach, indigestion, burning sensation in the throat and many belching usually come from too much acid when your stomach doesn't digest the starchy food you eat. Not more than one person in a hundred has a stomach so perfect it will do it without help. That's why more than two million people are now using ACIDINE regularly, to enjoy good appetite and freedom from distress and pain after eating. You can get ACIDINE at any drug store.

Ice Cream—the best food at lowest cost—as appetizing on your table as it is refreshing at the fountain

Until recently, Ice Cream was considered a luxury. Today, however, it is recognized as a fundamental food to be eaten as a part of the regular daily diet, both in summer and winter. Food and nutrition experts proclaim Ice Cream to be rich in ALL of the food essentials—PROTEINS, which build muscle and body tissue; FAT and CARBOHYDRATES, which produce energy; MINERALS, which build good teeth and bones; and VITAMINS, which produce growth and health.

Is it not fortunate that the food which so appeals to the appetite of both adults and children is so good for them?

Whether for a regular family dinner or a smart home party, Ice Cream always makes the most welcome dessert. There is no end to the attractive ways it can be served. What is more convenient or more delicious than vanilla Ice Cream, covered with hot chocolate sauce, whole or crushed fruit or berries?

Dr. E. V. McCollum
Professor of Chemical Hygiene
Johns Hopkins University says:

"There is no more attractive way of serving milk to your family than in good Ice Cream. We have constantly emphasized the importance of drinking more milk, for the average amount consumed per person is still far too low. The more frequent serving of Ice Cream at the family table is one of the easiest ways of getting milk into the diet, especially for children who do not like milk and for persons who demand food with marked flavors."

GERMANY TO PAY 650 MILLIONS TO U. S. IN 52 YEARS

Proposal Independent of Young Plan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—President Hoover today recommended congressional approval of legislation authorizing ratification of the proposed German-American agreement for the settlement of German obligations to this country growing out of the war.

Under the projected plan the 450 millions due the United States from Germany on account of army of occupation costs and awards handed down by the mixed claims commission, would be paid directly to the United States, independently of the machinery set up by the Young reparations plan.

The entire principal, together with accrued interest, which would eventually amount to more than 200 million dollars more, would be finally paid in annual payments by 1982.

What It Provides.

The proposed agreement provides for the payment to the United States of an average annuity of 66 million gold marks over a period of thirty-seven years and a fixed annuity of 40,800,000 reichsmarks for fifteen years thereafter.

The payments in dollars amount to $15,731,000 annually for the first thirty-seven years. After that period the total annual payments would be $9,710,000. During the first thirty-seven years the treasury proposes to use $9,710,000 annually in settling mixed claim awards and $6,021,400 in payment of army costs.

Under the Dawes plan the United States has been receiving 55 million gold marks annually for army costs and up to 45 million gold marks for mixed claims awards. The total collected annually under the Dawes plan has amounted to slightly over $23,000,000. The maximum payments under the new agreement would be $15,731,000, about $8,000,000 less than under the present arrangement.

3½ Per Cent Interest.

The payments under the new plan, however, will run much longer. Interest will be paid at the rate of 3½ per cent on the deferred payments, that is, the difference between the annual sums received under the Dawes plan and the sums which would be received under the new agreement. Interest generally is at the rate of 5 per cent.

As explained by Secretary Mellon, the United States will lose 10 per cent of the principal owed for army costs. No reductions are effected in the principal owed for mixed claims awards, but the payments are strung out over a longer period. The total army costs will be satisfied in thirty-seven years and the other obligations in fifty-two years.

Merchant of Libertyville Seized on Girl's Charge

Frank Eger, 43 year old Libertyville hardware merchant, was arrested yesterday on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 16 year old Libertyville girl. The foster mother of the girl signed the complaint. Eger furnished a $5,000 bond in the court of Justice of the Peace Henry F. Wallenwein in Waukegan.

PARENTS INDICTED IN POISON DEATH OF DAUGHTER, 14

Decorah, Ia., March 5.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Casten, now residents of Decorah, but until recently residents of Locust, a small community in northeastern Winneshiek county, were indicted today by the Winneshiek county grand jury on murder charges in connection with the poisoning of their daughter, Romelda, 14, last November.

Nov. 23, 1929, the girl was left alone at the farm home while the parents presumably went to Decorah to attend to business transactions in connection with the new home they were to establish in Decorah. Upon returning to the home near Locust they found the girl dead on the kitchen floor, according to their story. Cerebral hemorrhage was assigned as the cause of her death and the girl was buried.

Suspicions later were aroused and the body was exhumed. Vital organs were sent to Iowa City and quantities of strychnine poison were found. Casten purchased a quantity of this poison Nov. 12, stating he was going to use it to kill hawks.

WOMAN HIDES GEMS ON RINGS, FOILING GUNMEN

Mrs. Kathleen Coros, 6910 Cornell avenue, lost $90 last night to a gunman who held her up in front of her home, but, by turning two rings on her fingers, she saved $1,500 worth of diamonds.

Mrs. Coros was just about to enter her home when an automobile pulled up at the curb and the robber leaped out, covering her with a revolver. As he searched through her purse and took out the $90 Mrs. Coros turned the two rings so that the diamonds were not visible. When the robber asked her if she had any jewelry she held out her fist, showing what appeared to be two plain gold rings.

"I want diamonds, not plain rings," he said, climbing back into his auto.

COPS ISSUE 983 TICKETS IN THIRD DAY OF CAMPAIGN

Tickets were handed out yesterday by the police to 983 motorists for violations of the traffic regulations in the third day of the safety campaign started by Commissioner Police Russell. Parking in prohibited areas resulted in a court summons for 124 motorists, while 290 received tickets for failure to obtain a city vehicle license. The absence of state licenses on 273 automobiles resulted in tickets for as many drivers and failure to stop at the flash of the red signal on stop and go lights and at through streets resulted in tickets for 97 and 19 drivers, respectively.

Frank Kiederowski, 45 years old, 4104 George street, his wife, Martha, 44, and their daughter, Helen, 16, were seriously injured last night when their auto crashed into a north bound Milwaukee avenue car in front of 4247 Milwaukee avenue.

DEBATE ON LOOP REASSESSMENT BEFORE A. OF C.

The loop reassessment was debated before 500 members of the Chicago Association of Commerce yesterday by Harry S. Cutmore, director of the reassessment; H. Wallace Caldwell, president of the board of education, who has led the fight upon Cutmore's valuations, and John T. Redmond, president of the Building Managers' association and representative of the loop property owners.

"The board of education has consistently broadcast misinformation in its fight upon loop property valuations," Cutmore declared. "The school board has employed obscure appraisers."

Caldwell insisted that the present valuations will result in a cash shortage to the school board for 1930 of approximately $7,000,000. He repeated his charges that the loop has been underassessed.

"The loop contains few voters," Mr. Redmond said. "That is why the politicians feel safe in imposing on it."

Children Need the Extra Help In FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

Gives Strength To Throw Off More Serious Illness

Colds, coughs, and other serious illness fasten on undernourished children—and hang on and on, as long as the child does not get the kind of food that is needed for strength.

But—when Father John's Medicine is given to the pale, weak, run-down children, they gain weight, color, and the strength to throw off the weakening, dangerius coughs.

Father John's Medicine is such a dependable body-builder because its basis is the purest cod liver oil so blended with other valuable ingredients that its food elements are readily taken up even by those who are weak and run down.

Mrs. E. O. Deery, Jr., 1847 East 36th St., Flatbush, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "Father John's Medicine has been a help and safeguard against colds and sickness in our family for three generations. The first time your medicine was used was about 1875 by my mother's mother in Ware, Mass. We have two children, ages six and four, and they have never been sick, which we attribute to the building properties of Father John's Medicine."

I'll never be without this dainty, healing cream

"A FRIEND of ours who is a nurse at City Hospital was visiting us one day and I told her how I was suffering from frightfully chapped hands. The minute she saw how raw and red they were she made me send right out for a jar of Noxzema Cream. After rubbing it into my hands a few times they all healed up. It made them so soft and white, too. Believe me, I'll never be without this dainty, healing cream again."

Miss Nanette Levine,
516 West Side Ave.,
Jersey City, N. J.

If anyone knows what is good for chapped hands, doctors and nurses do. For, in order to keep their hands clean and free from germs, they must wash them many times a day. This causes chapping quicker than anything, especially in cold weather.

To heal and protect their hands thousands of nurses and doctors now use Noxzema Cream regularly. Why? Because they know that it contains the soothing, healing medication needed to soften dry, rough, cracked skin—to heal away all smarting and soreness over night.

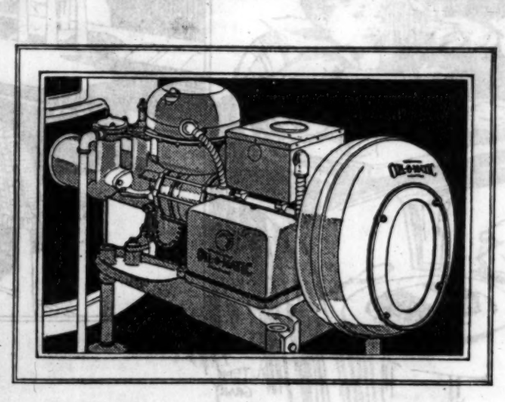
Here's why OIL-O-MATIC HEAT is more economical!

Oil-O-Matic intermittent combination gas and spark ignition saves you the needless expense of a continuous pilot light. Your Williams fuel oil burner operates only when heat is needed—and always then.



WILLIAMS thermostatic control turns your Oil-O-Matic burner off when no heat is needed—thus prevents fuel waste as it protects your health by maintaining an even temperature. Oil-O-Matic ignition saves you the expense of a continuous pilot light. No part is inside your furnace. These are fundamental reasons why carefree Williams Oil-O-Matic heating costs little more than old-fashioned, wasteful heating methods that demand constant work and worry.

Judge the basic economy of Oil-O-Matic fuel oil heat by talking with neighboring home owners. Ask us for a list of nearby owners. Then ask them to confirm Government tests which show oil heating costs may be reduced as much as 30% by burning fuel oil. Fuel oil costs less per gallon yet gives more heat than lighter grades of oil. Real economy is a real reason why this Williams Oil-O-Matic is heating far more homes than any other burner! If your home is of medium size, ask about the new Oil-O-Matic Junior which is even lower in price.

PARENTS OF 6,300 MANILA PUPILS JOIN REBELLION

City Asks Davis to Grant Strikers' Demands.

BY FORD WILKINS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, March 5.—The Manila police, school officials, and insular authorities were unable to check the strangest school rebellion on record today, when parents of 6,300 striking high school pupils joined their sons and daughters. Members of the city council decided to appeal to Governor General Dwight H. Davis and Manuel Quezon, president of the senate, to grant the strikers' demands.

The students are asking the dismissal of Allejandro Albert, acting secretary of public instruction; Luther B. Bewley, director of education and principal of the North High school, as well as the reinstatement of four expelled student strikers. No statement has yet been issued by Mr. Davis or Mr. Quezon and the school authorities are standing pat on the dismissals.

Nineteen Students Arrested.

Nineteen students have been arrested so far on charges ranging from disturbing the peace to resisting arrest and carrying concealed weapons. Another student has been knifed, not seriously, however, and one young girl was maltreated in front of the West High school. As she was attempting to attend classes she was kissed, hugged, and slapped. Several other students were bruised in the general mêlée with the police which followed.

Communists have dropped out of public sight, apparently frightened at the publicity they have been getting in the newspapers, which have been showing in detail the activities and propaganda of the Red agitators.

Teacher to Sail Home.

Members of the municipal council are taking advantage of the opportunity to curry votes and a huge mass-meeting will be held in Manila's fight stadium, attended by parents and striking students. The authorities are mainly silent, unsuccessfully seeking means to stem the tide of juvenile sentiment arising from the alleged classroom insults by Miss Mabel Brummitt, a teacher, who has been dismissed and is returning to the United States on the President Pierce tomorrow.

Ruse Foils $6,000 Pay Roll Holdup by Five Bandits

The premonition of an employé yesterday frustrated five bandits who tried to take the $6,000 pay roll at the branch distributing station of the Boston store at 23d and Federal streets. Fearing there might be a stickup, George Peters, the branch manager, got the money at a bank and sent it ahead with a clerk. When Peters arrived at the station five men with shotguns confronted him and demanded the money, but the clerk had hidden it. The robbers fled in a car after taking $110 from Peters.

INDIANA NEWSPAPER ACCUSES GOV. LESLIE OF BUYING LUXURIES

Indianapolis, Ind., March 5.—[Special.]—In addition to drawing $333 a month from a specific fund for maintenance of the executive mansion, Gov. Harry G. Leslie of Indiana, since 1928, has spent more than $15,000 from his $200,000 emergency fund to furnish the mansion here in what is described as an extremely luxurious manner.

This was charged tonight by the Indianapolis Times, which cited vouchers accounting for the purchases on file with the auditors of the state. Oriental rugs, gold imperial dishes, goblets and finger bowls of "antique bronze," cigaret boxes, dozens of ash trays, lamps, and "mirrors of hand painted gold frames and knickknacks," are listed.

The Times story recalled that Leslie receives an $8,000 a year salary and that with $4,800 appropriated by the 1929 legislature specifically for "equipment" he bought an automobile.

It also is charged that, without consent of the legislature or the state purchase committee, he has employed an assistant secretary at $250 a month and a chief secretary at $4,000 per year.

Leslie, prior to his election as governor, was speaker of the Indiana house of representatives in the 1925 and 1927 sessions.

William Millar, 75 years old, 117 South 2d avenue, Maywood, died yesterday in the Franklin Boulevard hospital of injuries incurred on Jan. 22 when he slipped and fell on the Madison street bridge in Maywood while hurrying to the hospital to see his wife, who was believed to be dying of heart disease. Millar's hip was fractured and he was placed in the same room with Mrs. Millar. Mrs. Millar died two weeks ago.

HAITIANS DEMAND U.S. STOP BORNO'S ELECTION "COUP"

Commission Sees Need for Speedy Action.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PORT AU PRINCE, March 5.—A danger of a revolt if the United States does not prevent the election of the next president of Haiti on April 14 by President Borno's council of state was brought before President Hoover's commission with such force today that it is considered likely the commission will feel compelled to take some action almost at once to allay unrest.

Such action would be in the immediate recommendation to President Hoover of what steps the commission believes must be taken to prevent the bloodshed so freely predicted. No forecast of such action could be obtained from the commission today, but it is evident the members are concerned over this crisis, which, in the time element, is so vital and is agitating Haitians far more than the question of American occupation itself.

Plead Immediate Action.

Indeed, so urgent is the agitation against an election by the council of state that prominent Haitians today, in the midst of their denunciation of American control of the republic, appealed to the commission to supervise the election and itself nominate members of a provisional government.

W. Cameron Forbes, head of the commission, informed them such a thing was impossible, saying:

"We have no administrative powers, but are only advisers to President Hoover. Any action we take is limited to reporting to Mr. Hoover."

"But this thing is urgent," insisted Edmond Lespinasse, former cabinet minister and one of Haiti's most prominent lawyers. "The power of the council of state must be suspended."

"Report to Hoover."

"Haitians do not ask the commission to do this," put in Georges Leger, who is directing the fight against the occupation before the commission. "What we want is to have the commission to report to Mr. Hoover immediately on this question."

The demand of a portion at least of the Haitian people for the restoration of representative government, which has been a dominant note here since the moment the commission stepped ashore, was also voiced forcefully at the hearing today by M. Lespinasse.

PISTOL TRACED TO WAITER AFTER GIRL IS KILLED

Orville Thomas, 35 years old, 6319 Harper avenue, a waiter, was being held at the detective bureau last night for questioning in connection with the death of Alice Lola Lee, 20 years old, at Madison, Ind., after the gun with which she was shot had been traced to him. Miss Lee was employed for six months as a waitress in a restaurant which Thomas once owned.

Thomas was taken into custody at his home by Lieut. John Tracy of the detective bureau when it was learned that an automatic pistol which had been found beside Miss Lee's body had been given to Thomas by Roy H. Lampp, a Chicago detective, several months ago.

Sheriff Andrew M. Tann of Madison notified the police yesterday that the gun had been purchased from the Von Lengerke & Antoine sporting goods store at 33 South Wabash avenue, and there Lieut. Tracy learned that it had been bought by Lampp. Lampp was questioned and admitted buying the pistol, but said that he had loaned it to Thomas, who formerly operated a restaurant at 1405 East 63d street.

The Lee girl, who was shot to death in front of the home of Nathan P. Mayfield, who admitted having had an illicit love affair with her for two years, worked in Thomas' place from last July until early in January of this year. Shortly after she left Thomas discovered the loss of the pistol, according to his story to Lieut. Tracy.

BACK OAK PARK CHIEF IN FERON MYSTERY INQUIRY

Citizens of Oak Park, attending a special meeting of the village board called by President Charles H. Cryster in connection with the investigation of the disappearance of Police Magistrate James M. Feron, unanimously voted their confidence in President Cryster and the board.

President Cryster said the officials were carrying on the investigation in their own way and refraining from any action that might discredit the village. He added: "I am asking all residents of Oak Park to refrain from making damaging statements."

"FIRST A SHADOW, then a sorrow"

[Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, 1807-1882]

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—men who would keep that trim, proper form, eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain the lithe, youthful, modern figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough.

*Be Moderate! . . . Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

THE ALDERMEN IN THE HAY WIRE.

The city council judiciary committee is due tomorrow to decide whether it will recommend that the city persist in trying to persuade the federal government to return $648,444 paid in income taxes on money illegally paid out of the public funds. By the judgment entered in THE TRIBUNE suit for recovery of the expert fees the city officials responsible for the payment of these fees are accountable for the return of the money. Income taxes had been paid on it and the city council ordered that legal argument be made to the income tax bureau for restitution.

This was done. Attorneys were sent to Washington to convince the legal department of the bureau that the federal government could not morally retain a percentage on illegal payments. It was the argument of Attorneys Jay A. Schiller and Samuel P. Gurman that the government could not benefit from conspiracy and betrayal of trust. If it wanted to keep its hands clean it had to give Chicago back the taxes on dishonest profits. It could not take a share out of the embezzlement of public funds even if it did tax bootleggers, gamblers, and other practitioners of illicit professions.

The lawyers representing the city said that Chicago had been "infested with a group of faithless and unworthy public officers." When Mr. Ettelson, the corporation counsel, read this he saw that he was in a tangle of hay wire. Nominally the candid lawyers were specials from his office and the situation was enough to cause a coolness between friends. The beans could not be picked up, but the city representatives could be yanked out of Washington, and they were, leaving their case up in the air. Mr. Schiller ever since has been trying to get his authority renewed from the city council.

Thousands of city employés will tell the world that Chicago could make use of this $648,000 in making it possible for them to pay their grocery bills, and the income tax bureau, although hard boiled, was already half convinced that the transaction was too shady for government profit. The morality of government money seldom bothers the tax collectors. Their business is to get it and let it wash its own face, but there are exceptions to such rules of indifference, and the Chicago case seemed to be one of them.

It's tough luck for a city to be sensitive and broke. Mr. Schiller is p'aring to be turned loose to get that money, and he has a good sporting chance if the council will take the hobbles off him. Have the aldermen started something they don't dare finish?

THE REPORT ON THE PUBLIC HEALTH INSTITUTE.

A committee of three distinguished specialists in venereal diseases has reported on the standards and accomplishments of the Chicago Public Health Institute. The report appears to have been regarded by the friends of the institute as upholding their main contentions in the controversy with the Chicago Medical society, and spokesmen for the society have also found in the report vindication for their opposition to the institute.

Which party, if either, was vindicated is a question which is likely to be debated long and, we suspect, fruitlessly. Unfortunately for the more excitable partisans, the committee did not regard the controversy as a sporting event, and therefore the report of the committee was not couched in the form of an umpire's decision. The committee did list certain accomplishments and pointed to certain matters which it regarded as deficiencies in the conduct of the institute. These, we believe, deserve careful consideration by those physicians and laymen who find basis for discussion in the mutual belief that medical practice and medical ethics should be modified, if possible, for the benefit of persons of moderate means who are now unable to obtain sound medical service at a cost which they can meet.

The Public Health institute is the largest clinic of its kind in the United States, and it does seek to reduce the costs of sound medical care to the patient. It is therefore to be regarded as an important experiment in medical economics. That the experiment will not be regarded as successful unless the services the institute renders are distinctly superior to those of the ordinary physician and at the same time distinctly less costly is evident from the report and the response to it. The report states that the charges made by the institute are less than those of the rank and file practitioner and adds that the service given is superior to his. As this is regarded as a vindication by some of the spokesmen for the medical society the conclusion seems justified that the society will not be content with the institute until the institute and similar institutions for the treatment of other diseases are run on a basis which is certain to drive the unorganized and obscure practitioner to the wall. From the viewpoint of the public at large this insistence upon the highest attainable standard is, of course, admirable, and reflects great credit upon the society, but it also presents a curious paradox: the society is insisting, on behalf of its members, that public clinics maintain a higher standard of professional competence than the society requires of its own members as individuals.

Likewise many of the shortcomings found by the committee are shortcomings which are inherent in the recognized unorganized practice of medicine, and can be overcome only through the organization of clinics such as the society frowns upon. The committee, for example, recommends staff conferences as a means of educating the physician, but relatively few doctors in private practice enjoy any parallel advantage. The committee also recommends that the institute follow up lapsed infectious cases. No individual physician in private practice can devote the time required for such work, assuming, as for our part we do not, that it is the function of the physician or the clinic, as distinguished from the public health authority, to pursue patients who for reasons of their own have decided to take other treatment or no treatment.

It is difficult to understand how the society can consistently condemn the institute unqualifiedly and yet insist upon professional standards which are not likely to be attained except through institutions resembling the institute. However, that is a matter for the society to determine, and does not concern the public at large, which will be grateful to the society if its action does lead to fixing higher standards. The public interest will be served if the practice of medicine is made sufficiently remunerative to attract men of ability, and if the costs of medical care to the bulk of the population are reduced to the lowest point consistent with a decent living for physicians and others engaged in treating the sick.

JUDICIAL CONSCIENCE AT ISSUE.

At the spring convention of the Republican party in Indiana the candidacy for renomination of Judge Benjamin F. Willoughby to the Supreme court of the state presents an issue of first rate moment. That issue is more important than any consideration of the relative merits of candidates.

We think that in Indiana, as in Illinois or elsewhere, it is desirable to retain the service of an experienced judge rather than to lose the public profit of his experience by replacing him with a new man. THE TRIBUNE therefore has recommended the return of sitting judges in Cook and Illinois courts, but in the case of Judge Willoughby there is a higher and more compelling consideration for his retention. The issue is whether the courts in Indiana are to decide cases upon the law and the evidence or are to accept the dictation of the Anti-Saloon league, the Ku Klux Klan, or any other political organization or individual.

Judge Willoughby's candidacy cannot be divorced from this issue. He cannot be defeated in the convention or at the polls without striking a blow at the independence of the judiciary and at the credit of Indiana as an intelligent community of freemen. He cannot be refused indorsement without indorsing the dictation of judicial decision by politics and the subordination of law and justice to partisanism and bigotry. He has had the courage to follow the law in spite of clamor and the threats of organized fanaticism. It was the highest service a public servant could have performed for his state. If Indiana Republicanism fails to support judicial courage and judicial conscience, it is because it is still under the lash of organized bigotry and determined to dig its own grave.

WHILE THE HAT GOES ROUND.

The Civic federation protests against the proposed bureau of plumbing which the mayor's floor leader in the council, Ald. Nelson, wants to establish in the department of public works. The ordinance provides that the expense of maintenance be charged to the water fund. That means the water users will make a higher contribution to politics to pay for new jobs. There will be a commissioner of plumbing in charge, an assistant commissioner of plumbing in charge, a superintendent of plumbing in charge, and the present superintendent of water pipe extension is to be taken out of the bureau of engineering and put under these three new officials. There are to be new timekeepers, stenographers, clerks, plumbing inspectors, tappers, laborers, and watchmen.

And the need for this new machine, we are competently informed, is nil; that is, the public need. The need of the city hall gang is something else again. While leading citizens are passing the hat for donations to pay firemen, policemen, nurses, and teachers, this new enterprise of the gang is most encouraging.

CHICAGO'S GENEROUS ATTITUDE.
[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

The Post-Dispatch published last week the hearty commendation given by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE to a proposal that all surveys on the Mississippi river above St. Louis should have as their objective a nine-foot channel to the head of navigation.

Great strength for the nine-foot channel has recently come from an unexpected quarter. Hitherto the army engineers have opposed it, but Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, their chief, has reversed the traditional attitude upon this powerful front. Gen. Brown thinks that since the lower Mississippi and the Ohio are to have nine-foot channels, the upper Mississippi, as an integral part of the inland waterways system, should also have a nine-foot channel. He considers it essential to the whole project.

As may be guessed from THE TRIBUNE'S approval of this view, the attitude of Chicago is as generous as it is wise. Indeed, the success of the whole inland waterways movement is due to a realization of interdependence upon the part of the whole valley. Illinois is spending more money upon inland waterways than any other valley state. Chicago is looking down the Illinois river to the sea. Only a very rich state, backed up by a prodigious city, could contemplate such a project as that which proposes to make the Illinois river a highway for bulk freights. And only a deep channel from the mouth of the Illinois to New Orleans can make such a highway mean anything. THE TRIBUNE therefore says the upper Mississippi should have a nine-foot channel, though the relation of that project to Chicago's own enterprise on the Illinois is only that relation which every part of the inland waterways development bears to the whole.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

LET'S SCARE 'EM TO DEATH— LET'S SAY WE'LL ANNEX 'EM.

Canada is talking very seriously about shutting down on the exportation of likker to the United States. It would be a good thing for Canada, for then everybody that likes champagne or beer would have to go up to Canada to get it and spend a lot of money on railroads, hotel bills, and postcards besides what they pay for their drinks. In addition to those who go over to the other side of the Atlantic in the summer the number of people who go to Canada will just about depopulate our country during the summer months.

About the only way to scare Canada into having a heart is to talk about annexing it. The one big bugaboo that stalks around Canada day and night and all the year around is annexation by the United States. Start a lot of talk about annexing Canada if she shuts down on letting us have likker and the Canadians will rush down to the boundary line with a quart bottle in one hand and a tin dipper in the other and pour us out all we want.

Not that we want to annex Canada—far from such. Where could we drive our autos when we wanted to be free from snoopers and reformers and bandits and hijackers and enforcement officers with their roaring shotguns if Canada was under the same laws that have been smeared over the U. S. A.? No, Canada is our land of refuge, our oasis in a dreary desert, our sanctuary.

We need Canada to remain just as she is. But don't tell 'em that. Say we're going to annex 'em. Talk about annexation to a Canadian and he gets as white as a sheet and his hair stands straight up on his head. His teeth rattle and his eyes roll, and in a very few minutes he begins to foam at the mouth, and he snaps and barks and tries to bite you in the instep.

No, we wouldn't annex Canada on a bet. But don't tell 'em, don't tell 'em! Say we're going to and scare 'em to death. And we'll bet right now the Chamber of Commerce of Quebec, or Montreal, or Toronto sends us a nice present and promises to send more if we'll just shut up talking about annexation. And we hope the express company doesn't jounce our present around or drop it so that it starts leaking.

TOWARD EQUILIBRIUM.

Your fingers rest
As mutable upon my body
As dawn upon a lake. Your fingers lie
Over the shifting substance of my flesh
Like wind imprisoned by a finite sky
Moving along the borderland of space.

Darkness must sleep at last upon the face
Of water. The unrest
Of lost winds must be gathered in a grove.
And to our hearts
Must come a soft sufficiency of love
Which neither light nor wind can tear apart.

POLLY CHASE BOYDEN.

CHARLES AND BURTON DISCOVER DINKELSBUHL.

Old Charles Collins said in his drammer column yesterday that Burton Holmes "turns up material that has escaped the book writers and the foreign correspondents—as, for example, the quaint town of Dinklesbuehl, a backwater of German mediaevalism, exploited in last week's lecture." Charles, tak!! tsk! Don't let Burton fool you. You read the Line, son, and you'll know all about Dinkelsbühl. We've been talking about it for years. Or read Robert Medill McBride's Towns and People of Modern Germany, published in 1927, and you'll find pages and pages and pictures and pictures showing just how enchanting that book writer found Dinkelsbühl to be. Or read Baedeker, good old Baedeker, who doesn't miss many tricks, you can bet your bottom nickel. Of course, Baedeker isn't as ecstatic about Dinkelsbühl as Mr. McBride and us, but then Baedeker has been everywhere and seen everything, and naturally he's just a little blasé. Even so, Baedeker gives up a page and a half of fine print to Dinkelsbühl, or if you include the Town Plan, call it two pages. And that's paeans of praise from Baedeker, take our word for it. But if you really thought Dinkelsbühl was never heard of until Burton gave his swell talk about it last week, you really ought to have the Line delivered to your door every morning (adv.). About once a month (and we never know beforehand when it's going to strike us) we have to say something about it; one day it's the old moats and ramparts and old towered gateways that we lecture on; again it's the Markt with "the finest church of its type in S. Germany" (that's from Baedeker) across the square from the place where you drink real beer that never saw a bathtub on South Halsted; and often, perhaps most often, it's just the real beer. But you subscribe for the Line, Charles, and papa won't have to spank again in public.

FASHIONS.

Lengthen your dress, my dear,
Let your hair grow,
I must confess, my dear,
I like it so.

Hide ears and knees, my dear,
Assume reserve,
Some men you'll please, my dear,
With hidden curve.

Many there be who wish
To see it all,
Like poultry, game, or fish
Hung in a stall.

But now and then in year
Of scanty dress,
There are some men, my dear,
Who like to guess!

LAGNIAPPE.

REGARDING CHICAGO'S 93d birthday this week, the newspapers call attention to the fact that the city was cradled in a saloon. Dear, dear, and future historians may add that in 1930 it was living in a speakeasy.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN is going to stick to the silent movies and refuse the lure of the squawkies. We suggest the Carnegie medal for the "Most Humanitarian Act of the Year" be immediately made in gold and platinum and heavily incrusted with diamonds and presented to Charlie immediately.

THERE'LL be no last line today on account of profit taking. (Well, they get away with that in the stock market and so we're going to try it.)

A SCORE CARD FOR MILK.

THE relative importance of the different qualities of milk and cream is shown by the new score card for those foods issued recently by the U. S. department of agriculture and approved by the American Dairy Science association.

One hundred representing a perfect score is a total of forty-five for very low bacterial count; twenty-five for approved flavor and odor; ten for absence of sediment or dirt; fifteen for temperature or acidity, and five for bottle and cap.

If there are five hundred bacteria or less in each cubic centimeter [about 15 minims] a score of forty-five is given for bacteria, 16,000 to 19,000 bacteria earns a score of forty; 30,000 to 35,000, one of thirty-five; 50,000 to 55,000 one of thirty; 70,000 to 75,000 one of twenty. Counts of 100,000 and over are scored zero.

If disagreeable or foreign flavors and odors are noted the score given the milk on that head is less than twenty-five. An entry under "Remarks" specifies the nature of the flavor or odor. The sediment score is determined either by the dirt or by examining the bottom of a bottle of milk which has stood quiet for an hour or more. The slightest trace of dirt causes something to be subtracted from a ten for perfect.

In rating the next point the scorer can choose between the temperature of street samples or the acidity of prepared samples. A temperature of forty or below is given a score of fifteen. There is no especial difference between thirty-five and forty so far as the quality of the milk is concerned. A temperature of fifty brings a score of twelve. As temperatures rise above fifty the score drops rapidly. A temperature of fifty-five carries a score of seven, and sixty and above are scored zero. An acidity of eighteen hundredths per cent wins a score of fifteen. One of twenty-three hundredths per cent, one of zero.

A perfect, clean bottle with a perfect cap, fitting perfectly, earns a score of five. From the standpoint of the hygienist, bacteria, dirt and temperature are paramount. Flavor, odor and the neatness of the bottle are important from the standpoint of the esthetic.

No preference is given to either pasteurized or raw milk in the scoring. Nor is either penalized.

ABOUT VENTILATION.

A. H. G. writes:

1. What do you think of a doctor who says the windows should be closed when the patient is sleeping?
2. Also, what degree of heat is best for working in an office with no windows open and no other means of ventilation?

REPLY.

1. Don't ask me. This is a family newspaper.
2. Around 70. Insist on some means of ventilation.

HOW TO PASTEURIZE MILK.

Mrs. E. M. J. writes:

1. Could one pasteurize milk at home?
2. If so, how?
3. I always boil the milk two minutes before using. Does this make it safe?

REPLY.

1. Yes.
2. Heat short of boiling. Put hot milk in an insulated bottle. Leave it there for two hours. Pour out the milk and chill it. Keep it cold.
3. Yes.

PRENATAL DIET.

Mrs. E. E. G. writes: Do you have booklets or information on the diet for an expectant mother, or the care to be taken at that time?

REPLY.

Write to the children's bureau, United States department of labor, Washington, D. C., for "Prenatal Care" and "Infant Care." Write to your state health department for their booklet on this subject.

TAPEWORM SOURCES.

C. V. H. writes:

1. What kinds of foods cause tapeworms?
2. What causes trichinosis?
3. Is salt used in beer dangerous to the kidneys?

REPLY.

1. Raw foods, especially raw meats, including fish.
2. Eating pork which contains trichina larvæ.
3. It probably adds to the strain on the kidneys.

ON BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

V. C. writes:

1. Does an infected kidney mean Bright's disease?
2. If the urine is thick with albumin and blood, and is the color of blood, is this condition serious?

REPLY.

1. No. While the kidney is affected in each case they are different diseases.
2. Probably so.

QUESTIONS JUDGE GENTZEL'S DECISION.

Chicago, March 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A few days ago I read in THE TRIBUNE that a man was sentenced to six months in the county jail by Superior Judge Gentzel for failure to meet alimony arrears of $600 to his former wife, who had been awarded the custody of two children when she won a divorce two years before. In passing the sentence Judge Gentzel said, "The children can't eat snowballs." Of course, I understand that the judge meant to say that the children cannot live on snowballs, but, 1. How can the man pay the woman alimony if he has no property and no work to furnish him an income? 2. How is his ability to pay in any way improved by putting him in jail for six months?

You are very earnestly requested to look into this and give me your opinion because I am under the impression that our courts, the most sacred institution of our government, are being misused by altogether too many of the presiding judges. P. W. L.

1. In many of these cases the judge is convinced that the father has resources such that he could pay if he chose. 2. Obviously, it is not improved, but in many cases imprisonment results in a prompt change of attitude.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 6, 1865.

WASHINGTON.—Secretary of War Stanton made public dispatches from Gen. Grant in relation to the reported defeat and capture of Gen. Early by Gen. Sheridan, who with his force began a movement a week ago and was last heard from at Staunton. Gen. Grant's last dispatch says: "Refugees confirm the statements of deserters as to the capture of Early and nearly his entire force. They say it took place on March 2 between Staunton and Charlottesville, and that the defeat was total." Grant's previous messages stated that deserters had reported the capture of Early with his entire force and the city of Charlottesville as well. They also stated that four regiments had gone from Richmond to reinforce Early.

NEW YORK.—The Herald's Washington special says: "Authentic information, not from Richmond, has been received that Sherman's advance has reached Fayetteville, N. C. The dispatch also says that Porter's gunboats had reached that point."

WASHINGTON.—Within the last six weeks 78 rebel officers from lieutenant colonels down to second lieutenants have deserted from the lines in front of Petersburg and have taken the oath of allegiance.

MOLINE, Ill. — Mrs. Demarius Deere, wife of John Deere, died on Feb. 17 after a long illness. She was 60 years old.

CHICAGO. — An ordinance was adopted by the common council providing for the numbering of the streets of the city. This was rendered necessary by the adoption of the system of city delivery.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 6, 1900.

NEW YORK.—Olga Nethersole, the actress, and her associates who were accused of producing an immoral play in "Sapho" at Wallack's were held for trial at Special Sessions by Magistrate Mott, who said he decided to do this under the decision in the "Orange Blossoms" case. As a result Wallack's theater was closed tonight and no performance was given.

LONDON. — Gen. Gatacre entered Stormberg unopposed. The Boers destroyed the railway approach. A dispatch from Dordrecht says that Gen. Brabant has scored a complete victory. The Boers are in full retreat and are being pursued. Lord Roberts has dispatched a strong force northward from Kimberley to Mafeking and promises the early relief of Baden-Powell. Mafeking is beginning to feel the pressure of the siege. Food is short and horses and stray dogs are being made into soup.

CHICAGO.—The Rev. Dr. Edward Payson Goodwin, for 32 years pastor of the First Congregational church, resigned, to take effect July 1. He is 63 years old and for a time was in poor health, but recently he came back after a leave of absence much stronger and because of this his resignation was a surprise.

CHICAGO.—Miss Bessie Diamond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Diamond, 339 Marshfield avenue, and Louis Schlesinger were married at the home of the bride's parents.

CHICAGO.—Mrs. Florence B. Wallington, 215 31st street, was the victim of a bold holdup in the afternoon on Jackson boulevard, between Dearborn and Clark streets. She was knocked down and robbed of $100.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 6, 1920.

CHICAGO.—A three story flat building owned by George A. Hyers, founder and president of the Douglas Community Improvement association, an organization formed to prevent Negroes from moving into that residential district, was the target of a bomb hurled from a passing automobile, supposedly by Negroes.

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—Mary Pickford, divorced from Owen Moore, will never marry again, but will devote the remainder of her life to motion pictures, according to an interview she gave a local paper.

NEW YORK.—The growing bitterness between wets and drys that already has plunged the prohibition issue into national politics was marked by a new development when William H. Anderson, state head of the Anti-Saloon league, issued an attack on what he terms "the Catholic church alignment with Tammany to defeat prohibition."

THE HAGUE.—The Dutch government for the second time refused to deliver the former German emperor to the allies for trial. The note to David Lloyd George, however, promised to take all necessary measures to minimize Wilhelm's liberty and prevent him from endangering the world's peace.

CHICAGO.—Harry Mortimer Higinbotham, son of the late Harlow N. Higinbotham, died after a short illness at the age of 51. Surviving him are a brother, Harlow D. Higinbotham, and two sisters, Mrs. Richard T. Crane and Mrs. J. M. Patterson.

SHOWING US OUR PLACE.

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 26.—An article recently appeared in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE to the effect that Britain is haggling over a few ships and at the same time driving a hard bargain with the United States with a view to keeping your country in an inferior position.

Did not Great Britain at the beginning of the conference, and as a gesture of good will, cancel construction of a number of capital class ships? News of this description is something you are apparently pleased to forget.

A question to you: Why, in the first place, is the States sticking out for parity? Has she the food routes, the overseas empire, and the enormous mileage of coastlines to guard? You as a nation, with your minority of overseas colonies, a lesser coastline, should possess no more than a navy second rate to that of France herself. Here is a country, France, the second largest power in the world, an enormous overseas empire and coastlines to guard. Here is a country that needs a navy second to Britain only. Yet what would you give her? Enough barely to defend herself. France is the one that haggles and has every right to.

For what reason, then, do you require so large a navy? Shall I tell you? You are afraid for one thing of Great Britain's domination, you envy her sea power and do not like the idea of being second. Again you are afraid of Japan, and what she could do to you. Japan looks with envy upon your many, unoccupied, fertile acres covering many miles of your territory.

However, we seem to be getting away from the point a little. You seem to want a navy; you want to be first. Well, shall we give you a navy? Let us start with a little pond far away in some little garden or some back street. We will take a few gallons or so of water and make you a sea. Then we will buy a few nice looking little wooden boats, sails, and all complete. You have the water and the boats; now you can play with your navy. Admirable.

You, as editor, are responsible, presumably, for articles appearing in THE TRIBUNE. You appear to like running down Great Britain on all possible occasions. Chicago, of all places. Some little village way down in Australia and bearing the name of Chicago is so thoroughly disgusted at her big sister that she has changed its name to Booth. The absolute reverse of savagery, ruthless slaughter, etc., to kindliness and sympathy. Why not start a limitation of arms conference in your own city? You could certainly do with it.

In conclusion, the States knows that Great Britain in building a navy is not building against the States, but, rather, with the States. You belong to the same stock as we ourselves; we have the same traditions behind us, a fact of which we are so proud, and you know, as well as I, that were some common catastrophe to threaten the English-speaking world as a whole that so-called world would present a united front, though all other nations oppose them.

I trust that in writing as I have I do not offend you in a major degree, but I am sufficient of a patriot to this commonwealth of nations to resent any implication against the mother country, especially by our American cousins.

Apart from this allow me to extend my best wishes to you as representative of a great nation.

WHAT THE BLUE OX SAW.

Duluth, Minn., Feb. 27.—Speaking for my own dear old Minnesota, our foxy prohibition farmers are making hard hooch from sugar grown in Cuba and our insular possessions by our little brown brothers.

Their stinking barnyard beers are made from so-called malt sirups that as a matter of fact contain just enough genuine barley malt to get them past the federal pure food laws.

This writer has bought timber products from the settlers of northeastern Minnesota for the last 20 years, has eaten and slept in their houses many, many times, and for sociability's sake has drunk enough of these miserable concoctions to know whereof he speaks.

RACKETEERED.

Chicago, March 2.—The letter in today's Voice of the People written by J. H. R. and pertaining to the racket connected with gas station employés moves me to write you a few lines.

This fellow in the big car has called on me, too, and I turned him down on two occasions, as I had been warned previously by my friends, and we are wondering if this racket cannot be investigated or at least shown up. Why does it exist?

I was in the garage business in this city for several years and probably would be yet only for the activities of the notorious Midwest Garage Owners' crowd, who made life unbearable for me, and I finally gave up in disgust after having paid large sums for repairing my plate glass windows. Every person in this city who drives an auto has to contribute indirectly to this gang if he keeps his car in a public garage. Why does this city have to stand for such a business?

Now that they have milked the garage field they are turning to battery and tire shops and gas stations.

We hope J. H. R.'s son stays out of any such organization as this, for he will get no benefit whatever. The benefits are intended only for the fellow who have the crust to try to collect.

WILLIAM MCAVOY.

PIGEON RACES.

Chicago, March 2.—Last fall while in New York the writer had the pleasure of viewing a very interesting show of racing homing pigeons. Curiosity led me to ask questions of some of the delegates regarding their interesting hobby and I was surprised to learn that Chicago was well represented; that there is a branch or center of the American Racing Pigeon union here in Chicago, and that the Chicago fanciers are endeavoring to bring the convention of all three of the above organizations to Chicago during the World's Fair in 1933. The writer was informed that there are thousands of racing pigeon fanciers here in Chicago and that pigeon racing has been in progress here for half a century.

Now I wonder if some one could give information as to where and when these races are conducted and if one not a member would be permitted to witness the events. WALTER L. MOORE.

WHENCE COME THE VICTORS!

Chicago, Feb. 27.—If Roux, a French Canadian from Montreal, is classed as a Canadian in defeat, why is not Jimmy McLarnin, an Irish-Canadian from Vancouver, classed as a Canadian instead of a Dubliner in victory? The Olympic champion sprinter is Percy Williams of Vancouver, and in July, 1929, proved his merit by defeating America's best, including Eddie Tolan. Simpson was not present, but I understand his record of :09.2 was established with the aid of starting blocks, which of course is not officially recognized in Canada. So let's be fair and give credit where credit is due. FAIRPLAY.

A PROUD CHICAGOAN.

Chicago, March 3.—I want to offer a suggestion. At the bottom of each item you print regarding a crime outside of Chicago, add in small type "This was not in Chicago." I was born in Chicago April 19, 1863, and I am proud of our wonderful city. My parents came here in 1837. Two of my brothers were born on the river at Beach street. Beach street was near Van Buren street.

DANIEL J. COYNE.

AN OLD SONG.

Chicago, March 3.—Does any one know this old song:

I'm ninety-five,
I'm ninety-five,
And to keep single I will contrive
The men may flatter and hoax and coax, etc.

W. S. MCGAW.

ACTIONS AND REACTIONS.

Chicago, March 1.—The attitude of Russia today, relative to religion, is merely the proof of an old law—every action is equal to an identical and opposite reaction—which is quite true. During the dark ages it was heresy to think of any other religion except that of the established church. In other words it was a crime to be without the religion of the established church. Today Russia says: It's a crime to have religion. It required a long time for this reaction to accrue into fruition. But there you have it. The only disagreeable feature of the equation is this: The just must suffer with the unjust. Wherefore, "Be sure your sins will find you out." E. CHRIS MADSEN.

CHINESE REBEL DICTATOR QUITS; ENDS WAR CRISIS

Threat of Soviet Invasion Averts Civil Strife.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, March 6.—[Thursday.]—A telegram from Nanking early this morning said Yen Shi-shan, dictator of Shansi and Chihli province and the backbone of the northern rebellion against the Nationalist government, last night telegraphed to Nanking, resigning all his official positions. He said he wished to retire from politics and go abroad. The Chinese newspapers here interpret this as the complete collapse of the northern military crisis.

Credit for blocking the threatened civil war between President Chiang Kai-shek and the Shansi leader, which seemed imminent, belongs to the "young marshal," Chang Hsueh-liang, the head of the Manchurian government, who sent identical telegrams to the heads of the opposing groups. The substance of these telegrams was that renewed civil war would be certain to result in fresh soviet aggression in Manchuria.

Rebel Generals Desert.

In addition to his telegrams of warning, Marshal Chang also mobilized a considerable force in the vicinity of Shanhaikwan, adjoining the Great Wall. This led observers to believe he intended to support Nanking against Gen. Yen. In addition to Marshal Chang's move, two Honan generals, Shi Yu-shan and Han Fu-chi, stationed along the Lunghai railway, who previously were allied with Gen. Yen, deserted and jointed President Chiang.

Chinese newspapers report there will be an immediate resumption of through train service from Shanghai to Peiping and from Hankow to Peiping.

Yen Would Split Up China.

While President Chiang and Gen. Yen have been nominally allies, working as commander and vice commander of the "national forces," they have never been in real agreement. They are leaders of opposite schools of thought. The Nationalist president believes that the future of China depends upon a strong central military control of the entire country. Gen. Yen is convinced that a federation of autonomous states is the only possible satisfactory arrangement for China.

AIR LINE DEFERS EXPANSION; CAN'T USE SMALL PORT

Action Lags on Land Transfer.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

Further evidence that the policy of the board of education on the transfer of property to the city for expansion of the Municipal airport is hampering progress of aviation in Chicago was provided yesterday by operators of air lines flying from the city field at 63d street and Cicero avenue.

William Bliss, traffic manager of Universal Air lines in Chicago, revealed that Universal plans to add another scheduled flight to its passenger service between Chicago and Cleveland have been set aside until additional land is secured to make the runways long enough for the safe operation of big transport ships.

Carry Only Part of Load.

"The tri-motored planes often leave here with only part of a load because some of the runways are too short to insure a safe take off with a fully loaded plane," Bliss said. "When we have to use the north-south and east-west runways two passengers and the cabin steward are left behind so that the ships can get off of the short runways. The tri-motored ships can carry 12 passengers and crew, but much of the time we fly with ten passengers, because the planes can barely make the grade with more.

The department of commerce recommends runways at least 3,000 feet long and unobstructed at the ends for the operation of transport planes. Only one runway at the Municipal field meets this requirements, and most of the landing alleys are obstructed at the ends by hangars and high tension wires.

Lester D. Seymour, operations manager for National Air Transport, declared yesterday that one clause in the lease which the school board contemplates offering to the city will ruin any possibility of agreement between the city and the schools on the transfer of the 600 acres of school land under consideration.

Finds Joker in Plan.

He referred to the revaluation clause which would require the city to pay approximately $300,000 in rental annually after the first 20 years of occupancy.

"I suspect," he said, "that that joker was included in the tentative lease by some school official opposed to the measure in order to make sure that the proposed lease would be defeated. The schools could never get that much rental from any other source and it is of course impossible for the city to pay the exorbitant rate."

President Caldwell was unable to throw any light on the present status of the airport matter yesterday. Nor was he able to say when the trustees would act on the recommendation of the buildings and grounds committee.

APPROVE PLANS TO RESTORE OLD CHICAGO PORTAGE

Forest Preserve Board to Start Work in May.

Plans for restoring the old Chicago portage at the continental divide to its condition when the first white men crossed it, were approved yesterday by the forest preserve board of commissioners. The plans, as drawn by Superintendent Charles G. Sauers of the forest preserves, include reforestation and reëstablishment of topography as described in historical data of the period.

The area incindes 127 acres of land at Harlem avenue and 48th street leased to the forest preserve district by the Sanitary district to preserve the spot for its historical interest. The place marks the watershed between the great lakes-St. Lawrence river system and the Mississippi river system.

Earliest Trade Factor.

The portage was the earliest factor in determining Chicago's commercial supremacy. Before the white man came Indians en route from the Mississippi to the great lakes carried their canoes across the continental divide at Stony ford, the oldest crossing in this community, from the Des Plaines river to the Chicago river.

The plan for preserving the spot was proposed by the Chicago regional planning committee and adopted by the forest preserve advisory board, headed by Brig. Gen. Abel Davis. The site was secured from the Sanitary district with the aid of President Anton J. Cermak of the forest preserve board.

Start Work in May.

Superintendent Sauers proposed to begin work on his plan in May, with the planting of trees and the dedication of a plaque to be fixed in a boulder by the Chicago Historical society. The boulder has been secured in the vicinity and will mark the opening of the preserve. Superintendent Sauers will seek an old log cabin in southern Illinois in the hope of finding one corresponding with description of Lawton's trading post.

The only features not in keeping with the historical atmosphere of the area will be two parking grounds, shelter houses, and erection of picnic tables. The program will be extended over a period of several years.

OLD INJURY FATAL TO PAINTER.

Jerry Healy, 54 years old, 7043 Vernon avenue, a painter employed by the city, died yesterday after a long illness which resulted from injuries he incurred in September, 1928, when he fell from a bridge at 35th and Iron streets.

PROBE IDENTITY OF 'COLONEL' IN NECKLACE SALE

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—Assistant District Attorney H. W. Hastings announced today he would await the arrival of "important papers" in this country from Archduchess Maria Theresa before taking the sale of the $400,000 "Napoleon" necklace, which belonged to the archduchess, before the grand jury.

The papers deal with Col. C. F. Townsend, who sold the necklace for $60,000 and kept $52,730 of that sum "to cover expenses." Mr. Hastings wants to establish definitely whether the colonel knew his power of attorney had been revoked when he sold the necklace.

ROB DRIVER OF HIS CAB.

Hobar Houston, colored, 5174 Michigan avenue, a taxicab driver, was robbed of his cab and $8 yesterday by five men who rode in Houston's car from 33d street and Michigan avenue to 73d and Morgan streets.

CLOTHES FOUND MORE EXPENSIVE FOR HUSBANDS

Miss May Louise Cowles of the department of home economics at the University of Chicago presented statistics yesterday to prove that it is the husband and not the wife whose clothing costs the larger part of the family budget. At each income level, Miss Cowles' thesis avers, the husband's apparel costs about 10 per cent more than that of his spouse.

Figures provided by the United States department of labor in a survey provided the basis for the tables worked out by Miss Cowles on incomes averaging from $813 to $2,790 a year. They included detailed expenditures of 65,000 individuals in 12,996 families in 92 cities and towns.

In the lowest income group, under $900 a year, it was found that 13.2 per cent of the income went for clothes, the husband taking one-third, the wife slightly less than one-third, and the children the remainder. In those above $2,500 the percentage used for clothes, Miss Cowles found, increased faster than the increase of income, until at this level 20.4 per cent went for this item. The husband used one-fifth, the wife one-sixth, and the children the remainder of that division of the family budget.

OF UNCERTAIN, DELAY SHOOTING CASE

A charge of assault to kill against Michael Quirk, who was accused of shooting Policeman Frank Vitek two weeks ago, was continued until today by Judge William H. Schnader in the Fillmore street court yesterday when Vitek admitted that he was not positive in his identification of Quirk.

HELP KIDNEYS BY DRINKING MORE WATER

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

MRS. CHRISTINE LADD-FRANKLIN, EDUCATOR, DIES

Helped Open University Doors to Women.

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Christine Ladd-Franklin, noted educator, logician, and psychologist, and wife of Dr. Fabian Franklin, author, editor, and mathematician, died today at her home in Riverside Drive. She was 82 years old.

Mrs. Franklin was born at Windsor, Conn. She was graduated from Vassar in 1860. Her career did much to open higher education to women. She was one of the first women admitted to study in Johns Hopkins university, taking special examinations given by her future husband in order to work for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

Johns Hopkins Lecturer.

Once in the Johns Hopkins, her ability was recognized by the award of fellowships for three successive years, and she served there as a lecturer from 1904 to 1909. Her degree, however, was not awarded until 1926, although she had completed her work for it on schedule.

After her marriage her husband to Germany for study, but because of her sex was unable to gain admission to Professor G. E. Muller's courses at Goettingen. Muller, however, repeated his lecture course for her in his private labratory, and permitted her to work there.

Had Influence in Berlin.

Later, on Prof. Muller's recommendation, she was admitted to the Prussian Kultusminister at Berlin. Her study there and in other Berlin laboratories was credited with being the opening wedge for women's studying in German universities. She had been a lecturer at Columbia university since 1910.

She is survived by her widower and a daughter, Margaret Franklin, author of "The Case for Woman Suffrage."

Elmer Seems Highly Pleased with Program

Talking Musical Circus Proves Hit.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Del Owen of the W-G-N staff planked himself at the piano, 9:30 to 9:50, and made it talk as it had never talked before, and Mr. Owen also did some talking of a kind not done before. Result: a talking-musical circus.

Mr. Owen described his first number as a jazz piano version of the "Rustle of Spring," by Sinding. Next he offered "Those Endearing Young Charms" as "an old song in modern harmony, augmented sevenths, diminished ninths, and a lot of other things students pay for." Whether the ensuing dissonances were either endearing or charming does not concern this story. "Yankee Doodle" in the whole tone [six note] was next.

After wondering "why Dvorak wrote his "Humoresque' in a major key when he might just as well have written it in the minor; or for that matter as a waltz," Mr. Owen played it as a waltz, as a music box number, as a "piano player" number, and finally as a jazz number. Next came a talkie movie thriller, "Suwanee River" combined with Dvorak's "Humoresque." Once into the combination line he played "The Stars and Stripes Forever" in two keys, the right hand playing in one key and the left hand playing in another.

LORD GLADSTONE, SON OF VICTORIAN STATESMAN, DIES

LONDON, March 6 (Thursday).—The Rt. Hon. Viscount Herbert John Gladstone, youngest son of William E. Gladstone of Victorian era fame, died at 2:30 a. m. today of an illness which began with an attack of bronchitis in January. He was 76 years old.

Lord Gladstone was long prominent in politics and in the Liberal party. He was home secretary from 1905 to 1910 and his career was stormy, as the suffragette agitation, with hunger strikes and picketing, was at its height. In 1910 he went to South Africa as first governor general and high commissioner. A great general strike developed in 1913 and the strikers on several occasions demanded his recall. He retired in 1914.

His greatest prominence with the "man in the street" came in the trial of a sensational law case in 1927, when he vindicated the honor of his famous father, William Ewart Gladstone, against a charge made in a book by Capt. Peter Wright.

The Ace of Spades

By WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Jim Rutledge, accompanied by Sim Hart, is sent out with a herd of cattle to fulfill a contract made by his father, Chandler Rutledge. On the trail they are overtaken by nine men from the Moss outfit, enemies of Rutledge. The Moss men start a stampede and drive off some of the Rutledge cattle. Jim recovers them, but in doing so shoots and kills one of the Moss raiders. The men of the Moss outfit swear to be revenged for the bounty and pursue him. Jim takes refuge in a ranch house where he finds Ellen Lawson alone in the house. She hides him when the Moss gang comes to the house inquiring for him and sends them off on another trail, even though she learns that he has injured her brother. Jim rides on into the town, after saving Ellen from the unwelcome attentions of Pete Moss. Shear, the town marshal, threatens to arrest him for the attack on Dave Lawson, but Harrison Pendleton, an old trail driver, arrives on the scene in time to save him from arrest. Shortly afterwards Shear kills Doc Brown, who he claimed had threatened his life. This causes a great deal of excitement in the little cattle town. Jim joins the local gambling den and is astonished to find Ellen Lawson there. She tells him she has come to speak to her brother Steve. Jim guides her to where Steve is sitting in a poker game with Shear, Buck Roe and others. As they reach the table the lights go out, and when the room is again lighted Shear is found crumpled in his chair armed with Jim's knife in him. Ellen's right hand is covered with blood. She had become separated from Jim in the dark and some one had jostled her. In putting out her hand for support she had touched the crumpled figure. Jim and Ellen are questioned by the sheriff, Manders, and Jim is arrested, but is later released. Jim is determined to find the murderer to clear himself. Ellen arranges a meeting to warn him against Dave Moss, and she learns that Moss is trying to force her to marry his son, Pete. He suggests that she marry him. Jim and Ellen are quietly married.

INSTALLMENT XXXIV.

GUESSES.

Jim nodded assent. "Better go round Red Top hill so as not to be seen. It's the little house right up against the bluff. The window on the south side is unlatched. You'd better go without me, don't you reckon?"

"Yes. We'll keep it under our hats that you went to the house first. Might raise a question of you having cached the stuff. Just let it ride as my idea and not yours."

"Good. I'd like to go along when you see Manders afterward."

"That's all right. We'll drift back this way an' pick you up."

"If you see any loose decks of cards lying around you might bring them. One of 'em might be shy an ace of spades. Not likely, but you never can tell."

"By jacks, you're whistling, boy. We'll keep our eyes open."

The trail drivers were back within the promised hour. They brought with them a pair of square-toed boots, a pirate's costume, a mask and two used decks of cards. An examination of the cards showed that the ace of spades was missing from neither deck.

None the less, Pendleton was jubilant. "Doesn't prove a thing. He's a fool, Mart Brown, an' any one with a lick of sense would have destroyed the deck. But we've got him by the short wool just the same. He'll have to do a right smart of explaining to talk away that Blackbeard business. I expect we'd better move over to the sheriff's office now."

"How about stopping at Dr. Aubrey's to see if these boots fit any of the plaster casts he made?" Jim asked.

"Sure. An' I'll bet a dozen four year olds they do," Pendleton cried.

They found the doctor at his house. He slipped into a street coat, adjusted his tie, combed his hair, and was ready for the street.

"Did you make the other set of casts, doctor?" Jim asked in a low voice.

"Yes. I don't know what you want with them, but I did it."

"Much obliged. I know it was a lot of trouble, but I can see where we may need them. You haven't told anybody about making the second set, have you?"

"No, nor the first for that matter."

The doctor unlocked the bookcase containing the casts. The square-toed boots fitted exactly the cast labeled 3. Even the design on the toecap showed its markings.

"Got him. Got him cinched," Pendleton shouted exultantly.

Jim was not so sure. "We've proved he is Blackbeard, but we have not proved he killed Joe Shear," he said.

"How much proof you want?" the big cattleman asked impatiently. "I never did see such a fellow. Doc, can we have that valise in there to tote these casts over to Manders in?"

They found the sheriff in his office. He sat with his feet on the desk, smoking a cigar. His jade eyes passed from one to another of them.

"Quite a delegation of important citizens," Manders said dryly. "Find chairs, gentlemen, and get comfortable. We're having a spell of real hot weather. The farmers are beginning to complain again."

"We've got some evidence about the Shear killing, sheriff," Pendleton said bluntly.

"Evidence or opinions?" the officer asked ironically. "This town is filled with high grade amateur detectives all set to solve this mystery. They offer me everything but facts."

"For a change we'll submit a fact or two," boomed the big cattleman. "Enough to prove who knifed Shear."

Having seated his visitors, Manders sat down again and replaced his boots on the desk. "Have you brought him with you?" he asked, and he let his gaze rest on young Rutledge.

"Going to a masquerade ball, Pendleton?" the sheriff inquired. He had seen that costume before, under a not very favorable light, but he did not betray either interest or surprise at sight of it.

"These pants an' boots won't fit me," Pendleton boomed back at him. "They were made for a smaller man—for the one who killed Joe Shear."

"Interesting, but probably not true," Manders differed. "I don't doubt you think so. I'm ready to listen to reason."

"Let's get down to brass tacks. First off, who in this town had the most pressing reason to bump off Shear?" the big driver asked.

"You tell me," the sheriff jeered. "If I was guessing I might not get the right answer to your puzzle. I might name any one of a dozen innocent law-abiding pilgrims such as your young friend here, or his new brother-in-law, Steve Lawson, or Pete or Sam Moss, or Buck Roe, or that tinhorn gambler, not to mention that good Christian, old Devil Dave."

"Not a one of 'em would be right," Pendleton said confidently. "Go on sheriff. You'll hit on the right fellow by an' by. I'll give you a clew. Who was the last man Shear killed?"

"Doc Brown. You don't think Doc came to life and did it, do you? Or was it his ghost?"

"Who did Shear serve notice on to get out of town in a week? Who had to get out, be killed or else kill Joe?"

Manders looked at the big Texan, a sneer almost impudent on his leathery face. "Opinions so far. Now for the facts, Pendleton."

"We're Johnny on the spot with plenty. The night of the killing a fellow in this pirate's costume was at the Longhorn. He was present, in the alcove room, when the lights went out. He wasn't there when the candles were brought. Why did he light out so sudden? What was burnin' him to get away in such a doggone hurry?"

The sheriff waved a hand toward the others. "Some one else take a shot at it. Rutledge. You'd ought to know the answer, since you rigged up the whole thing. What's the chance? Chances don't cost a cent. You have a shot at it, Rutledge. You'd find it being so modest and sitting back there with your tongue in your cheek."

"Opinions are all right, Manders, when you back 'em up with facts enough," the big man went on. "Here's one for instance. We'll say some one wanted to get right close to Shear without being recognized. Say it would be suicidal practical suicide to walk right up to him except in a disguise. This one had at the Green Parrot would give him an excuse to rig up so he wouldn't be known. We'll say the guy wore a big beard to cover his face, and a patch over one eye. He could stand three feet from Joe an' pump lead into him without anybody guessing who he was till it was all over."

"So he could," the sheriff admitted.

Music Waves as Light Reveal Discords' Secret

Scientist Gives Tests of Appreciation.

New York, March 5.—(AP)—The secret of the saxophone's wail, the lure in Rudy Vallee's singing, and the tang in Vincent Lopez's touch on the piano were made visible by the latest magic of light at the New York Electrical society meeting tonight.

An osiso, which turns sound waves into light waves visible as a moving line of light on a screen, revealed the differences in music, and they were explained by Dr. William Braid White, director of acoustic research for the American Steel and Wire company.

Dr. White showed what makes harmony and stated that the difference between it and mere noise is possibly due to the slowness of human ears, a recent discovery.

The saxophone's wail, he said, is due to its harmonics, which can be registered on a screen as little waves riding large vibrations. A large wave represents one big vibration of air and little ones the shorter vibrations into which it is broken up. They follow the main vibration so closely, he said, that the ear accepts them as one sound. In the saxophone these harmonics gather at the top of the air column, are crowded a little, and take on a metallic sound.

Rudy Vallee was not present, but Dr. White explained that the effect which his admirers regard as soothing is due to a slow rhythm which causes the harmonics to come mostly in the same chord.

Vincent Lopez was there and syncopated on the piano. For contrast, Ernest Schelling played classical piano music. The light showed that Lopez's sounds were less complex than the classical, and that they did not last as long.

Reginald Werrenrath sang, Countess Olga Albani showed the light writing of contralto singing, and Toscha Seidel the waves of the violin.

The most important element in musical tone production, said Dr. White, is duration of vibration. The musical light waves are wider between crests than those of noise because the harmonious ones last longer.

This is a discovery of the osiso, the classical idea having been that the period of vibration fully explained harmony. The osiso shows that the ear requires about one-sixteenth of a second to recognize a definite tone—an interesting period of time, said Dr. White, because it is about the same rate as that of moving picture projection.

When sound waves are faster than this they are noise. He illustrated with the sound track of a vacuum cleaner, an elevated train in Chicago, and numerous others. Noise, he said, might be scrambled music.

Dr. White hopes for a musical revolution, in which light readings will lead to new melodies and prevent piling of dissonance upon dissonance.

100 New York Women Unite as Gold Star Mothers

New York, March 5.—(AP)—A hundred women who lost one or more sons in the world war met today and organized the American Gold Star Mothers, hoping to make it a national society.

Mrs. Mathilda Burling of Queens, who called the meeting and who was elected chairman, said the association's primary aim would be to keep alive the memories of the members' dead sons, and to sponsor legislation for the benefit of its members and aid them in taking advantage of benefits already provided by law.

Break Ground Today for Sanitarium on Jackson Park Site

Mrs. H. R. Kurrie, president of La Rabida Jackson Park sanitarium, will break ground for the new hospital for children on that site in Jackson park next Monday afternoon. E. J. Kelly, president of the south park board, prominent physicians, and society women of the south side who have been active in raising funds for the sanitarium, will take part in the ceremonies.

The ground breaking will be followed by a reception at the sanitarium headquarters at the Del Prado hotel.

The new hospital will be erected on the peninsula in Jackson park between the lake and the yacht harbor, and will contain 120 rooms, all of which will be arranged so as to catch the sunlight during some period of the day.

Dr. Robert A. Black, pediatrician, will be chief of staff, with technicians under Dr. Lloyd Arnold of the research department of the University of Illinois Medical college in charge of research work. The advisory staff includes Dr. James B. Herrick, Dr. Joseph L. Miller, Dr. Robert B. Preble, Dr. H. William Eighammer, and Dr. Mark Jampoles.

More Time Is Granted for Cancer Seal Contest

The contest for an official design for campaign seals to be used in educational work by the cancer research committee of the Chicago Woman's club has been extended to March 15. The contest was to have closed on March 10. Mrs. Frederick A. Lorenz, chairman, made that announcement yesterday. Designs are arriving daily at the club, 72 East 11th street, Mrs. Lorenz said.

A prize of $100 is offered for the winning design by Mrs. J. Kibben Ingalls, as well as a cup for the best design to a student of the Chicago Art institute. The winning design will be used for an April sale of 100,000 seals to raise funds so that knowledge of cancer may be spread over Illinois. The cancer research committee, of which the educational department is a part, recently incorporated the Cancer Research institute of Chicago, which is seeking a $300,000 endowment.

Swedish Actor Who Knew Greta Garbo There Arrives

Nils Asther, who used to know Greta Garbo back in Sweden long before they became famous Hollywood film actors, came to town yesterday. He is making Chicago his first visit and will appear in a Balaban & Katz theater while here. The actor has black hair, instead of the traditional Swedish blonde, but he has the height of a Viking, six feet three inches. Nils didn't choose to discuss his wedding plans. He is reported engaged to Vivian Duncan.

BEG YOUR PARDON

We regret that through an error a notice of the death of Mr. Hugo Weiss, 3526 Bosworth avenue, was published in THE TRIBUNE of March 5th.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Of what interest to you is news of foreign countries?

The Answers.

Irwin N. Stone, 160 North La Salle street, salesman.—My main interest in it is to become familiar with conditions, but it is far more important to get familiar with our own affairs. A knowledge of the doings in foreign lands is of cultural value, but a similar knowledge of our own country is of greater practical value.

Mrs. William R. Dipmore, 6644 Peoria street, housewife.—The only thing from Europe that really interests me is the styles. I am anxious to see the news from Paris as to whether dresses are to be long or short this summer. I am in favor of the short ones. Otherwise I have no interest in foreign countries.

F. J. McGrath, 4826 Henderson street, salesman.—The only foreign news that I read much of is about the situation in Russia. They say they have been shown it up recently is, I think, its true form, which we haven't had given us before.

Mrs. William Brown, 5326 Winthrop avenue, housewife.—Any news bearing on the possibilities of a war with Russia and other countries of Europe, and whether we will become mixed up in it. Europe has never interested me much, but of course I would very much like to visit all the foreign countries.

Milton Lorber, 3465 Madison street, salesman.—I was in the war for four years on the western front and have seen much of the Philippine islands, Japan, China, and Russia. I am interested in following the changes that take place in those countries, comparing them with what it was during the war, also in comparing them with conditions over here.

Parents, Here's Chance to Learn About Children!

For Experts Will Talk for Three Days.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

All the concentrated wisdom of some of the best minds functioning today on the problems of juvenile mentalities will be available during the next three days to hundreds of parents. For educators and social service workers will gather at the Palmer house for the fifth anniversary conference of the Chicago Association for Child Study and Parent Education. More than twenty local organizations will cooperate in the program, starting this morning with the general topic, "The Emotional Life of the Child."

Parents and teachers who find themselves hopelessly puzzled by childish reactions to life will have the opportunity of hearing authorities taking part in round table discussions.

Dr. Abraham Myerson, professor of neurology, will come from Boston to explain why two children brought up in an identical environment may turn out exactly opposite in type and temperament. He also will touch on the possibility of a child inheriting a bad temper. He also will inform the mothers of such children whether anything can be done about it. Dr. Mary Cover Jones of the University of California, who will share this morning's program with Dr. Myerson, has spent years studying the emotions displayed by new born infants and those of older children.

Dr. Jones has discovered, she reports, that there are only two basic fears in the life of an infant. Those are the fear of sudden loss of support, as when they are dropped into a blanket, and the fear of a loud, sharp noise. All other fears, such as of snakes, of the dark, or of mice, are acquired, she asserts. She also will tell of a method she has perfected for curing children of their seemingly foolish fears.

President Robert Maynard Hutchins of the University of Chicago will preside at a dinner meeting tomorrow night, at which M. C. Winternitz of the institute of humans relations at Yale will talk on "Scientific Parenthood."

The cost of corrective social service for the next generation will be prohibitive unless parents begin to exercise a greater responsibility toward their children, Roy J. Battis, former state superintendent of child welfare, told the Steuben club yesterday at the Hotel Sherman.

THE STAGE

MARC CONNELLY, former collaborator with George Kaufman (a partnership which resulted in "Beggar on Horseback," for example), seems to have caused a sensation by his return to Broadway as an author-producer. His "The Green Pastures" has started every one in the Manhattan theater district talking.

This piece is a sort of Negro folk-play, based upon Roark Bradford's stories, "Ol' Man Adam and His Chillun." It retells some of the Old Testament stories in terms of the Negro imagination. The entire cast, nearly 100 in number, is colored.

The New York Evening Post says of "The Green Pastures":

"It is a strangely stirring and ingratiating thing that Mr. Connelly and his finely simple actors have done, a thing that is shrewdly comic and yet affectingly religious. And both as a production and an experiment in folklore it makes its noteworthy contributions to the season."

Having launched Bernard Shaw's "The Apple Cart" in New York, the Theater Guild is now concentrating its attention upon the production of Turgenieff's "A Month in the Country," which will have Nazimova in the leading rôle. Others in the cast are Dudley Digges, Elliot Cabot, Alexander Kirkland, Henry Travers, Douglas Dumbrille, Hortense Alden, Eunice Stoddard, Eda Heineman, Minna Philips, Louis Veda, Charles Kraus, and Edward Wragge. The play will have its first performance at the National theater, Washington, March 10, and will begin its New York engagement at the Guild theater March 17.

Arrangements to bring "Elizabeth and Essex" into the Princess theater March 17 have been canceled and nothing is in sight for that playhouse when "Dear Old England" closes. Richard Bennett in his Russian drama, "In Command," is a remote possibility.

For a few hours yesterday afternoon the Harris theater was going to get Martin Flavin's play of prison life, "The Criminal Code," on March 24. Then a bulletin went out stating that this plan had been abandoned.

Ernest Glendenning will join the "Strange Interlude" company at the Blackstone next Monday night in the rôle of "dear old Charlie." He will crowd George Gaul, now the Charlie, into the part of Dr. Darrell. And Frank Conroy, now the Darrell, will go to Philadelphia to play that rôle there.

The revival habit is spreading to the serious drama. William A. Brady announces that he may restage "The World We Live In," which was a curiosity of 1922. The play, written by Karel and Josef Capek, was also called "The Insect Comedy," for the excellent reason that all of its characters are insects.

A. L. Erlanger announces that he has purchased a controlling interest in the Broad Street theater of Philadelphia. He already owns the Erlanger and Garrick of that city. C. C.

Dr. Cabot Quitting U. of M. to Join the Mayos' Staff

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 5.—(Special.)—Dr. Hugh Cabot, deposed as dean of the University of Michigan medical school, announced today his appointment as senior consultant in the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn., to take effect on June 1. Dr. Cabot will teach at the university for the remainder of the school year.

Dr. Cabot was deposed Feb. 3, after refusing to resign when given that opportunity, because of opposition to him among the medical faculty. Dr. Cabot had contended the school should be manned by full time teachers. He came here in 1919. He became dean in 1921.

He is a graduate of the Harvard medical school and has been assistant professor of surgery there. He has been on the staff of the Massachusetts General hospital, was in the Royal Army Medical corps (British) from 1914 to 1919, being mentioned four times in dispatches and decorated. He is a fellow of the American College of Surgeons and member of the British and French Medical societies.

Thousands of Tulips Are Imported for Shows Here

An exhibit of thousands of imported tulips may be viewed at the central states garden and flower show at the Chicago Stadium April 5 to 13. The tulips will arrive in special railroad cars from New York for the exhibit of John Scheifers, a New York landscape gardener. They will be arranged in a single bed and will bloom during the show. More than 10,000 members of the associations of 70 federated garden clubs in Illinois are expected to attend the show, according to Mrs. Frederick R. Fischer, president of the Garden Club of Illinois, at a meeting yesterday at the Palmer house. Special rates have been arranged for club members in cities and towns more than forty miles from Chicago, she said.

Illinois Birth and Death Rates Both Declin

Figures Show Medicin Makes Life Longer.

The better sort of citizens scarcely are replacing themselves by a newer generation, Dr. Andy Hall, state health director, declares in a statement issued yesterday. He interprets the 1929 birth and death statistics for Illinois.

Increasing birth control and longer lives due to the growing effectiveness of preventive medicine are the principal factors indicated by the statistics, Dr. Hall said. Births last year fell a full thousand below the 1928 statistics, giving a rate of 17.2 per thousand population, or the lowest on record in Illinois. Deaths were 2,403 below the 1928 figure, leaving a rate of 11.7—one of the most favorable on record.

Registered births and deaths reached 128,634 and 87,739, respectively, leaving an excess of 40,845 births over deaths. Since 1921 the excess has dropped from 71,228 to the present figure, a decrease of 42 per cent. "In the face of an increasing population," Dr. Hall said, "the actual number of births had declined from 144,637 in 1921 to the 1928 figure, 128,634, or a drop of 11 per cent."

The birth rate for both Chicago and Cook county was above the state norm. The county records show 67,772 registered births and the city, 58,800. These figures indicate a rate of 18.3 per 1,000 population, comparing favorably with the state rate of 17.2. The mortality statistics show Cook county had 44,110 deaths, a rate of 11.9, or two-tenths above the state figure, 11.7. Chicago's deaths totaled 37,279, a rate of 11.6, one-tenth below the state norm.

Among the towns in Cook county, Cicero registered only 335 deaths, a rate of 4.4 per 1,000 population and the lowest for any town listed on the mortality sheet.

"The continued fall in the birth rate, which involves the best elements in the population much more than the worst, would be a cause of distinct alarm were it not for the somewhat compensating influence of preventive medicine," Dr. Hall said. "Analysis shows that childless or one child families are on the increase among the professional classes and among the better educated elements of the population. Even with a shrinkage in infant mortality rates, due to the application of hygiene and sanitation, the better classes of people are scarcely reproducing themselves.

"The effects of preventive medicine and public health work cause lower mortality rates to prevail among all social classes with the improvement being greater among the lower. Voluntary birth control effects the better classes most extensively."

The highest birth rate noted in the table is credited to Oak Park, which, with 2,589, showed a rate of 43.2 per thousand population. Other "highs" included Evanston, 29.4; Granite City, 28.8; Ottawa, 28.6; Streator, 28.5, and Moline, 23.9. The suburb of Forest Park was lowest with 48 births for a rate of 3.1.

Lent Opens with Crowds at Various Church Services

Lent opened yesterday with crowded services in Catholic and Episcopal churches throughout the city. In the loop large numbers were turned away from the noonday services conducted by the Episcopal Church club, with the Rt. Rev. Campbell Gray, bishop of northern Indiana, as the special preacher. At the Holy Name Catholic cathedral a solemn mass was celebrated at 9 o'clock, when ashes were blessed. Services followed at the cathedral at 3 p. m. and at 8 last night.

Lent is a time for asserting control over human appetites, according to the Rt. Rev. Campbell Gray, Episcopal bishop of northern Indiana, at the opening lenten service at the Garrick theater yesterday noon.

"The forty days before Easter is a time when we should show definitely our control over natural appetites," Bishop Gray said. "The appetites for food, drink, and amusement are not sins in themselves. It is only when we indulge to excess that they become sinful. Lent is a time to prove that we are not excessive in any human appetites."

Rome Observes Lent.

ROME, March 5.—A quiet and solemn celebration of the first day of Lent took place here this morning at the fifth century church of Santa Sabina on the Aventine hill.

All the other churches in Rome were packed today with mingling crowds of workmen, noblemen, soldiers, and blackshirts.

Italy Rescues St. Mark's from Time's Attacks

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VENICE, Italy, March 5.—St. Mark's Cathedral, Venice's famous example of Byzantine art, has been saved from the collapse which menaced it a year ago.

Sig. Marangoni, chief inspector of monuments in Venice, said today that the year's work on the cathedral was the most important feat of structural engineering in the last two centuries.

A year ago Sig. Marangoni discovered cracks in the wall of the famous basilica. He learned also that the heavy columns of masonry supporting the huge cupolas had sunk into the ground as much as six inches. This sinking had caused waves in the mosaic floor and a cave-in was threatened such as that which destroyed the famous campanilla (bell tower) adjoining the cathedral, almost 30 years ago. Sig. Marangoni went to Rome, and submitted to Premier Mussolini plans for the restoration of the cathedral. Two days later he returned with authorization to proceed with the work.

The sinking of columns chiefly was caused by the marshy nature of the ground under the cathedral, which is nearly 2,000 years old. The work on the reinforcements also was hampered because of the difficulty in getting at the heavy masonry without destroying or marring the famous gilded mosaics adorning the ceiling and walls.

Heavy timbers were so placed as to relieve the strain on the pillars. Then all parts of the walls and columns were tested to determine weak spots. Then large sections of mosaic were removed so as to expose the masonry and defective parts were replaced.

The floor, even after the restoration, will remain wavy, as the area of mosaic depressions in some places run from three to four inches to the foot.

While the pride of Venice has been saved this time, recalling the similar menace to St. Paul's cathedral in London some time ago, it is said that constant attention will be required in the future, if St. Marks is to be preserved, because of the soggy, sandy earth under the city.

Graceful Sitting Posture Enhances One's Appearance

by Gabrielle Forsythe

Pretty soon we will not be able to do any more complaining about the ugliness of knees and sitting postures. With skirts ruled at fifteen and twelve inches from the floor [daytime ruling] a lot of ugliness is going to be covered up, with nobody mourning the loss, either.

I'll wager that with woman's usual inconsistency now she has the longer skirt she automatically will drape her legs more gracefully. It may not be inconsistency," come to think of it. We are breathing a more ladylike air, these days, practicing ladylike behaviors that were forgotten during the ultra modern age of frank disclosures.

Anway, now is the time to bring out all the grace that mama or grandmama had stored in the attic, or wherever such things are put away when not in use. You may just as well, when you are at it, park in the dust gathering archives the bold, free and easy gestures until we have another revival of the boyish gal.

Didn't I hear, the other eve, a corner discussion on the sitting graces of the women present? Each in turn was gone over from head to toe-tip for line. That indicates which way the winds of praise are blowing, does it not?

As I have hinted before, women vary not so much in the actual physical things of beauty, nowadays. They run pretty much to standard form in complexion, clothes, and coiffure good taste. You have to look beyond the makeup to distinguish the greater lure of one maid over another. So that grace of body, of speech, of manner mark the chief distinctions.

Gathering grace unto oneself is one of those things about which some of us are in arrears because we are blissfully unconscious of its nonpossession. For example, a nice person of my acquaintance laughingly arose from her chair the other day and reseated herself. "I got a calling down the other day from Grace,' she volunteered [Grace being a drama teacher] "for the way I sit. I never realized before how awkward I was."

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

All grasses are not adapted to lawn making. Only such kinds as are capable of making a close turf should be used. Most grasses which have creeping roots stocks, short joints, and produce long, narrow leaves in abundance about the crown of the plant adapt themselves well to lawn making.

Besides this, a desirable lawn grass possesses a pleasing color, which does not change decidedly from season to season, is drought resistant, responds quickly to a change of conditions from winter to spring, and bears repeated clippings with a lawn mower. It will be noted that the requirements of these grasses are exceedingly exacting, and it is not surprising to find the list of such grasses comparatively short.

In those localities where ideal soil and climatic conditions are not present a mixtures of grasses is better adapted to lawn making than a single variety. Under conditions where the soil and climate are congenial for the development of grasses a more perfect lawn can be made by using a single species than by the use of a mixture.

In general, because of varied conditions of shade and moisture existing upon a lawn as the result of trees, shrubs, and architectural objects, mixtures are more desirable than pure grasses. Grass seed for lawns in the Chicago area should be a mixture of blue grass, red top or fescues.

The different degrees of shade and moisture, maintained in the soil which result from the presence of trees, shrubs, and buildings afford a variety of conditions under which a single species would not produce a uniform lawn. These obstructions to the sunlight produce lights and shades in different parts of the lawn, so that any difference which may exist in the color of the various grasses in a lawn mixture is not so obstrusive as it would be were different portions of the area made up of grasses of different hues.

Even if there is variation in the tints of the green in the different grasses used in a lawn mixture, this will not become objectionable unless the lawn becomes patched. Blue grass should become the dominant grass as the lawn becomes established.

Mate with Yen to Wander Is Problem to Devoted Wife

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I have been married six years, have two adorable children and a devoted father and husband. It would seem I have every reason to be happy. Yet, often I am miserable.

"Before we were married my husband was all over the world, just following his own inclinations. Marriage was hard for him. The first years were trying, I know. Now, he gets restless. He goes out and spends his last dollar and comes home regretful that he hurt me. He claims I am to easy with him.

"I know if I were to rag him he would be worse. I don't know whether to be nice or mean. Can you tell me? —MRS. E. A. S."

The six year test of being nice to the man does chalk up well in returns, doesn't it? There comes a time in the affairs of marriage when it is a wise thing for one to sit down and appraise the situation frankly. Into one mental column put down the blessings. Into another, the annoyances. If the balance is favorable, don't make too much fuss about the other things. We all have to do this form of reckoning, consciously or unconsciously, otherwise with out human capacity for exaggerating the discomforting things we would be sunk every now and then in a bog of dispair.

That wandering foot of a mate is something of which the wife was aware when she cast her die for better or worse. Understanding the restlessness is a pretty good fighting weapon. Understanding it enough to let up on the reins when the symptoms begin to appear. Giving the man the feeling of more rope at least curbs the desire for a long escape.

That restless sort of temperament is difficult to manage. You can't harness it without danger of an out and out explosion.

The money feature involved creates a serious problem, however. I don't know how it can be met, except by such thrift during the good behavior periods as to tide over the dark ones. Or, by presenting the case quietly, with the suggestion that at least a fifty-fifty division of the spending money be arranged for the next occasion.

Trying the Key.

We had just moved into a new neighborhood and I went out to get some things for lunch. When I returned my key refused to work, so I rang the doorbell impatiently, wondering why mother should be so slow in answering.

Finally the door opened partly, and I burst out with:

"I can't make this key work!"

"If you could, we'd get a new lock," an unknown voice answered.

Needless to say my key worked all right when I tried it on my own door! F. H.

High School Girls Lead Boys' Variety of Mental Interests

The modern high school boy engages in 23 intellectual activities and the girl in 25, according to a survey announced Tuesday by the University of Chicago. The study was made among 150 boys and 150 girls by Olin P. Lee, a graduate student preparing his master's thesis. In the range of interests classed as noneducational, boys were found to be 30 per cent higher than girls.

Lee found that 33 per cent of the voluntary intellectual interests of the 300 pupils center around science and the mechanical arts, 14 per cent are recreational, and 12 per cent have to do with reading novels, writing, debating, and acting.

Environment rather than native ability was found to be the large factor in increasing the number of intellectual interests. "Pupils come into sophomore year with about 20 such interests," Lee says, "which should provide the basis for developing the self-motivated attitude. Educators should seek to strengthen and deepen these interests and to use them for educational purposes."

Drama League Hears Wilder's Talk on Stage

BY THALIA

The distinguished guest luncheon given by the Drama league yesterday at the Stevens hotel lived up to its reputation.

Thornton Wilder was the bright, particular star of the occasion. Although some of his listeners confessed that he was a bit deep for them in his talk about "The Enthusiasms and Disappointments of Play Going," everybody enjoyed having a look at the young author of "The Bridge of San Luis Rey" and "The Woman of Andros."

He sat at the long speaker's table between Mrs. Marvin Miner Jr., president of the league, and Mrs. Robert M. Hutchins. Mrs. Miner wore a frock of nanda green crêpe and a small black satin hat, and Mrs. Hutchins was in a frock and turban of rose pink.

The several hundred women present included Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw, Mrs. Wentworth Field, Mrs. Frank Gordon, Mrs. Louis S. Taylor, Miss Lucy Martin, Mrs. Frank Whitmore, Mrs. Chauncey Blair, Mrs. Albert F. Madlener, Mrs. Henry K. Chapin, Mrs. Richard S. Folsom, Mrs. Helen Walton, Mrs. Edwin A. Seipp, Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, Miss Helen Tieken, Mrs. Hayden Harris, Mrs. Hugh McKay, Mrs. John Paul Welling, Mrs. Paul Shorey, Mrs. Walter S. Carr, Mrs. E. F. Weary, Mrs. Leonard A. Busby, Mrs. Bruce MacLeish, Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze, and Miss Anna Morgan.

In preparation for its annual little theater tournament, the Drama league is giving two affairs today for the amateur theatrical groups. It seems that many of the little theater groups throughout the state would like to enter the tournament which has heretofore been limited to Chicago clubs, and so the subject has to be discussed.

There will be a tea this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Cordon for the amateur theatrical groups, and this evening there will be a dinner, also at the Cordon, for the directors of the high school players. Mrs. Robert Peacock and Mrs. Edwin A. Seipp are to preside at the tea table this afternoon.

The annual banquet of the Cornell alumni is to take place tomorrow evening at the University club. William H. French of the class of '73 will be the spokesman for the old guard of the grads. Col. Joseph William Beacham Jr., U. S. army commandant at Cornell, and Prof. Charles Love Durham of the faculty are to give the principal speeches. William G. Strong of the class of '94 is to serve as toastmaster, and Roger S. "Rajah" Vail, graduated in 1906 and president of the Cornell club, will also be on the program. George F. Pond is chairman.

The Wells College club announces a series of Lenten lectures on "Current Literature" to be given by Mrs. Anthony French Merrill, at the Evanston Country club. The first will be next Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Mrs. Allen R. Vinnedge, Mrs. George B. Dryden, Mrs. Edward S. Main, Mrs. George M. Groves, Mrs. Sidney Y. Ball, Mrs. William R. Uhleman, Mrs. Albert C. Koch, and Miss Grace Griswold are listed as hostesses for the course, which will include six talks. Mrs. William Pooley and Mrs. Charles A. Bunnell are in charge of the ticket sale.

The life of a debutante's coming-out dress is short and gay. Fashioned in a Paris couturier's salon, it appears first on the slinky form of a mannequin, parading at the fall fashion opening. It is seen by fond mother and daughter, anticipating her first season out, and they are won by its charms to choose it for the auspicious debut reception. Follows a trip across the ocean, inspection by the customs officer, arrival at home, and unpacking from voluminous clouds of tissue.

Some time later there is the triumphal occasion of the bow and then after perhaps a few more wearings the frock hangs forgotten in the bud's wardrobe. The final fate of the dress is a matter of the charities that happen to engage its owner. Many of the party frocks are given to struggling young music students so that they may make a good appearance at their recitals. Some of them go to the White Elephant rummage. This year several of the gowns will be tagged $15 and hung on the racks for the Junior league's second hand clothes sale next Tuesday and Wednesday. The beruffled tulle frock that Rosemary Lytton wore for her reception will be sold, and several of the other debutantes who are working for the sale have given things from their wardrobes for the cause.

Mrs. Carleton Scribner is chairman of the girls who will officiate at the cash register, with Mrs. Charles O'Connor and Miss Carol Bush assisting her. None of the lingerie, shoes, hats, dresses, suits, coats, or pocketbooks will exceed $15.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Douglas Jr. of Lake Forest are being congratulated on a son born last Thursday. Mrs. Douglas was Miss Grace McGann before her marriage, and the baby's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. McGann of Lake Forest.

By mid-April Mr. and Mrs. Forsythe Sherfessee, who are now in Marakeech in northern Africa, will be in that attractive apartment done all in the modern mode in Paris. They are to remain there until early June. Then they will come to this country to spend the summer at Cooperstown.

TO WED PHYSICIAN

[Paul Stone-Raymor Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar James West of Glencoe announce the engagement of their daughter, Eleanor, to Dr. Stewart W. Shimonek of Hibbing, Minn., son of Mrs. Anton Shimonek of St. Paul, Minn. Miss West is a graduate of Bradford academy in Bradford, Mass. Dr. Shimonek attended Dartmouth college and the University of Minnesota Medical school.

Gerald A. Frank Wins $500 Award from the Municipal Art League

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Announcement has just been made of the award of the Municipal Art league prize of $500 in the current Chicago Artists exhibition at the Art institute to the painting "Maternity" by Gerald A. Frank.

At the Chester H. Johnson galleries there has opened this week an exhibit of paintings by Rudolph Weisenborn. This verse should be appended to the invitation:

"Will you come into my shambles?"
Said the spider to the fly.
"It's the prettiest little slaughterhouse
That ever you did spy."

We could go on at some length giving in rhyme an impression of the exhibit, but the exhibit is not worth the slight mental effort involved. It is one of the most revolting shows that has been offered in Chicago for some time. Instead of flesh, Weisenborn presents us with entrails. A nude female fearfully foreshortened has raw red saucers for breasts. Degenerate faces look slyly at you. The body structure of the various figures is non-existent. Below the faces, the form shrinks away into perverted suggestion. Weisenborn apparently knows nothing of anatomy in the architectural sense, he uses the customary bones as so many pegs on which to hang his frightful illusions.

All this in the name of modernism with a gigantic M, and those of us who dislike the twaddle will be hailed as recessives, dragging at the skirts of progress. To throw sand in the breaks of criticism, Weisenborn has been clever enough to inject two or three commonplace still lifes and two or three meaningless concoctions of color and design. These are of course not revolting. They are merely impertinent sops to outraged standards and so any attempts at easing one over the offal.

In former years, Weisenborn has been recognized for his use of color and his chiseled interpretations of phases of life. Will those who have supported him continue to uphold his present tricks?

Galli-Curci Cancels Concert; Vienna Angry

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, March 5.—Indignation boiled over here tonight when Amelita Galli-Curci called off her concert half an hour before it was scheduled to begin. Hundreds of persons, including scores of bejeweled women with their escorts in full evening dress, protested vehemently when, after checking their coats, they were informed by the ushers that the temperamental singer had a cold and would not appear. Galli-Curci was booed twice last week by Budapest audiences.

Mrs. Theodore Howard Banks and Miss Ethel Boyd Bowers will give a reception for Mrs. Francis Rogers on the afternoon of March 13.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Drexel and Mr. W. Hude Neilson have arrived at the Plaza from Washington.

Mrs. J. Edward Davis gave a tea and bridge for forty guests today at the Madison.

Mrs. H. W. Hoover gave a luncheon today for Countess Filiponi, Mrs. Paul Butler, Mrs. Harry L. Thomas, Mrs. W. W. Steele, Miss Polly Hoover, and others.

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Donahue gave a dinner tonight preceding the recital of Mme. Nina Koshetz and Mario Chalmee. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander McKinlock and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson of Chicago. Mr. McKinlock and Mr. Ryerson are leaving for Nassau on Friday to spend the week-end.

Americans Buy Lansdowne Greek and Roman Statues

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 5.—Spirited bidding, believed to be in behalf of American interests and rumored to be for a famous American collector as well as the Toledo, Metropolitan and Boston museums, obtained the best of the first day's sale of the historic Lansdowne house Greek and Roman marbles today. Joseph Brummer, said to be acting for a well known American collector, paid £141,750 for the ancient statue "Wounded Amazon."

The statue was found in 1771 and bought later for $1,000 by the first marquess of Lansdowne, who formed a famous collection. Mr. Brummer also purchased other sculptures, including a beautiful Greek marble head of a girl, for $12,075. The piece originally was found in 1769 in Hadrian's villa and sold for $75. German, French and British agents obtained smaller features. Today's sale realized $342,500.

Spend $1 on Peace for Each $100 on War, Woman Asks

OTTAWA, Ont., March 5.—The only woman member of the Canadian house of commons, Miss Agnes MacPhail, today introduced and spoke for a resolution by which she would commit the dominion government to the expenditure of one dollar for peace to every one hundred dollars Canada spends for war. She suggests international scholarships in every Canadian university.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 5.—Vice President Curtis was to have been the guest of Gen. C. P. Summerall, chief of staff, U. S. A., and Mrs. Summerall at dinner tonight. The Vice President, however, had canceled his social engagements because of the condition of former Justice Taft. The Summeralls therefore recalled their invitations.

Chief Justice and Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes have purchased the residence at 2223 R street, now occupied by Miss Helen Cannon of Danville, Ill., daughter of the late Joseph G. Cannon, who was speaker of the house for many years. Mrs. Hughes has gone to New York to superintend the dismantling of their home there. The purchase of the house by the new chief justice was made through the efforts of Miss Laura Harlan, whose father was a justice of the Supreme court. Miss Harlan was the social secretary of the late Mrs. Harding during President Harding's régime, and after the death of President Harding turned her attention to selling real estate.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brown Scott, formerly of Chicago, the latter formerly Miss Addie Cooper of Paxton, Ill., have returned to their Washington home from a several months' absence in Havana.

Praise Is a Tonic; Blame Depresses, So Why Use It?

A list of toys and playthings for children from babyhood up will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Don't you sometimes have a sneaking suspicion that human nature is rather negative?

Haven't you noticed how much more easily we find flaws than good points? How much more prone we are to criticize adversely than to admire? How much more apt we are—maybe not you, but most people—to blame than to praise?

If you're just a plain, everyday human mother or father—but a mother's temptations are greatest because she's with the children all the time—you must have noticed it. That is, if you ever take stock of yourself—and I hope you do. I've found it most necessary, myself. You must have had stock taking times when you've realized that you let many a chance for praise slip by, but not many for correcting or blaming.

If we look this in the face we know it's singularly unkind and unfair. It's both these things. Children have so many, many things to learn to do—and not to do. And being adults, we're in a positions to impose our will upon them. Of course, you may smile at this when you think of their persistence—but we do have the upper hand, nevertheless. It isn't kind or fair for us to be so quick to blame and so slow to praise.

Try an about face, some time—be free with your praise and very, very slow with blame, doing the correcting in a friendly way. You'll see what a difference it makes. You'll see how the children will respond to it. Approval is like sunshine—children blossom under it.

Think what approval means to you, yourself, in your adult relationships—then realize how much more it must mean to a child who often gets so little of it.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Poached Eggs.

Some one has recently written asking me how to poach an egg. It is not astonishing that she should ask such a question since in the most compendious book on the subject of cooking eggs it says: "Poached eggs are nothing more nor less than eggs boiled without the shell." Anybody who has tried to boil an egg without the shell knows that it has cooked so as to be quite ragged, it is not good. Poached eggs should not be boiled but simmered for boiling water tears the white to rags and hardens it so much that it is less digestible.

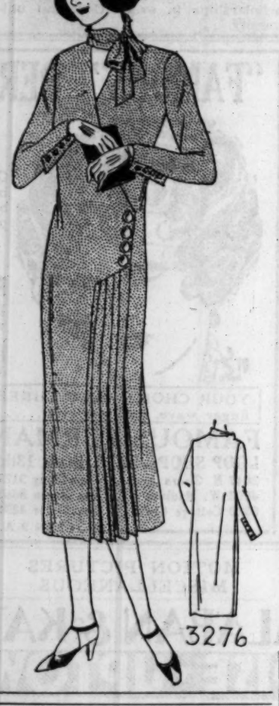
The best vessel in which to poach eggs should be wide and low with no more water in it than is required to cover the egg. A good many people use an egg poacher which confines the egg and makes it shapely, or they use muffin rings which are buttered. These rings hold the egg so as to give them a nice edge. To poach an egg, after washing and wiping the shell crack it into a saucer which has been rinsed with cold water. Then gently slide the egg into the poaching water, which is just off the boil and will cook the egg sufficiently in about three minutes, or they may be left in the water slightly longer.

When eggs are poached in an egg poacher the pan cannot be covered, and sometimes the water will have to be dipped over them in the rings, but when a pan can be covered the steam shut in will be hot enough to cause a white film to form over the yolks of the eggs. When the eggs are poached in water without any ring they may require a little trimming, but sometimes people use about a teaspoon of vinegar to a quart of water to keep the egg from spreading much when it first goes in. However, anybody sensitive to flavor will not use the vinegar.

Often the eggs are trimmed with fancy flutings, especially if they are to be used as a garnish, but when served as a plain poached egg they quite uniformly appear on toast with a seasoning of butter. It is not so necessary to drain them when so served, but when they are used for a garnish for hash or even for spinach they should not be wet.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]



WOMAN'S AND MISSES' DRESS.

Independence blue flat silk crêpe was used for this slender tailored model for street and general daytime wear. The scarf neckline, which may be worn loose or tied, gives that desired feminine touch. Grouped plaits at the side of the skirt provide fullness and yet do not detract from the straight effect. Large buttons carry out the vertical idea and serve to lengthen the silhouette. Black wool jersey, with the scarf tie lined with green faille silk crêpe, which tone is shown in the buttons, makes a smart dress for the street.

The pattern, 3,276, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material.

Talbot Fashions a Wig with Black Felt

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special.] — Great things are being predicted for the "1930 Period." There is a general feeling that we are on the verge of a grand epoch, and Paris fashions, which always keep us up to "before the minute" indicate that there is something in all this. One of the signs is that details of that other grand epoch—the eighteenth century—are creeping into the 1930 mode.

There are modern interpretations of those flowered silks that once made shepherdess panniers for Madame de Pompadour and Dubarry. There are the scalloped borders that adorned the frocks of the first Parisian elegantes after the French revolution. There are the tiny shoulder capes; short sacques and lace scarves that Josephine wore with her directoire gowns. All of these things have been modernized by the Paris fashion creators into 1930 chic.

J. Suzanne Talbot outdoes them all. She makes a wig that might have been worn by a petit marquis at the Fifteenth Louis' court, using black felt instead of powdered hair, and evolving a smart spring bonnet. The double rows of curls at the sides are formed by rings of black felt attached to the wig shaped crown, which is bound all around with black grosgrain ribbon. This ribbon also makes the cue at the nape of the neck.

A new spring scarf from Annek is sketched above. It is made of white mousseline, embroidered all over with black angora wool, so that it is light as a feather and also warm, and stays put the way you arrange it around your neck.

The novel wallet shown at the bottom is also from Annek. It is made of pin seal and lined with darker velvet. It opens out flat, as shown, and inside there are many convenient compartments. It closes to an envelope shape by means of an embroidered strap, passing through a gold clasp.

WHITE SOX, GIANTS PICK OPENING GAME LINEUPS

BUSH SATISFIED WITH PITCHERS' CONDITIONING

Kamm and Metzler Still Missing.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Antonio, Tex., March 5.—The day is growing nigh for some regulation baseball down here, as witness the fact that Manager Donie Bush of the Chicago White Sox and John J. McGraw of the New York Giants yesterday announced the batting order for the first of their 17 interleague exhibition contests. The exhibition season opens in Houston Saturday afternoon and will be followed by another game on Sunday.

Mr. Bush's opening batting order appears to be closer to his regular season plan than does the list offered by Mr. McGraw. Judge for yourself.

CHICAGO.	NEW YORK.
Jeffries, 3b.	Fullis, cf.
Hunnefield, ss.	Reese, 3b.
Reynolds, cf.	Ott, rf.
Moore, lf.	Crawford, 1b.

Clancy, 1b.	Marshall, 2b.
Berg and Riddle, c.	Hogan and Veltman, c.
Frasier, Walsh, and Lyons, p.	Walker, Fitzsimmons, and Hubbell, p.

The lineups probably will be the same for the Sunday game with Wieland and McKain pitching for the Sox and Genewich, Scott, and Fruitt performing for the New Yorkers.

Holdouts Still Hold Out.

There is no change in the holdout situation, according to Manager Bush. If Jolley arrives before the Friday night trip to Houston he will be taken along, but the unsigned players will not go on the jaunt even if they come into camp, it was said.

Not a word has been heard from Kamm or Metzler and if Shires is doing anything to get in line his communications are with C. A. Comiskey, who is in Chicago.

Today's workout, the first hot weather session for almost a week, impressed Manager Bush with the fact that his pitchers are far ahead of the hitters in conditioning. This was the state of affairs that Donie was shooting for when he asked to bring his battery men down here two weeks earlier than Sox pitchers have reported in past seasons.

Mostil Reports to Giants.

There hasn't been a sore arm among the pitchers and Bush is confident there won't be now that the local weather prognosticators say that the freak cold snap is over. He said that the pitchers he will use at Houston all are ready to pitch five innings each, but that he'll adhere to the three inning schedule for another ten days.

Johnny Mostil arrived at the Giant camp today and got a two ply welcome. The Giants received him cordially and the Sox were enthusiastic in their greetings.

Alphonse Thomas left tonight for Baltimore to be at the bedside of his 14 year old father, who underwent an operation yesterday morning. Thomas expects to be back in camp in one week, he told Bush.

BRYDGES BEATS ST. GODDARD FOR DOG DERBY TITLE

THE PAS, Man., March 5.—(AP)—The five year reign of Emil S. Goddard of The Pas as the champion musher of the world was ended today by his closest friend, Smiling Earl Brydges of Cranberry Portage. St. Goddard finished second to Brydges today in the 200 mile nonstop dog Derby from The Pas to Flin Flon mine and return, the longest and hardest of all dog sled races.

St. Goddard fell behind in a stirring finish of the long grind today while Brydges, after trailing through most of the 200 miles, flashed over the line 13½ minutes ahead. Brydges gained his advantage in the last dash of thirty-two miles down the railroad from Wanless as St. Goddard struggled in with three of his dogs on the sled.

Whitney Pair Nominated for Chicago Race

BY FRENCH LANE.

Whichone and Boojum, Harry Payne Whitney's great 3 year olds, have been nominated for the renewal of the $50,000 added American Derby to be run at Washington park on June 14. The announcement was made yesterday by Col. Matt Winn, president of the Washington Park Jockey club.

The fleet Whitney pair was not made eligible for the Kentucky Derby; thus the American Derby will mark their debut in the west, providing one or both of them are ready to go to the post at the time. Their first objective will be the Preakness stakes. Then they will be allowed to go along in easy fashion until the rich midsummer 3 year old fixtures are decided in Chicago and New York. The Arlington classic and the Belmont stakes will be on their program.

Bradley Names Two.

Desert Light and Sarazen II., owned by Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt, and Col. E. R. Bradley's Breezing Thru and Buckeye Poet are among the American Derby nominations. Gallant Fox, the Audley farm's Gallant Knight, Fred A. Burton's Dedicate, William Zeigler's Spinach, the Valley Lake stable's High Foot, and the Agua Caliente Derby winner, Greyola, are also included in the American Derby entry list.

"It will be a week before the entry list is complete," Col. Winn said. He wasn't ready to say whether more 3 year olds had been nominated for the American Derby than for the Kentucky Derby, both of which races are under his direction.

May Pass Kentucky Derby.

The Kentucky Derby attracted 149 entries, and, except for the addition of Whichone and Boojum, the American Derby entry list is expected to be about the same. Should the American Derby go ahead of the Kentucky Derby this year in the number of entries, it will be the first time in many years any 3 year old stake has ever attracted more horses than the old Kentucky stake.

CUBS' REGULARS, GOOFS TO BEGIN WARFARE TODAY

Rain Limits Players to Hour Workout.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., March 5.—There seems to be an inclination on the part of the weather man to discredit William Wrigley's so-called magic isle as the ideal training camp. Rain came down again today, just as it has at intervals throughout the week, thus limiting the Cubs to an afternoon workout of throwing the ball after a morning drill of throwing the bull in the St. Catherine hotel solarium. There is reason to believe one workout was as beneficial as the other.

The outdoor labor this afternoon lasted for about an hour, and it is barely possible that one or two of the men worked hard enough to produce a sweat. Most of them preferred to conduct themselves in such a mild manner as to avoid possible disaster. The pitchers didn't feel like giving their arms too heavy a program because throwing a wet ball produces soreness. And nobody wanted to jump around much on slippery grass or mud. Charley horses are easily acquired by such practices. Anyway, there was no particular need to bear down. All the hands are getting along nicely and there still are six weeks available for training.

Game to Break Monotony.

The monotony of looking at and writing about a lot of fellows going through seemingly purposeless maneuvering every day will be broken tomorrow, provided the rain departs from what is humorously referred to as sunny southern California. It is Boss McCarthy's intention to stage a game between the two squads, one known as the Regulars and the other as the Goofs. The names merely are used for identification purposes. There are as many regulars on one team as the other.

Whether Hornsby will be equal to the task of nine innings or even any innings tomorrow is doubtful. He still is in the class of those who are bothered by indignant feet. The Rajah navigates only under great difficulty. Some of this pain is centered in the heel, from which a bony growth was removed during the winter, but he is confident that it will be short lived. If it isn't, then it will be just too bad for Hornsby as well as the team. He thinks it is going to take about two weeks to toughen up the tender spots.

Veteran Hurlers to Perform.

Even if his feet were as sound as when he first broke into the big league, Hornsby still would be without enthusiasm for the present portion of spring training. He detests the preliminary camp work. His idea of spring training is a daily diet of exhibition games with real opposition, hence he'll heave a sigh of relief when able to start on the three weeks of competition at Los Angeles.

For the camp game tomorrow and the one planned for Friday, McCarthy is going to let his veteran hurlers take their first serious workouts of the game. Root, Malone, Bush and Blake all are sufficiently hardened so that nothing of a disastrous nature should result even if they take to curving or bearing down on their speed. However, McCarthy will not permit them to do much more than a few innings of strenuous labor. He wants to protect them, but also desires to have them ready if the rookies get into difficulties against the Angels Saturday or Sunday.

Bruins Beat Paterson, 24-17; Taylor Trunks Win, 20-16

BY WILFRED SMITH.

Chicago's Bruins held Paterson to one field goal in the second half last night and earned a 24 to 17 victory over the tailenders of the pro league after a furious first session had produced a 15 to 15 deadlock. The victory gave Chicago third place in the race for the second half title, one and a half games behind Rochester, the leader.

The Taylor Trunks, national girls' champions, won their third straight game over the Cleveland Allerton Aces, 20 to 16, in the six game series for the title. Total points will determine the winner and the Trunks now lead their rivals by 13. Previous scores were 15 to 8 and 11 to 9, both of the earlier games being played at Fort Wayne. The fourth game will be played tonight.

Kennedy Comes Back.

Curtin and Martin scored three goals each for the Trunks, while Wagemaker counted four times for Cleveland. The Trunks trailed, 8 to 5, at the quarter, but led, 13 to 8, at the half and protected the margin easily in the final periods.

Capt. Ray Kennedy, who has been out of the lineup for several weeks with an infected hand, played the full game for the Bruins last night. His three field goals, all long shots, two coming in the second half, helped effectively.

As usual when Chicago wins, all the sharpshooters were in form. Holman hit from center floor twice, Russell added a pair of baskets from underneath and two free throws, while Nat Hickey had three field goals and two penalty tosses to his credit.

Eight points didn't give him individual scoring honors for Grody, veteran Paterson guard, notched four goals and one free toss, but they did give him the lead for individual scoring honors in the second half of the season.

Hickey Passes Borgeman.

Before last night Hickey, Benny Borgeman of Patterson, and Chazmadia of Rochester were tied with 152 points each. Hickey now has 160 points and Borgeman 156. Chazmadia did not play last night. In field goals Hickey is far in front, having scored 69. Borgeman is second with 53.

Paterson took the lead twice in the first half when they produced all their basketball. The invaders led 7 to 3 and then 9 to 5, only to have Kennedy and Hickey tie the score. Then Paterson stepped out to a 14 to 9 advantage, against to see Hickey and Holman sink long shots for a point lead. Holman's two shots were from center and cracked the net without touching the rim.

Borgeman's free throw on Kennedy's foul, committed as the half ended, tied the score, but when play was resumed the battle was soon over. After tallying 7 points the Bruins stalled. Paterson's half-hearted attempts to force the play were ineffectual.

FALL FATAL TO BARTLEY MADDEN, FORMER BOXER

Dies of Injuries Received in Capital Visit.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 5.—Bartley Madden, 41 years old, one time contender for the heavyweight boxing championship, died tonight in the Emergency hospital of injuries sustained at noon today when he fell 28 feet from a flight of steps on the west side of the treasury department building to a concrete pavement.

Madden, who Gene Tunney described as "one of the two gamest fighters I ever met," was en route to New York from Miami, Fla., where he witnessed the Sharkey-Scott fight last Thursday and was one of a party of sightseers being conducted through the treasury building. None of the party saw the accident, and Madden was discovered lying face downward on the pavement by a pedestrian.

Suffers Internal Injuries.

He was given first aid treatment by a treasury department nurse and was rushed to the Emergency hospital, where it was found that he was suffering from a broken hip, three broken ribs, and serious internal injuries.

Regaining consciousness in the hospital, Madden declared he was virtually penniless and expressed great concern for a small son, left motherless three weeks ago when Madden's wife died. The youngster, Madden declared before lapsing into a coma, from which he never recovered, is living with relatives in New York.

Was Irish Champion.

Madden, born in Ireland in 1889, came to the United States after having won the Irish heavyweight championship and for a number of years was rated as a likely contender for the world's title. Until 1917 he succeeded in holding his own with other aspirants, but his "big chance" never came and he became a "trial horse" for other heavyweights.

In 20 years of fighting Madden won 52 of the 94 bouts in which he participated, lost 14, and was given draw decisions in four. No decisions were given in 24 of the fights, and while he was only knocked out once in his career he scored 29 knockouts.

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Those Chicago Maroons who make a specialty of doing the unexpected wrote another chapter into the record of their upsets at Bartlett gym last night by shattering Illinois' hope of finishing in third place in the Big Ten basketball race. In winning their second game in eleven starts since the conference season began the Maroons made it emphatic and downed the Illini, 35 to 22.

Illinois was handicapped by the loss of Horace May, center, who broke a wrist a week ago. Bur Harper was back in the lineup after a week's siege in a hospital, but did not play his usual game. But that doesn't take any credit from the Maroons, who would have won a lot more games if they always had played as they did last night.

Illini Shoot Badly.

The Maroons were hitting all sorts of shots, long ones and fast hooks from the corners, as well as passing to short shots, while their defense was holding off the Illini. And when the Orange and Blue boys did get close they couldn't hit the hoop. So bad was their shooting they missed 11 out of 15 free throws.

In points Marshall Fish, red headed back guard, led the Maroons with six baskets, but every member of the Chicago team got at least one except Fraider, who played only a couple of minutes. Outside of scoring, however, a lot of credit must go to Hal Boesel, two months ago the chief of the awkward squad but who has developed into a real basketball center.

Fish started the scoring with a long shot in the opening minute and Chicago was off to a lead it never relinquished. After the first few minutes Illinois never even got close, for the Maroons built up a lead of 11 to 2 in ten minutes and 22 to 9 by the end of the half. Illinois played better after the rest and each team scored 13 points in the second half, but the Maroons got theirs first and the closest the Illini could get at any time was 11 points behind.

Try Shifting Lineup.

It was that early jump in scoring which helped the Maroons, for after they had built up a lead of 13 to 4 the Illini shifted their lineup and played better thereafter. Kawal, the Cicero boy who had been playing guard, moved to center, and Fencl, Kawal's old teammate on Morton High school's national interscholastic champions of a couple of years ago, took his place at guard. That was better, but even then Chicago was too good. Kamp and Mills were the only two able to hit the basket and Mills' three baskets came primarily from a large number of tries and not good shooting.

The defeat left Illinois with a seasonal standing of seven won and five lost, while Chicago has won two, lost nine, and has one more game to play.

DORITA HOLDS ON TO DEFEAT 20-1 SHOT AT MIAMI

Naylor Nearly Overhauls Favorite.

Miami, Fla., March 5.—[Special.]—Dorita, from the Everglades stable, won the fourth race, best on today's card at Hialeah park. She was hard pressed at the finish to hold off the challenge of Naylor, a 20 to 1 shot. Naylor was crowded at the first turn and forced back, but he was coming strong at the finish and might have won with an even chance. Miss Desmond was third. Dorita was favorite, paying 5 to 2.

It was an ordinary card offered by the Miami Jockey club, but the finishes were close and the players were betting on the winners in most of the events.

Three hot tips scored before Dorita rolled up her triumph. In the first race Kensington was backed stoutly and got up in the final strides to beat Squall. Finnath was the tip in the second race, and the son of The Finn was only cantering as he led War Nymph to the line of finish by four lengths.

Six year old Hobcaw was the tip which went out in the third race. He took the lead at the rise of the barrier and was in front all the way to win by a nose from Jack Crain, with the favorite, Sun Meddler, soundly beaten, in third place.

There was also a plunge on Brown Ruler just before he triumphed in the last race at odds of nearly 4 to 1.

Bookmakers declared after the program ended they had received the most severe trouncing of the season here.

Miss Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, won a more impressive victory over Mrs. C. R. Harbaugh, Cleveland, 7 and 6. The Chicago girl sizzled out in a 33, three under men's par, and was 7 up at the turn.

Miss Helen Hicks, New York, took the measure of Miss Edith Hopwood, Uniontown, Pa., by 7 and 6, also being 7 up on her opponent at the turn.

Miss Maureen Orcutt, Metropolitan women's champion, never was in danger from Miss Virginia Vilas, Chicago, and after reaching the turn 5 up, ended it on the 13th, 6 and 5.

IN FICKLE MARCH
With Its Warmth and Chill
The New WAXFREE
HAVOLINE
PROVIDES ALL-WEATHER LUBRICATION

Summery today . . . wintry tomorrow . . . March weather reveals the superiority of the New Waxfree Havoline to all other oils. It holds its sturdy oily body at highest temperatures found on any bearing surface in the hottest weather. And it circulates instantly below zero. It does this because it is the only 100%-distilled unblended paraffin-base oil . . . it is free from wax.

Wax in oil turns water-thin with heat and has no lubricating value—just as this same wax congeals in cold weather, causing engine stiffness, hard starting and excess battery wear.

Free from wax, the New Waxfree Havoline is all lubricant at all temperatures. It will neither "freeze up" when it's cold, nor "burn up" when it's hot. The grade recommended for your car provides the best lubrication possible for one grade of oil to give under widely varying weather conditions.

Make no mistake: the New Waxfree Havoline lubricates under greater extremes of both heat and cold than any other oil. Whether March be a lion or a lamb, it assures better engine protection . . . more power . . . greater mileage . . . less frequent crankcase fillings . . . at all speeds, at all temperatures.

Give your car this superior lubrication throughout fickle March. Your Havoline dealer will recommend the proper grade for your car, whatever the weather.

BIG 10 ATHLETES HIT TRAIL TODAY FOR MINNESOTA

Who'll Win Meet? Take Your Choice.

Warne Heads N. U.

COACH FRANK HILL and nine men he has selected to represent Northwestern in the Big Ten track and field games at Minnesota tomorrow and Saturday will leave tonight for Minneapolis.

The Purple contingent is headed by Tom Warne, national intercollegiate pole vault champion. Others who will make the trip are Jack Ford and Roy Lemming, sprinters; Dean Klarr, pole vault; Ted Burgiss, mile, and Ralph Wolf, Ed McAuliffe, Bill Rapp, and Ed Farrell in the half mile.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Track and field athletes of the Western conference will leave today for Minneapolis, where the annual indoor championships will be held tomorrow and Saturday.

For the first time in years, the winner cannot be picked in advance. Each of the ten schools has stars, but none appears to have the team balance necessary to establish a pre-meet favorite.

Iowa Defending Champion.

Illinois has Sentman and Rodgers in the hurdles, Carr in the high jump and McDermont in the pole vault; Iowa, which won the meet a year ago, has Canby in the pole vault and Roberts in the shotput; Chicago has point winners in Weaver in the shotput, East in the dash, Root and Hayden in the hurdles, and Letts in the middle distance runs.

Michigan will have a team of 17 men, and Coach Farrell believes the Wolverines will break into the scoring column in six or seven of the ten events. Ohio State will be represented by Simpson in the dash, Hanover in the mile, and Strother in the quarter mile; Wisconsin has a certain point winner in Behr in the shotput, while Petersigis should score in the hurdles and Goldsworthy and Follows in the distance runs. Warne of Northwestern should win the pole vault and Ford is expected to place in the dash.

Trials Set for Tomorrow.

Ability of lesser lights to win points offered for second, third, and fourth places more than ever this year will determine the team champion. Ohio State, Illinois, Chicago, and Iowa are certain to score points in several events.

Trials in the quarter and half mile runs will be held tomorrow night. If the entry is large enough to warrant preliminaries in the hurdles and dashes, the field in both events will be cut down to a semi-final round Saturday night before the championships get under way.

3 TEAMS FIGHT FOR LEAD IN N. Y. BIKE RACE

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—Continuing to show the remarkable riding that has kept them well up in the race, Reggie McNamara and Charley Winter late tonight still held a part of the lead position which they shared with two other combinations in the six day bike race. Alfred Letourner and Paul Brocardo, and Tony Beckman and Norman Hill had a portion of the first place, but the frequent jamming sessions threatened always to effect a change in the rating. COUGAR DEFEAT TONIGHT MEANS HAWKS QUALIFY

Games Tonight

N. Y. Americans at Detroit.
Les Canadiens at Montreal.

Though the Hawks will be traveling today on their last road trip of the regular National Hockey league season, they may mathematically clinch a place in the playoffs. Detroit, which is four and one-half games behind the Hawks, each with five games to play, engages in one of them tonight against the New York Americans. And if the Cougars lose, the Hawks can't lose third place and automatically qualify for the playoffs.

In the only other game tonight first place in the Canadian division is at stake in the intracity clash at Montreal, when Les Canadiens meet the Maroons. The Maroons lead the division, a game in front of the Frenchmen, but Les Canadiens can catch up by winning tonight.

Peters Beats Lookabaugh; Leads Billiard League

Triumphing over Earl Lookabaugh in two games last night at the Biograph recreation rooms, Edward Peters now holds first place in the Chicago Billiard league. Lookabaugh's defeat dropped him to third place, Augie Keickhefer capturing second place by winning two games from Art Forrest. Keickhefer also made the highest run of the league, scoring 16 against Forrest.

Bradley Defeats Eureka; Claims Little 19 Title

Peoria, Ill., March 5.—[Special.]—Bradley tonight claimed the Little Nineteen basketball championship after defeating Eureka, 45 to 22. It was Bradley's eleventh conference victory. The team lost three games. Bradley left at the half, 30 to 9.

Reds' Big Guns Find Range in Spring Drill

Orlando, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Dan Howley today sent his Cincinnati Reds through their first batting practice of the season and smiled when Harry Heilmann and Bob Meusel, long distance sluggers acquired from the American league, drove many pitches to the scoreboard. Cuccinello, Stripp, Dressen, and Riconda, third base candidates, all took turns at the hot corner. The pitchers were put through an hour's drill covering first base on infield hits.

BROWNS' VETERANS REPORT.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns' training squad was augmented for practice today by the first field appearance of Melillo, Schulte, and O'Rourke. Manager Killefer took full advantage of a warm day to send the players through a stiff session. Seven players still were missing, but only three of them, Kress, Manush, and Blaeholder, are causing worry. None of them yet has signed a contract. The work of Pitchers Johnny Ogden and Herman Holshouser pleased Killefer.

CARDS HAVE BUSY DAY.

Bradenton, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Today was full of action at the St. Louis Cardinal training camp. Manager Gabby Street sent his pitchers through an hour and a half of exercise and held fielding practice for the youngsters during which Eddie Delker shined at short. After batting practice the regular infield, with only Frisch missing, went through a snappy workout. Two youngsters with glasses, Burton Bruckman, catcher from Purdue university, and Willis Glasgow from Iowa, took part in today's workout.

BONURA'S BAT IMPRESSES.

New Orleans, La., March 5.—(AP)—Zeke Bonura, one of three candidates for Lew Fonseca's place at first base in the event the Portuguese slugger does not recover his health, exhibited a powerful arm today when the Cleveland Indians held batting practice. One of Zeke's smashes cleared the deep left field barrier with plenty to spare. He drove his ball great distances with little apparent effort. The other candidates are Bruce Caldwell and Alex Hooks.

GIANTS PLAY COLLEGIANS.

San Antonio, Tex., March 5.—(AP)—The New York Giants had their last day of "just practice" today before the start of the spring barnstorming campaign. A squad of 16 players, mainly the youngsters of the squad, will go to Austin tomorrow to open the exhibition series against the University of Texas. Two more joined the Giants today. Fred Leach and Johnny Mostil, former White Sox outfielder, whom Manager McGraw rescued from Toledo, joined the squad.

ROBIN REGULARS LOSE.

Clearwater, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Four more pitchers joined the Brooklyn training squad, but they didn't do much to stop the hitting in the daily practice game. Ray Moss, Jim Faulkner, Adolfo Luque, and Arthur McKay arrived. Despite the pitchers, a total of 30 hits were garnered in the contest between the regulars and the irregulars. Young Mickey Finn led the irregulars to their second straight victories by clouting a double and two singles.

SEATTLE GIRL SETS 150 YARD FREE STYLE MARK

St. Augustine, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Helene Madison of Seattle, a comparative newcomer in the ranks of record holding swimmers, clipped 4 1-5 seconds from the world mark for 150 yards free style here tonight, making the distance in 1:40 2-5 to beat the former record of 1:45 flat, set by Gertrude Ederle.

Miss Madison's record shattering feat followed closely a new mark set by Eleanor Holm of New York in the 400 yard back stroke event. Miss Holm cut 12 seconds from the former record. Her time was 5:46 4-5, as compared with the former time of 5:58 1-5.

U. S. Will Send Youthful Team After Davis Cup

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—George M. Lott Jr. of Chicago, John Van Ryn of East Orange, N. J., and Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., the three young members of the United States Davis cup team who got their first baptism of fire in a challenge round last year against France, will compose the nucleus of the American Davis cup ssuad for 1930, according to announcement made today by the United States Lawn Tennis association.

GEORGE LOTT.

Tilden, Hunter Withdraw.

Although a squad of 17 was named last December, among whom were the veterans William Tilden and Francis T. Hunter, the first two ranking players of the country, it is likely that the three players named above will compose the team unless any of the other players show to particular advantage in the southern tournaments.

Tilden and Hunter have both stated that they will not be candidates for the team this year, and today's announcement by the U. S. L. T. A. states that the association plans to enter a team of young players in the American zone matches, and if it wins in this area to send a team of comparatively young players to Europe for the interzone final.

Lott, it is announced further, may be sent to Europe to do his training for the European matches. Chairman Joseph W. Wear of the Davis cup committee has suggested and Capt. Fitz-Eugene Dixon has agreed that Lott would be a likely candidate to represent this country in the Belgium and French championships.

Maroons Lose Lott

GEORGE LOTT, ranking tennis star and Davis cup player, will be lost to the University of Chicago tennis team this season, it was learned yesterday. Lott plans to spend all spring playing in tournaments so as to perfect his game for the Davis cup matches. He won the conference singles title last year, and paired with Capt. Calohan, took the doubles championship as well.

Lott May Sail May 1.

In the event that he does go, Lott, who is completing his last semester at the University of Chicago, will sail about the first of May. A woman player probably will be named also to represent the U. S. L. T. A. in these tournaments, in which Tilden and Junior Coen, who are now abroad, are expected to compete.

The Davis cup squad will gather officially at Pinehurs ta few days prior to the start of the United North and South championships which get under way April 14. Members of the Davis cup committee will watch the practice and tournament play of the squad members at Pinehurst and at White Sulphur Springs the following week. Players who make a particularly good showing will receive consideration for a place on the team.

Capt. Dixon plans to be present at all the southern tournaments leading up to these two events in search of good material for the team. It is stated that the selection of players for the American zone matches will be based entirely on their showing in these southern tournaments and later training competition.

DE VOS, CHASTAIN BOX ON STADIUM CARD MARCH 14

Rene De Vos, Belgian world war hero and aspirant to Mickey Walker's middleweight crown, will make a Chicago appearance March 14 when he fights Clyde Chastain in one of the four ten round bouts on the Stadium show.

Ernie Schaaf, Boston heavyweight, will take on Paul Pantaleo, former Tilden Tech High school athlete, and a third ten rounder will involve Harry Fierio and Zibal Gregorio. Harry Dublinsky also is scheduled to take part in a ten round battle with an opponent yet to be chosen.

FIDEL LA BARBA MEETS MASTRO HERE MARCH 21

Earl Mastro of Chicago and Fidel La Barba of California, former holder of the world's flyweight title, will meet in a ten round decision bout at the Coliseum on March 21. Signed contracts of both fighters were received yesterday by Leonard Sacks, business manager of Jack Dempsey. The weight will be 126 pounds at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the day of the fight.

It will be the third meeting of this pair. Both encounters took place in California and each won a decision.

Charley White to Referee Fronton Amateur Bouts

Charley White may be through as a fighter, but he still can function as third man in the ring, and this he proposes to do tomorrow night at the Fronton in the weekly amateur boxing and wrestling show staged by Joe Coffey. Two bouts feature the show, Johnny Byrnes of Portage Park meeting Paul Vincenti of Cicero, and Bud Marcey of Roosevelt High school taking on Pete Moran of Arcade gymnasium.

Fightin' Fish Win Cheers of Dixie Anglers

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pine Island, Fla., March 5.—Why the trim, good looking ladyfish with its stream lines, slender body and iridescent pearl coloring likes to make so much whoopee at the end of a line when more masculine looking species like the sea trout or jacks put up an orthodox scrap still is a mystery to us after a day's fishing near this island. When the tide started in the ladyfish, built like a racing automobile, swatted our lures right and left and every one hooked was good for at least two or three beautiful jumps.

The method of fishing for this salt water species is the last word in comfort. You may take a rowboat if you so desire and just anchor in the channel near the bridge, but it isn't necessary to leave the bridge railing to get fish. You may lean against the railing and cast your darting, wobbling, wooden minnow into the water below and then reel it in by jerks and spurts.

So, standing on the bridge, we retrieved our underwater minnow with sharp pulls making it do all kinds of tricks. Suddenly we saw a silvery flash beneath the lure—the ladyfish struck but missed. Another rush and bang! it was hooked. Then came the prettiest jumping exhibition you get from any of the smaller game fishes down here. The ladyfish leaped into the sunlight throwing water like a spray, turned over two or three times and then dropped back to start all over.

One fish repeated this trick three times before we landed it and every leap brought cheers and whoopees from the half dozen fishermen on the bridge.

CHICAGO STOCKS START BRISKLY, THEN LOSE NERVE

Early Gains Turn to Losses Before Close.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Stocks started the day ambitiously enough on the Chicago exchange yesterday, but many of them lost their nerve as realizing set in.

The close found the list in a ragged condition with many of the early gains turned to losses. Bullish persons found some comfort in the fact that a few of the favorites had scaled new peaks before the advance had changed to an orderly retreat.

Whether directors of Grigsby Grunow reduce the dividend rate at their meeting Friday or not, the action of the stock yesterday indicated that such a measure was being discounted. The issue was under pressure most of the day and finished off a point.

Halt Gas Utility Advance.

The forward movement enjoyed by most of the gas utility stocks during the last few days was halted at least temporarily. Cities Service after touching a new top above 29 settled back to close slightly lower. United Gas which has been the subject of many bullish rumors involving mergers and expansion was down a point. Missouri Kansas Pipe line which has previously failed to keep pace with the other gas utilities was up over a point on sales of about 2,000 shares. North American Gas and Electric A fluctuated narrowly and closed unchanged.

Borg Warner was the whole show in the automotive group. Rising to a new high of 46⅝ on transactions of about 46,000 shares, its gain was short lived and the closing price of 45 was unchanged from the previous day.

Industrial specialties displayed a steady tone. Price ranges for the most part were narrow, although Winton Engine and Electric Household moved up 2 and 2½ points respectively.

Report Winton Profits.

G. W. Codrington, president of Winton, reports that earnings last month were even greater than anticipated and will approximate $863,000 after all charges, including depreciation and taxes. He added that orders on the company's books insure capacity production for the remainder of 1930.

North American Car was easier on light trade in face of announcement by E. R. Brigham, president, that business for the first two months of 1930 ran far ahead of the similar period last year.

Exchange governors yesterday approved the following supplemental listings. Central Public Service corporation, 1,000,000 shares class A no par; Super Maid corporation, 10,000 shares no par common; Tri-Utilities corporation, 20,000 shares no par common.

BIG REFINERIES WILL OPERATE ON 6 DAY WEEK

Further Let-down Is Reported in Steel.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Two of the biggest American industries presented divergent news yesterday. Plans of the federal oil conservation board for remedying the long standing overproduction of gasoline by restricting refinery operations to a six day week were approved by heads of several of the big refining companies. Reports of some further let-down in the steel industry were confirmed by the midweek reviews, while reductions in raw material prices were announced.

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, largest of the oil companies, announced that it will curtail its refinery operations to a six day week beginning next Sunday. Its subsidiary, the Humble Oil and Refining company, started the movement by a similar announcement on Tuesday.

Approval of the plan was voiced by President Edward G. Seubert of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

"We believe the appeal of the federal board has merit," he said. "Speaking for our company, our gasoline stocks at the present time are less than they were a year ago. We are running only sufficient crude oil to produce gasoline to take care of our current requirements. If all manufacturers will adopt the same course the oversupply of gasoline should disappear very shortly, especially with the approach of the season of high consumption."

Favors Stronger Measures.

Stronger measures to restrict crude oil production, particularly in Texas and California, were advocated by President R. C. Holmes of the Texas corporation. He urged the authorities of those states to make more effective the conservation plans that have been partially successful in the last year or two.

"If the 1929 production had been kept within the limits of 1928," he continued, "there probably would have been no cut in the price of crude oil. California's production exceeded the 1928 output by more than 60,000,000 barrels, while Texas' production was 41,000,000 barrels larger. The increase for the whole country was 104,000,000 barrels.

"If California under its present conservation laws can bring its production back to near the 1928 level and if the Texas legislature now in session will improve its laws so that producers can bring their production back to the 1928 level, such economic reasons as warranted the recent price cut can be removed. This course has in it about the only promise of a stability of crude oil prices that will admit of the operation of small producing companies and wells of small production, of which there are many thousands."

Expresses Optimism.

Optimism over conservation efforts in California and Oklahoma and hopes for improvement in Texas were expressed by E. B. Reeser, president of the Barnsdall corporation and also of the American Petroleum institute.

Slackening in the demand for steel resulted in merchant pig iron producers in the Chicago district reducing prices from $20 to $19.50 a ton, while steel scrap also was reduced 25 cents a ton.

"Irregularities in demand, wide variations in operating rates of different mills, and a further moderate recession in total ingot production are features of a steel market that lacks a definite trend," the Iron Age says. "Business from the automobile industry remains at a reduced level and in most centers specifications from other buyers have also diminished, possibly more because of greater caution than any distinct change in the rate of consumption.

"Chicago continues to stand out because of its sustained activity, with ingot production at 95 per cent of capacity and likely to increase rather than decline. Rail mills at Chicago are running at capacity and steel requirements of railroad car builders are heavy. The United States Steel corporation average remains at 85 per cent, but the average for the entire industry is estimated at 78 per cent, compared with 80 per cent last week and 82 per cent two weeks ago."

CLAIM AMERICAN GAS PROFITED 300% IN CHARGES COLLECTED

Washington, D. C., March 5.—(AP)—Testimony that the American Gas and Electric company had profited 300 per cent in charges collected from the Scranton Electric company, a subsidiary, was given today in the federal trade commission's investigation of power utilities financing methods. John H. Bickley, a commission accountant, was the witness.

After saying the capital stock of the Scranton Electric had been "written up" over night more than $3,500,000, when it absorbed the Exeter Power corporation in 1928, he detailed financial transactions between the American Gas and the Scranton Electric.

In twelve years, he said, the Scranton subsidiary paid $805,864 to the holding company for supervision of construction on a percentage rate of 7.8. That supervision cost the American Gas only 2 per cent, Bickley testified.

The commission accountant produced figures to show an increase of $13,000,000 in the funded debt and an increase of $12,000,000 in the fixed capital of the Scranton Electric 24 hours after its merger with the Exeter Power corporation. Bickley said he could not justify the entire amount of the increases.

F. W. WOOLWORTH FEBRUARY SALES SHOW 3.3% GAIN

Sales of the F. W. Woolworth company in February were $20,029,799, compared with $19,375,288 for February last year. This is a gain of 3.3 per cent. For two months sales were $38,436,942, compared with $37,035,386 for the corresponding period of 1929, an increase of 3.7 per cent. New stores of the company were largely responsible for the increase in sales.

Survey Shows $650,000,000 Spent for New Building

A survey conducted by the Indiana Limestone company indicates that approximately $650,000,000 has been spent on new construction in the United States during the first two months of 1930. The survey was based on reports from several hundred cities and towns throughout the country. President A. E. Dickinson said that while general business is still below normal the bottom has been reached and a steady upturn is expected in all lines of business. One of the results shown by the survey, he stated, is the renewal of residential building in the Chicago district.

FOX MODIFIES REFINANCE PLAN TO MEET ATTACK

Resume Meeting This Morning

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 5.—In a huge, barnlike, whitewashed studio at 850 10th avenue, stockholders of the Fox Film and the Fox Theater corporations wrangled and jibed at each other all day today and then in the evening adjourned until tomorrow morning without completing a vote on a refinancing plan favored by William Fox.

Unofficial tallies gave the advantage to Fox, it being estimated that he had 553,613 out of 602,600 class A stock proxies submitted. However, this was regarded as purely a moral victory for Mr. Fox and, if official, would do little to untangle the snarl in which the Fox corporations are enmeshed, in view of a decision today by Justice Aaron J. Levy refusing to enjoin John E. Otterson and Harry L. Stuart from voting Fox's own stock controlling both corporations. They were trustees with Mr. Fox under an agreement of last December and have offered an alternative refinancing plan.

The only effect a vote in favor of the refinancing plan approved by Mr. Fox and his directors can have is to provide an assurance to Federal Judge Frank Coleman that the stockholders do not want a receivership.

Adds to Confusion.

To add to the complexities of the situation a suit was filed in Supreme court in Brooklyn today enjoining Fox from proceeding with any further financing and ordered him to show cause why he and his associates should not be restrained from making effective any plan which would "saddle" Loews, Inc., upon the Fox Theaters corporation. The order, signed by Justice James A. Dunne, is returnable Friday. The action was brought by Isidor Weiss of Brooklyn and Henry F. Otto of Irvington, N. J.

The progress of the stockholders' meeting today was marked by wrangling, by acrimony between opposing attorneys, and long impassioned speeches which were mere shadow boxing in view of the developments in the situation. When Justice Levy refused to prevent Messrs. Otterson and

COMMITTEE IS FORMED TO PROTECT HOLDERS OF GARARD BONDS

Holders of bonds, chiefly on Chicago real estate, sold by the Garard Trust company, the Garard Investment Trust, and the Garard Trust and Savings bank were notified yesterday of formation of a protective committee.

The Garard Investment Trust went into receivership last Saturday when Federal Judge Wilkerson appointed the Chicago Title and Trust company as receiver, which also is to serve as depositary for the bondholders.

It is stated that the protective committee was named as the result of defaults on bonds. The committee is composed of George E. Keyes, Charles N. Thompson, John R. Magill, Aldis J. Browne, William C. Cook, Ward C. Castle, and O. E. Aleshire.

Implement Co. Reports Earnings of $1,962,459

Minneapolis Moline Power Implement company reports net profit for the year ended Dec. 31, including subsidiaries and predecessor company, of $1,962,459, which, after preferred dividends, was equivalent to $2.11 a share on the 700,000 shares of common stock outstanding. This compares with adjusted net income of $3,147,227 for predecessor companies in 1928, which after full year requirements on the present preferred was equal to $3.56 on the common.

Rail Embargo Is Threatened in Wheat Congestion Crisis

BY PAUL POTTER.

Officials of 25 grain and other farm commodity exchanges closed a secret session in Chicago yesterday. Out of their conference came word that hereafter the battle of words which has engaged grain trade leaders and the federal farm board was ended so far as the exchange leadership was concerned.

"We have decided to shut up and get back to business as best we can under the situation, despite what politicians and governmental spokesmen may say or do," said one of the Chicagoans who attended the conference. The general opinion of the meeting was reported to be that the grain trade was satisfied with the modified policy announced by the federal farm board here last Saturday, withdrawing the fixed prices for wheat being paid to coöperatives only.

Storage Space Grows Scant.

During the afternoon grain men of the nation were confronted by the acute shortage of storage space that has resulted from unprecedented lack of export of an otherwise high quality and normal sized wheat crop. Trainloads of grain that poured to market last fall have been added to at intervals ever since. A virtual embargo on shipments to market now confronts the farm board and the grain exchanges, with high overhead costs gnawing at the depreciated sale value of storage holdings.

At the same time, in Washington, Chairman Alexander Legge of the farm board was quoted as declaring that a real embargo against shipping wheat from farms to terminal markets will be put into effect unless farmers hold their stocks until storage facilities become available. He said the board is endeavoring to avoid such drastic measures during the present grain emergency, but that if railroads are unable to unload cars of grain at the terminals an embargo would become imperative.

Send Out Questionnaire.

A questionnaire has been sent out by the farm board, particularly to obtain accurate information on any storage space available in smaller market centers, it was learned yesterday.

Chicago's public elevator space is jammed to the roofs, a survey indicated. There is enough wheat in Chicago to feed the entire state of Illinois for at least 34 weeks. Nearly 6,000,000 bushels of additional grain are now stowed in boats moored to Chicago docks. Trainloads of grain are in emergency storage.

Not only are the elevators filled to capacity after most of a season's marketing activities, but grain exchanges, the experts say, now must find some way of keeping their facilities open for making delivery of contracts.

The Situation in Chicago.

The situation in Chicago, as outlined by W. E. Hudson, chairman of the Board of Trade's warehousing committee, is that 40,538,000 bushels of grain were housed in Chicago elevators. An additional 5,932,000 bushels are afloat in ships.

Of the 18,580,000 bushel capacity of the 13 public elevators in which the grain movement has normally been carried, 16,348,000 bushels are now in storage. A leeway of 10 per cent is usually required for public elevator turnover of moving grain. In the face of this, the Rock Island elevator A, at 16th street, with a capacity of 1,250,000 bushels, is being torn down and all its grain in storage, estimated to be 824,000 bushels, must be moved elsewhere by May 1. This is to make way for railroad terminal improvements as a result of the river straightening.

Grain is now in storage in Chicago which could be had for the mere payment of charges, it was said. The overhead, just like a farm owner's taxes, is eating up the cash of holders of warehouse receipts. It is estimated that to hold grain a year in Chicago costs at least 21 cents a bushel, under present insurance rates, cost of handling, interest, and depreciation expenses.

YELLOW CAB HAS 1929 EARNINGS OF $1,786,314

Earnings of the Chicago Yellow Cab company last year were about the same as in 1928. Net income for 1929 was $1,786,314, equivalent to $4.46 a share on the capital stock, compared with $1,816,905, or $4.50 a share, in 1928. The previous year's earnings, however, included a federal tax refund of $212,964, without which $4.05 a share was earned.

Last year the company purchased 1,135 new cabs and retired 840 cabs. The balance sheet as of Dec. 31, 1929, shows current assets of $3,576,800 and current liabilities of $1,055,625.

BY FRED HARVEY.

New York, March 5.—Reactionary forces overtook the stock market in the late dealings today. Most of the leaders of the recent recovery movement were cut down and early gains were wiped out or substantially reduced from one end of the list to the other.

Reasons for the market's change of front were not difficult to find. The unemployment figures announced from Washington had a depressing effect from the outset. The weekly reports of the iron and steel trade journals were not encouraging and there was more than the usual allotment of bearish business statistics, in the way of earnings reports and trade curtailment plans.

List Retreating at Close.

Profit takers got busy toward the end and a number of issues suffered from pool manipulation. Bull traders made a brave effort to keep up morale in the face of the growing nervousness, reflected by accumulated selling by whirling up oils, foods, and an assortment of special issues, and succeeded in making operations a nip and tuck affair for a good part of the day. The combined forces were too much for them in the end, however, and the close found virtually the whole body of stocks in retreat.

Such pivotal issues as United States Steel, American Can, American and Foreign Power, and Consolidated Gas dipped one to three points under the

of Primary Importance

PROBABLY no principle of sound investment receives greater recognition from experienced security buyers and authorities on investment than that of adequate diversification. Every investor by diversifying his investments can, without question, increase the safety and in many cases the income of his account.

Yet, considering the emphasis that has been placed on this investment principle and the universal recognition of its soundness, it is surprising to find that countless investors fail to follow it properly in selecting securities. Case after case can be pointed out in which neglect to diversify has worked to the disadvantage of the investor in both the safety and income to be derived from his funds.

Folds, Buck & Co., dealing in industrial, public utility, railroad, real estate, and foreign bonds, both long and short term, convertible issues, and preferred and common stocks, are in a very advantageous position to assist the investor in broadly diversifying his investments.

GOV'T BUYING FAILS TO HALT DROP IN WHEAT

Estimate U. S. Buys Two Million Bu. of Futures.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Purchases of 2,000,000 bu or more futures were estimated made by the government. Scattered liquidation was on throughout the day, with the close at net losses of 1⅝@1⅞c, with March $1.06½@1.06⅝ and May $1.10⅞@1.11 at the last, while July was $1.09@1.09¼.

Winnipeg showed independent weakness a good part of the day and closed 2⅝@2½c lower, although there was a fair export demand for Manitobas, with sales of 400,000 bu estimated in all positions. Liverpool finished ¼d lower to ¼d higher, showing relative weakness, while Buenos Ayres and Rosario were ⅝@¾c lower as compared with Saturday.

The United Farmers of Saskatchewan, Canada, where 60 per cent of Canada's grain is produced, voted at the close of their annual meeting in Saskatoon this week to support the proposed law which will enforce compulsory pooling of the province's grain.

News Favors Lower Prices.

A statement by Broomhall, a leading European authority, in commenting on the world's overproduction of wheat, called attention to the fact that the world's crop in the last three years has averaged 3,544,000,000 bu, against an average crop of 3,032,000,000 bu six years ago. World's consumption, while larger, has not been sufficient to absorb all the additional grain raised.

March 1 stocks of wheat in North America, based on a consolidation of private Canadian and American estimates, suggests a total of 643,000,000 bu, or 17,000,000 bu less than a year ago on the same method of figuring. Murray estimates the disappearance of wheat in the United States during the first eight months of the crop year at 626,000,000 bu, against 645,000,000 bu in 1928-'29 and a ten year average of 637,000,000 bu.

While some winter killing was shown in central and southern Kansas by the government weekly crop report, the latter was construed as generally favorable, with crop growth about a month ahead of last year over a large area.

Corn Dull and Easy.

Weakness in wheat led to scattered selling of corn and a lower range of values, support coming mainly from shorts. Final trades were ½@⅞c lower, with March 82⅝c and May 86¼c. Country offerings to arrive were again small, with the spot basis steady to ½c lower.

Trade in oats was light, with the local element on the selling side in sympathy with other grains and the finish was unchanged to ⅜c lower, March closing at 42⅜c and May 43¾c. Commission houses bought. Offerings in the spot market were small and the basis ¼@½c higher.

Liquidation was on in rye, with all deliveries selling at a new low on the crop. The close was ⅝c higher to 1¼c lower.

BETTER DEMAND FOR EGGS

Lenten buying pushed all egg futures to higher levels on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, although the best figures were not maintained. Sales were 81 cars and receipts 14,096 cases. Early strength in March butter futures was followed by a decline due to bearish attacks and the close was ½c or $24.00 a car lower than the previous close and ⅝c or $120.00 a car below the peak of the session. Sales were 52 cars and receipts 6,484 tubs. Prices follow:

LEGGE RELATES HOPES, AIMS OF U. S. FARM BOARD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 5.—Denial that the work of the federal farm board verges on state socialism is made by Alexander Legge, chairman of the board, in an interview appearing in the Magazine of Wall Street, which will be issued on Saturday.

"We are attempting nothing very different in effect than the government has already done in various ways for manufacturing industry through the protective tariff and the department of commerce," says Mr. Legge; "for the railways by land grants and loans; for labor by the tariff, the immigration exclusion laws and others, also the department of labor; for finance by the federal reserve act and other constructive laws; for shipping by loans, subsidies and the general help of the shipping board."

While the farm board hopes to minimize the destructive effects of speculation, its work is not to destroy private trade in produce, said Mr. Legge.

"It is not our purpose to break down any business, but to help the farmer through collective action to market his crops; effects on other businesses will be incidental," he continued.

OLIVER FARM EQUIP. ISSUES FIRST REPORT

The Oliver Farm Equipment company, which is a consolidation of several farm machinery concerns effected last year, issued its first annual report last night. Net sales for 1929 were $27,437,973, compared with $26,698,901 for the constituent companies in 1928.

Net profits last year were $3,612,377, equivalent after preferred dividends to $2.25 a share on 374,172 common shares outstanding at the end of 1929. President Melvin W. Ellis reports that sales for the first two months of this year and shipping orders for this month assured a substantial increase for the first quarter of this year, compared with the same period last year.

The balance as of Dec. 31, 1929, shows current assets of $33,355,728 and current liabilities of $4,651,978. Plant and so forth is carried at $11,847,457.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Plans for the issuance of 30,000 additional shares of its cumulative $6 preferred stock are announced on behalf of the Arkansas Power and Light company, the issue having been underwritten by W. C. Langley & Co. and the First National Old Colony corporation who will market the shares publicly.

An issue of city of St. Paul, Minn., $1,000,000 serial 4¼ per cent bonds will be offered today by the Continental Illinois company and the Foreman-State corporation at prices to yield 4.10 per cent for all maturities. The bonds mature serially from March 1, 1931, to 1950, inclusive.

First Illinois company is marketing today a new issue of $500,000 5 per cent equipment trust gold certificates of the American Steel Car Lines, Inc., priced at from $99 to $92.56 according to maturities from March 1, 1931, to 1940, with a 6 per cent yield for all maturities, accrued dividends to be added in each case.

Chicago Board of Trade Disciplines Seven Members

Seven Chicago Board of Trade members were disciplined by the directors at the meeting on Tuesday. Four were suspended under rule 109, which applies to nonpayment of dues within a specified time. They were S. Percy Buchanan, G. B. Cathcart, H. M. Rollins, and Hamilton K. Wilbur. Three were suspended for acting as principal and broker in 1,000 bushel lot wheat trading. E. A. Beauvais was suspended for one year, L. J. and A. V. Beauvais for 90 days. It is claimed by "job lot" brokers that it is practically impossible to trade in times of great excitement without a job lotter buying 5,000 bushel lots and reselling them to customers to fill orders.

PERCY WILSON PREDICTS BIG ERA IN REALTY

Says Chicago Land Offers Greatest Security.

BY AL CHASE.

Chicago real estate conditions are improving, with more people in the market for property than there were a year ago, and with everything pointing to a still greater market in the future, according to Percy Wilson, head of Percy Wilson & Co., one of this city's largest subdivision firms. Mr. Wilson, who made his predictions in a speech before the Chicago Financial Advertisers yesterday at the Palmer house, also declared that Chicago real estate offers the safest security of any city in the world.

PERCY WILSON. [Wallinger Photo.]

"First, let me state that I believe that—at least as applied to real estate securities—your business and the real estate business are very closely allied," said Mr. Wilson. "Any depression in the real estate market must necessarily create hazards for real estate bonds. But, strange as it may seem, the recent temporary collapse of real estate bonds does not seem to have in any way undermined public confidence in real estate.

Realty Market Improving.

"The facts are that the real estate market is improving. There are many more people in the market for real estate today than there were a year ago. That applies both to improved and unimproved real estate. Two months ago we inserted a certain 'for sale' advertisement in one of the daily papers and drew three replies. Last week the same ad was reinserted in the same paper and it drew 22 replies.

"If the real estate market continues to come back as fast as it appears to be now, it is bound to bring most of the overbonded buildings out of the woods and thereby greatly expedite the adjustment of bonded indebtedness settlements, and win back public confidence in real estate bonds.

"The aftermath of the late war left a shortage of houses and office buildings, theaters, etc., which, with the prosperity that followed, created an unprecedented demand. This demand spread to all forms of real estate. Is it any wonder that we temporarily passed the saturation point in filling this demand? It is said that Chicago has been oversubdivided and overbuilt. So does every other industry become overproductive during expansion eras.

Sees New Peak in 1933.

"The years 1925 and 1926 were the peak real estate period of the last decade; 1929 suffered the great weight of the natural reactions which followed and which was further accentuated by the unusual public interest in stock speculation. However, I believe that 1929 will go into the records as the valley between two peaks, the one of 1925 and 1926 and the other of 1932 and 1933. Such is the history of Chicago real estate. Up and down and then up again with higher price levels at the top of each succeeding uprising, and never receding to the low level of the last depression.

"I see in the immediate future a reawakening in Chicago real estate, and therefore the value of Chicago real estate securities. The recent lessons that have been taught tend to pave the way for a still greater market in the future. The World's Fair will be a success. The world will come here, in spite of any opinions to the contrary, to marvel at the glories of this wonderful city building achievement. The 'I Will' spirit of Chicago is probably stronger today than ever before in its history, and in spite of adverse conditions in the tax situation, the recent stock market crash and unemployment, Chicago is still the most prosperous, progressive city on the face of the earth. Chicago real estate offers the safest investment of any city in the world."

Approve Stock Increase for Natl. Aviation Corp.

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Stockholders of the National Aviation corporation today approved an increase in the authorized capital stock from 500,000 to 1,000,000 shares, and approved other authorizations requisite to carrying through the plan for exchange of National Aviation stock for that of Aeronautical Industries, Inc.

TWO LARGE ACRE HOLDINGS TRADED FOR BUILDINGS

Two large acre tracts, one a wooded estate adjoining Libertyville and the other a Wisconsin farm, were given in payment yesterday for a couple of good sized improved Chicago properties. John V. Farwell sold the four story building at 1922-32 South Halsted street to Eleanor Perbohner, taking in trade 243 acres of land east of Libertyville and adjoining Thornbury village.

This Lake county tract will be held as it is for the present. Ultimately, according to Harold H. Egan & Co., brokers for Mr. Farwell, the property probably will be platted into small estates. Other brokers in the transaction were John Griffith and E. B. Woolf & Co.

The Halsted street building sold by Mr. Farwell stands on a 120x119 site. It was erected in 1888 for the John York Department store and later passed into the hands of the John V. Farwell company. It is now occupied by Hart, Schaffner & Marx as a clothing factory.

The building at the northeast corner of Broadway and Hawthorne place, 103x70x115x51, was sold by Sol Burdin to Ira N. Bubert for an undisclosed consideration, subject to $125,000. It contains thirty-five apartments and four shops. Mr. Bubert gave in part payment a 321 acre dairy farm near Arena, Wis. Henry A. Strassheim & Co. and M. N. Curtis were brokers. Chester Chancellor Jr. was attorney.

CLOTHING CHAIN STORE LEASES IN ENGLEWOOD

The Richman Brothers company, national chain clothing store concern, yesterday leased the entire two story building at 6400 South Halsted street, 25x124, from Herman and Ike Kaplan for fifteen years beginning March 15, 1930, and ending June 30, 1945. Henry M. and Louis Englestein were brokers. When extensive alterations and decorations are completed the lessee will open its fourth Chicago store.

THE CITY OF SYDNEY, founded in 1788 is the capital of the State of New South Wales and chief commercial and financial center of the Commonwealth of Australia. The government of the City is the Municipal Council of Sydney. The Metropolitan Area of which the City is the center, has a population of 1,127,000, including 47 other municipalities and one shire; it also includes the principal port of the Commonwealth which serves as an outlet for large agricultural and mineral production and has an annual overseas trade in excess of $500,000,000, or about 40% of the total for Australia.

In the City proper which includes the principal financial and commercial institutions and which has a resident population of over 100,000, the unimproved capital value of land subject to taxation as valued by the Municipal Council is $351,000,000, while the improved value is about $944,000,000. This compares with an unimproved value of $580,468,000 and an improved value of $1,589,584,000 for the rest of the Metropolitan Area.

In addition to the Council's revenues from taxation it derives revenues from properties which it owns, notably from its Electricity Undertaking, which supplies current to the City and to 43 other municipalities comprising 771 square miles of the area and 977,000 of the population in the Metropolitan Area. This Undertaking has, for each of the past five years, yielded net earnings available for interest which have more than covered interest on indebtedness incurred for its benefit. Other revenue producing properties are also owned by the City.

FINANCES: On December 31, 1929 the net funded debt of the Municipal Council of Sydney was $96,500,000. The Electricity Undertaking and other revenue producing properties owned by the Council are valued at about $104,500,000. The Council also owns municipal buildings and other properties valued at $5,000,000.

The Municipal Council has power to levy taxes up to the equivalent of 9% of the fair average annual rental, plus 1¼% of the unimproved capital value of land, or alternatively up to 2.5% of the unimproved value of such property. The present rate is 1.46% on such value.

For the year ended December 31, 1929, preliminary figures indicate that the gross revenues of the Council amounted to $20,473,000 and expenditures to $19,223,000 over one-half of which were received or disbursed in connection with the Electricity Undertaking.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The proceeds of the present issue of bonds will be used by the Municipal Council principally for the extension of its Electricity Undertaking.

DIRECT OBLIGATION: These bonds will constitute the direct and unconditional obligation of the Municipal Council of Sydney and will be a general charge with other obligations upon its corporate rates and revenues none of which are subject to any charge prior to the general charge securing these bonds. The Council covenants that if while any of these bonds remain outstanding it shall issue any loan bonds or other obligations secured by any superior charge on or pledge of any of its rates revenues or assets these bonds will be secured equally and ratably with such loan bonds or other obligations.

STATE OF NEW SOUTH WALES has the largest population of any of the states of The Commonwealth of Australia with over 2,400,000 inhabitants or almost 40% of the total. New South Wales produces over three fourths of the coal and about two thirds in value of the entire mineral output of Australia and has approximately half of the sheep, in the raising of which that country leads the world. It is also an important producer of wheat.

It is expected that application will be made to list these Bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today, 6,500 cattle, 22,000 hogs, and 12,000 sheep.

Trading on the cash and futures markets for hogs was generally slow yesterday, but at strong to higher prices, some contracts for April and May delivery being made on a 15@25c higher price basis.

Volume of trading was smaller, with offerings on the cash trade smallest since Jan. 1, barring Saturdays. Unevenly lower prices at leading outside points limited the buying power of order buyers, especially representatives of packers in the east, where declines were sharpest. However, reports that five western markets expect only 54,000 today, against 62,000 the previous Thursday, with Chicago the only point showing an increase, encouraged some traders to hold hogs off the market for later in the week.

Average 5 Cents Higher.

Hogs on the cash trade averaged 5c higher at $10.55, while the practical top moved up 5c at $11.20, comparing with a top of $11.15 and average of $10.65 last Saturday. One load of hogs at $11.35 yesterday was out of line and no criterion of the market for top grades.

Arrivals at 15,000, compared with 21,824 the previous Wednesday, with 22,535 a year ago, and with 21,785 two years ago. Receipts thus far this week at 73,100 show a decrease of 28 per cent compared with the first three days of last week.

Continued light cattle receipts forced prices up mostly 25c today, all classes of killing animals sharing in the upturn. Ten baby beef yearling steers and heifers averaging 824 lbs sold at $13.75, equaling the highest in several weeks. The top for full carload lots stopped at $15.00, due to quality, with good 1,415 lb steers at $14.90.

Plain quality 1,000@1,150 lb steers ranged downwards to $10.75@11.00, with poorest classes of steers of beef merit as low as $9.75@10.000. Prices are mostly 25@50c above last week's close, cows and heifers showing the full gain. Calves were slower to sell, but still show $1.00 advance for the week. Stockers and feeders met good demand at strong prices.

Lambs Hold Steady.

Fat lambs held generally steady on yesterday's slow trading, although peak prices were not quite up to the high spot Tuesday. Choice light topped the list at $11.25, while most wool lambs sold at $10.50@11.00 and light shorn lambs at $9.50@9.75. Some 96 lb averages without fleece brought $9.00 and extreme weights sold at $8.50.

Aged sheep ruled strong to 25c higher, top ewes reaching $6.00 and two year old wethers $7.50. Yearlings were firm at $8.50@9.00. Feeding lambs moved slowly at $9.50@10.00.

HOG FUTURES RISE

Trading in hogs for this month's delivery ruled slow, while a number of contracts for April and May delivery were made at slightly higher prices. Closing trades were lowest of the day in heavy grades, which moved comparatively slow and on an uneven basis. September light hogs were sold at $11.40, which was 60c under last week's close. April light show 25c decline since Saturday, while April heavy are fully steady for the week. Owing to the uneven and topheavy condition of the cash market on light weights lately, offers and bids on the "to arrive" market were too far apart for trading yesterday, the initial session for this market.

MANAGEMENTS' DEBT TO LABOR IS POINTED OUT

Steady Work, Dependency Guarantees Needed.

BY SCRUTATOR.

Frank discussions of some of the ways in which the worker for wages is victimized by conditions that are in no way his fault were held yesterday at the closing day's session of the National Management congress in Chicago.

The men in attendance were engineers and executives of large companies, intent first of all on obtaining profitable operation of their plants. Their interest in the worker is not based on the socialistic pattern; they do not approve benevolence. They want to have workers prosperous so that their contentment will be reflected in good work that means profits for stockholders.

A summing up of the conclusions would read something in this fashion: The worker is in a world today that has no precedents from the past to guide him; the man who is thoroughly skilled in a special line is in more danger of being displaced by machine processes than his unskilled brother. This is the fault not of the individual employer or the individual laborer, but of management as a whole, and management owes the worker steadier employment and greater guarantees against dependency when his best working years are over.

Quotes Furnace Figures.

Ernest F. De Brul of Cincinnati quoted figures to show that the production of blast furnaces in the country over a period of years averaged only 60 per cent of capacity, and added that when they run they run full blast. When they can't sell their product they shut down completely. So, too, must the men who work in them.

"If industry were better organized for permanent prosperity," he said, "there would not be such a fluctuation in pig iron demand. The same sort of condition prevails in many industries. The present fluctuation of operation is due to defective organization, defective knowledge of actual facts, defective application of the knowledge we have. Being a man made condition, it can be man changed."

Richard Lansburgh, Detroit banker, asserted that we now have a situation in which business may be normal and unemployment at the same time existent. He pointed to the cigar trade as one in which skilled hand laborers have been practically forced out of work by machinery in a few years. Even office girls have so many mechanical aids that their standard of necessary skill is lessened, he said, while the very fact that an operation has performed by skilled, highly paid labor encouraged the design of machinery to replace technical skill.

Tells Bankers' Attitude.

John R. Hall of New York declared that early plans to secure employe loyalty, based on improving his social condition, had failed and that the trend now was toward projects that would increase the worker's economic security. His suggestion was that every corporation should grant a share of its profits to the employés and should invest them in a way that would give the employé a competence after a long period of faithful service, rather than to distribute bonuses or form pension plans that were uncertain of being worked out.

At the dinner of the congress last night Craig B. Hazlewood, vice president of the First National bank and former president of the American Bankers' association, spoke on the bankers' attitude toward scientific management.

In mildly critical fashion he recalled that there had been too little effort devoted to getting the thinking power of the myriad workers in industry concentrated; that thinking on the problems had been confined to the men at the top.

"The banker still finds in most business neither a definite sales program nor a well planned production program," said Mr. Hazlewood. "A failure to control inventory is one of the chief offenses."

COTTON AT NEW LOWS; LOSSES $1.50 TO $2.00

Conditions in the cotton market are distinctly bearish. Prices are down to the lowest of the season with losses in the spot market of $1.50 to $2.00 a bale. Foreign markets were weak and Liverpool closed 6 to 7 points lower with spot sales 5,000 bales. An important factor is the unfavorable situation in the textile industry, both in this country and abroad due in part to the record low price for silver in countries which are the largest consumers of cotton goods.

The Freeport-Texas company proxy fight is deplored by Amos L. Beatty, former president and chairman of the company, in a letter to stockholders. A change in the management now would be contrary to the best interests of stockholders, he said.

FOX MODIFIES REFINANCE PLAN TO MEET ATTACK

Meeting Will Be Resumed This Morning.

Stuart from voting Fox's own stock he dropped a depth bomb into the seas which the Fox craft was apparently sailing to a safe financial harbor.

Quickly Shifts Course.

But provision had been made for such an eventuality and Fox rapidly shifted his course. He banged two raps of his gavel and called the crowded room to order at 10:58, and then before the buzz had subsided announced a half hour recess to permit the directors to meet.

The meeting reconvened at 11:32, and during the interim the directors had materially modified the financing plan, obtaining the consent of the banking syndicate of Bancamerica-Blair, Dillon, Read & Co., and Lehman Bros. This move took the opposing faction by surprise and robbed its members of some of the elation which had been apparent when Justice Levy's decision became known. The important point of the modification was that the issue of $25,000,000 of preferred stock was abandoned and in its place was proposed an issue of 1,250,000 shares of common stock.

Loses Significance.

The joker in that announcement was the fact that last September the stockholders had authorized an increase of stock and the diamond horseshoe group of legal talent agreed that the plan did not require the vote of the stockholders but merely the approval of the directors. However, the banking syndicate through Robert T. Swain, counsel, preferred an expression from the stockholders so plans went forward for taking the vote with many of the stockholders failing to realize that they were going through empty motions.

Under the plan as previously presented there was an issue of preferred stock which requires approval of two-thirds of the stockholders according to the corporation law. With this issue abandoned and a previous sanction to increase the capitalization, the meeting lost its significance except as an expression of stockholder sentiment.

H. U. Nelson to Address Suburban Realty Council

Herbert U. Nelson, executive secretary of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, is to be the principal speaker at the monthly meeting of the Suburban Real Estate Board council, which will be held at noon today, at the Palmer house. Mr. Nelson will report on the meeting of the national board at Phoenix and will discuss "Organizing a Property Owners' Division" and "Relieving Real Estate Tax Burdens."

RAILROAD NOTES

Orders for locomotives placed with manufacturers last month totaled 16, as against 163 in the preceding month. Orders for new passenger cars, however, increased, numbering 135, as against 58 ordered in January. Orders for freight cars received in February totaled 15,931, against 6,632 in January.

The Inland Waterways corporation, operating the government owned barge service on the Mississippi and Warrior rivers, yesterday complained to the interstate commerce commission that practically all railroads operating in southeastern and southwestern territory had failed to establish a joint route and rate system for combining rail and water facilities in the transport of cotton and cotton linters. The commission gave notice to the railroads named and asked for response.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, March 5.—(AP)—A firmer tone developed in the raw sugar market today and prices advanced 4c, with refiners showing more interest. The better tone was due to uncertainty over the tariff bill, which seemed to create a little more interest on the part of buyers, with sales for the day reported of at least 127,100 bags of duty frees. Reports early in the day that the senate might adopt an amendment to the tariff bill providing for an increase in the duty on sugar, which were later confirmed, had a strengthening effect in the raw futures. Closing prices were from 6 to 9 points above the previous close. Approximate, 56,500 tons. Prices follow:
